SADUSKEY AT LARGE.

The Murderer of Ringheiser Has Thus Far Avoided Arrest.
AN INQUEST HELD LAST NIGHT!
Gider and Dowling Tell Their Stories of the Tragedy Without Developing Any New Facts of Importance.
Verdict Rendered by the Jury.

The murder of Charles Ringheiser continues to be the all important topic of discussion in town and inquiries are continually made with almost feverish anxiety. The case has caused more nervous interest than any local event since the Eisenhower tragedy.

This far no trace has been secured to the whereabouts of the murderer, Charles Saduskey. He is displaying the force characteristics the local police authorities credit him with and will probably lead them a good chase. Reports of all kinds are almost hourly received, but nothing of a reliable nature bearing upon the course of the fugitive.

Last night Deputy Coroner Thomas Manley and a jury held an inquest in the case. The jury was composed of Patrick Connors, Peter Ringheiser, John Ready, J. J. Flynn, J. J. Powell and A. J. Flaherty. Deputy District Attorney M. P. McLoughlin conducted the examination of witnesses and Martin Moore, one of the court stenographers, took the testimony.

The first witness called was Edward Gider. His evidence was quite the same as the statement he made to HERALD reporter after the shooting on Saturday night, with the additional important statement that when Saduskey entered his house before the tragedy he remarked to the witness, "I am going to fix Ringheiser," which makes the evidence of premeditation stronger. Gider also testified that about ten minutes expired between the time that Saduskey and Ringheiser met the last time and the shooting, but in this respect it is believed that his idea as to time is somewhat disarranged. He stated Saturday night that about ten words were exchanged between the two men just before the shooting, but he could not tell what was said as he was not close enough. However, the point is not of great importance, as there is no evidence that Saduskey was placed on his defense during the interview. Gider said he believed that Saduskey and Ringheiser had some difficulty about a week or two ago. The grounds for this belief were, the witness testified, that Saduskey told him last Friday night that he would stab Ringheiser, but did not say why.

Martin Dowling, the young man who was with Ringheiser at the time of the shooting, testified to meeting the deceased twice on Saturday, at 2 and 5 p. m. They spent some time on the hill and then walked down to the timber pile at the Shenandoah City colliery, Saduskey joined them. He and Ringheiser had a few words about a pipe and Ringheiser struck Saduskey. The latter left. Witness didn't know where he went to. About ten hours later, he and Ringheiser started for supper and met Saduskey coming down from the end of Bowers street, from Morris' stable. Saduskey and Ringheiser had words again, but witness did not know what was said. He saw Saduskey about Ringheiser when about a yard from him. Witness saw Ringheiser fall, but said he was too full of drink at the time to know much about the affair. Saduskey, he said, was absent about half an hour, between the time that he left the timber pile and the time he again met Ringheiser. The shooting occurred about 100 yards from the timber pile. Witness thought about five minutes elapsed between the meeting of Saduskey and Ringheiser and the shooting.

Dr. S. C. Spalding testified that he was called to attend Ringheiser at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night and found him in the Yelkoiis saloon lying on the floor, apparently fast asleep. He saw at a glance that the man was in a dying condition. The doctor said he commenced to probe and located the bullet. He sent for Dr. Stein, who came ten minutes before the man died. The cause of death was hemorrhage from a bullet wound. The victim was in splendid physical condition.

Dr. W. N. Stein testified that he was called to see the victim at 6:45 o'clock and found him at his home. He described the course of the bullet. The point of entry was at the top of the left ear and the bullet rested between the skull and skin about an inch above the right ear. The skull was fractured by the bullet on the right side. The doctor produced the bullet. He said the hair on the left side of the head was sliced. The cause of death was less of blood and a gun shot wound.

The verdict of the jury was as follows: "That the said Charles Ringheiser's death was caused on the 19th day of March, 1893, by a gun shot wound. Said wound was inflicted by a revolver in the hands of Charles Saduskey."

FOUND GUILTY.
JURY IN COMMISSIONER MEYER'S CASE RENDER A VERDICT.
JURY WAS OUT NINETEEN HOURS.

The Defendant Found Guilty on Nine Counts of the Two Indictments and Acquitted on the Balance.
Special to EVENING HERALD.
Pottsville, March 22.—The closing scenes of the trial of Charles Meyers, one of the present board of County Commissioners, was enacted yesterday afternoon when Judge Bechtel charged the jury, and at 6:30 o'clock they retired for deliberation.

The closing addresses by counsel attracted a large audience, and each took advantage of the opportunity for oratorical display. Mr. Wadlinger, for the defense, made an eloquent appeal for acquittal and spoke for nearly two hours. He was followed by John P. Whalen, Esq., in the closing speech for the prosecution. The speaker's oration was bitter when directed against the Commissioners, and in his opening remarks outlined the work done by the Taxpayers' Association. He emphasized the manner in which the county funds had been recklessly squandered, and closed with a strong appeal for conviction.

Judge Bechtel's charge was delivered in a clear and distinct manner. He said it would be improper for you as jurors to be governed by what counsel has said on either side in the performance of your duty. You must continue the case, he governed alone by the law and the testimony as heard from the witness stand. There are twenty-two counts for your consideration. For your convenience I have placed these counts properly numbered on a piece of paper. Any count not thus numbered you need not consider. The Controller's Act and all its requirements were dwelt upon at great length. In this connection the division of contracts was referred to so as to make the payments under $100, thus evading the 10th section of the Controller's Act. Whether this was intentionally done for this purpose is a matter for your consideration, but not for the court.

His Honor returned to the printing of the contest court testimony, and called to the payment of $1.00 a page, which was subsequently given out by bids at 37 cents per page. After defining what constitutes misfeasance in office the court instructed the jury to give all the evidence fair and honest consideration and do their duty as honest men.

