A Real Blood Remedy. District Attorney and the common-wealth, after which Judge Woodward forces out the poison matter permanents such a state of disorder and danger of riot, involving destruction of life and property, existed as justify the sheriff in forming a posse for protection. He quoted at length the laws relating to the duties of sheriffs, and read the Pennsylvania statute of 1705 against riots and rioters. He proceeded:

"It is not my purpose in this charge to enter upon any extended discussion of what are known as strikes, or the right of laboring men to form them-selves into organized bodies for the purpose of securing better compensa-tion for their labor. There is no law, either by statutory enactment or by any decision of our courts, to prevent laboring men from stopping work and going upon a strike, whenever, in their own opinion, it is for their interest so to do. Nor is there any law which makes it a conspiracy for workingmen, in any department of human labor, to combine together and by mutual agree-ment to refuse employment until there has been brought about a satisfactory adjustment between their employes and themselves upon the points at issue by the employed or by the employer.

"As the employer has no right to compel a man to work who does not wish to work, so also is it true that the employe has no right to compel his fellow workmen to quit work if he wishes to work. The distinction between the right to strike and the right to compel others to strike is a natural and palpable one, and is approved by the in-stinctive law of right and wrong, as well as by the statutes and the decisions of the courts.
"The defendants are all and jointly indicted for the killing of the de-ceased. The commonwealth, in the absence of any proof as to who fired the fatal shot, asks for the conviction of all the defendants on the ground that the action of the sheriff's posse was a criminal action-that the original call for the posse was unnecessary, or even justifiable, that the subsequent action, and especially the shooting on the 16th of September, cannot be justified under the evidence, and that therefore the act of any member of the posse was the act of all the members of it, for which every one is equally responsible in the contemplation of the law. The law is that where several persons take part all are equally liable for the acts of each, and for the incidental and probable consequences of the joint pur-

Nor can it be doubted that the sheriff had the right in the exercise of the discretion vested in him by the law, to issue the order. And if it was the right of the sheriff to command the crowd to disperse. then it was the duty of the crowd to obey his command. This obligation of obedience to the authority of the peace officer of the county is not confined to laboring men. "It is claimed by the commonwealth that after the firing of the volley some one of the defendants left the line of the deputies, and continued to shoot at the strikers as they fled to the rear. Some of the witnesses for the prosecution swore that such was the case. this is strenuously denied by all the witnesses for the defense who were on the ground, and there is no undisputed evidence identifying one of the defendants as the party implicated in any such movement.

"After a careful examination of all of the testimony I am prepared to say - 25, 35 and 50 Cents. that the most, if not the only, material questions in respect to which the witnesses differ in their statement as to the occurrence at Lattimer are first as the number of men who surrounded the sheriff after his effort to arrest one of the strikers, and second as to whether the firing was continued after the ranks of the strikers had broken and were in retreat, or did it cease when the volley was fired." A thrill of terror s experienced when a brassy cough of croup sounds through the house at night. But the terror soon changes to relief after One Minute Cough Cure has been administered. Safe and harmless for children. C. H. Hagenbuch.

Among the great central figures of the war, Gen. Long-treet stands out in brilliant military fame and glory. As are associated the names of Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, so will the pages of history associate the names of Lee, Long-treet and Jackson, comprising the six greate it generals of the Rebellion.

Gen. James Long-treet, the last survivor of this illustrious group of leaders and commanders of the armies, lives at present at 1217 New Hampshire Ave. Washington, D. C., and although 76 years of age, is now haie and hearty, and as all the world knows, has recontly married a young wife.

In talking of his present good health, the General spoke in the highest terms of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, stating that he had been using this wonderful medicine with highly commendable reful medicine with highly commendable results and sown personal knowledge and experience of its marvelous curative powers, he recommends its use to those who need medicine.

Chicago, March 2.—Several Chicago bankers had a novel experience with tax collectors yesterday. Two men entered the First National bank just before noon and went directly to the office of the president. Without fice of the president. Without commony they addressed the Vice President, D. R. Forgan, and informed him they wanted $85,273.12 in cash as quickly as he could produce it. They told Mr. Forgan that unless he paid over the money without delay they would shut the doors of the bank and belo themselves. It was a case of the collection of taxes under a decision of the su-perior court, which refused to sustain against South Town Collector Ernst, Hampshire held elections youters The bill sought to enjoin the collection and the fine scenther bounds as on the ground that the assessments vote in all sections. The informs for were excessive and fraudulent. The banks affected were the First National. Fort Dearborn National, Northwestern publican towns going Democratic for National, Globe National, Bankers National and National Bank of America.

Freeman was pronounced yesterday morning. Efforts to notify E. B. Tolmorning. Efforts to notify E. B. Tolman, counsel for the banks, failed, while the attorney for the South Town collector, John J. Reeney, secured at once a certified copy of the court's order. Armed with this copy and with special balliffs at their besis. Collector special bailiffs at their beels, Collector Ernst and Attorney Rooney hastened to the First National bank and demanded immediate payment of the tax. Mr. Forgan was astonished, and led his visitors into the office of the bank's at-turney, Orville Peckham.

"This is news to me," said Mr. Pock-ham. "You will allow me at least to communicate with my associate so-licitors before going any further?" Collector Ernst replied that he would levy on the bank's property instantly unless the money was forthcoming and close the bank's doors.

"We have enough men to close this bank," said Attorney Rooney. After a consultation Mr. Peckham advised the payment of the tax rather than risk such a disturbance to business as might follow, Collector Ernst was given $85,273.12, with due notice that his right to take the same was dethe warrant and a little explanation to the other bank officials. The Bankers' National paid over $13,286.15, the Fort Dearborn National $8,723.39, the Globe

National $14,390.14, the Northwestern National $23,786,72 and the American National $19,365.97. Each ank protested and refused to accept a receipt from Collector Ernst showing that the money had been taken in payment of taxes.