The jury returned a verdict before Judge Bechtel at exactly 12 o'clock, noon, to-day and found the defendant guilty on nine counts of the two indictments. The jury was polled by Deputy Clerk of the Court John Duffy and each approved the verdict. The verdict reads: "We, the Jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Charles Meyers, the defendant, do hereby find the defendant guilty as to counts Nos. 1, 2 and 3, and not guilty as to counts Nos. 4 and 5 of the indictment of January 4, 1893."
(Signed) "H. C. Chase, Foreman."

The defendant was convicted upon:
Count No. 1, making an illegal contract with J. S. Buchanan & Co. for electric lighting apparatus at the almshouse, on which $1,598 was paid in violation of the Controller's Act, requiring advertising for bids.
Count No. 5, making various contracts on September 1st in violation of the tenth section of the Controller's Act.
Count No. 7, payment of $350 to J. O. Ulrich on Jan. 4, 1897, for professional services claimed not to have been rendered.
Count No. 8, payment of $400 to the same party.
Count No. 10, payment of $225 to William Wilhelm for attorney fees for services rendered during the confirmation proceedings for Warden John P. Martin in 1892.
Count No. 12, payment of $200 to B. R. Severn for attorney fees on quo warranto proceedings of which there is no record in the Prothonotary's office.
In the second indictment the defendant is found guilty on counts as follows:
Count No. 1, illegal payment of September 4, 1897, of $936.87 to D. J. McGill for extra on the almshouse boilerhouse, etc.
Count No. 2, illegal payment of $502.94 to McGinness, Steam Heat Co., of Pittsburg, for extra on the steam heat and boiler plant.
Count No. 3, payment in 1897 of $1,373.84 extra to William J. Bast for almshouse plumbing, etc.

ALMSHOUSE INQUIRY.
The local board of public charities held a second session at the Schuylkill Haven almshouse yesterday to investigate the case of a Polish woman whose residence is in Shenandoah and who is now an inmate of the insane department. A number of witnesses were heard and adjournment made without fixing a date for the next meeting.

The jury in the case of Trembo vs. Keiser rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $49.98.

Will Soon be Announced From Washington.

THE OPINIONS OF SENATORS!
They Believe Intervention or Cuban Recognition is Imminent—Report of Board of Inquiry—Lieutenant Commander Marix May be Now Enroute to Washington.

Washington, March 22.—The short session of the senate yesterday was quite unusual for the first working day of the week. That no one was prepared to go on with the pending measure was given as the explanation, but privately the opinion was stated by some of the senators that while the Cuban question remained in such suspense there was no desire to take up important legislation. The outlook as to Cuba was discussed among senators almost to the exclusion of other topics, and the belief was quite decided that the administration is preparing to take a positive position within the next week. Several senators made the prediction that the United States would intervene. Being pressed for a reason they stated that they had reached this conclusion after more or less conference with executive officers, but at the same time saying quite emphatically that they had no positive information on this point. Other senators thought the recognition of Cuban independence more probable than intervention. Almost all expressed the view that some action surely will follow the report of the Maine court of inquiry regardless of its purport.

A grand dispatch from Key West in given considerable credence in official circles. This dispatch states that Judge Advocate Marix, of the Maine court

LIEUT. COMMANDER MARIX, of inquiry, came ashore at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon accompanied by an armed orderly from the Iowa, who carried a bulky package of official documents, which was handed over to Rear Admiral Seward. It is believed the documents are the full findings of the court of inquiry. Lieutenant Commander Marix, when questioned on this subject, refused either to deny or to confirm, but an officer from the Iowa said the documents were the long expected report on the Maine disaster. The papers were immediately examined by the rear admiral and Commander Seward. It is presumed that the documents are the anxiously expected report they will be taken to Washington today by Lieutenant Commander Marix.

The procedure in connection with the submission of the report of the court of inquiry by the president to congress is now clearly outlined, and a cabinet officer today explained the general line of action at present intended to be pursued. A copy of the report will be laid before the Spanish government very early, and as soon as it can be considered the report will be sent to congress and made public at the same time. The report to congress will be accompanied by a message from the president stating that, after receiving the report, the conclusions were laid before the Spanish government and appropriate action from that quarter asked.

It is stated positively that no part of the report and no intimation of the findings has reached the executive authorities at Washington as yet. At the same time, it is a noticeable fact that the current of official opinion is beginning to follow that of the unofficial opinion expressed so positively and persistently at Havana and Key West that the cause of the explosion was external to the battleship. Opinion expressed by the Maine survivors who reached here last Saturday doubtless has contributed largely to this view in official circles. In this connection it is understood that one of the officers who arrived on Saturday stated, not as opinion, but as fact, that his observation on the night of the disaster, that there were two distinct explosions. The tendency of this is to support the theory of external cause, as this is based on the idea that the first external explosion was followed by a second internal explosion.

The intense interest in the report was manifested yesterday at the White House and at the state, war and navy departments. The president received a number of congressional leaders, among them being Speaker Reed and Chairman Hill, of the house committee on foreign affairs. The visit of Mr. Reed naturally attracted much attention, as he seldom leaves the congressional sphere to make calls on the executive branch, and it was naturally inferred that the purpose of his visit was to confer upon the Cuban situation and its future before congress, though neither he nor Mr. Hill was communicative. Secretary Long also had an extended conference with the president, but as he is not believed to have learned it developed nothing additional relating to the Spanish question. The army and navy preparations are continuing without interruption, although they have now become so regular as to lapse into routine on a gigantic scale. No further purchases of warships were concluded yesterday, and the negotiations are not assuming a promising aspect, except in showing that the United States can command the market against Spain.
