The Famous Musician Killed by Eating Poisoned Fish.

He Was in Perfect Health But a Few

New York, March 29,-Anton Seldi, the celebrated musical director, died suddenly in this city last night of polsoning, probably resulting from generally present and from that time on the fish. Mr. Seldi left his home after dinner last evening and went to the home of his business agent, The family physician of Mr. Bern-the patient died at 19:15.

Anton Seidl was born in Pesthe, Huncondition. gary, about 1850. When a young man he was secretary to Richard Wagner, he was secretary to Richard Wagner, the composer. After leaving the studio of Wagner he began the study of pain or inconvenience to the sufferer and is justly considered one of the most meritorious Mr. Seidl came to America about 12 years ago, and at once became prominent in musical work. He was recog-nized as the ablest director of Wag-is afflicted. If neglected it frequently developnerian music. At the time of his death he was conducting the concerts given at the Waldorf-Astoria, and was re-cently selected as the director of the permanent orchestra of New York city, a single day from any form of piles unless which has been recently organized, they want to, and for which $100,000 is being raised by subscription for maintenance. He was also leader of the Philharmonic en one of the musical directors of the Maurice Grau Opera company next A short time ago he refused a call to the royal opera at Berlin.

THE MASS OF TESTIMONY. No Technical Detail is Omitted in the 100,000 Words. Washington, March 29.-The immense mass of testimony taken by the Maine court of inquiry was sent to the senate yesterday, and with the president's message and the finding of the court referred to the committee on foreign relations. The testimony was foreign relations. The testimony was taken on 18 different days, the 14th day, however, being devoted to viewing the wreck. Every witness who was known to have any information that could throw light upon the great that the foreign relations. The farmer, the mechanic and the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. C. H. that could throw light upon the great disaster was called to give testimony. The story of the destruction of the ves-sel is told not graphically, but in a manner which gives all the obtainable facts. No technical detail is omitted. Every movement and incident connected with the Maine from the time she left Key West until the day divers examined the wreck slowly sinking in the mud of Havana harbor is given.

Those who read could have but little doubt as to whether there was an internal or external explosion. Perhaps the most significant testimony is that showing the bottom plates on the port side of the ill fated Maine to be bent inward and upward, a result that hardly could have followed anything save an explosion from the outside. A mass of testimony is submitted showing the care exercised on board the ship by Captain Sigsbee and his officers, and the apparent impossibility of the accident occurring by any of the bunkers, spontaneous combus

Mme, Janauschek tion, or from other causes upon which so many theories were based. The testimony of Captain Sigsbee is of the greatest importance, and his is of more general interest than that of any man called before the board. With great care and minuteness he gives an account of the management of the ship, how she was handled, what was done from day to day on board, how she sailed into Havana, her anchorage and what he knew about it, and in fact every point upon which the gov-ernment and the country desires to be informed. Nothing in Captain Signbee's testimony shows that the anthorage was changed or that it was considered dangerous by any one.

Second to the importance of the testimony of Captain Sigsbee is that of Ensign Poweison, who had charge of the divers, and knew from day to day what these divers found. This officer was minutely informed as to the con-struction of the Maine and everything about her. His testimony was to a certain extent technical, bearing upon the construction of the ship, her plates, etc., but it was from these plates and this technical knowledge that he was able to declare that the explosion took place from the outside.

The divers, Morgan, Olsen and Smith, all contributed important evi-They testified that the plates were bent inward on the bottom port side and outward on the starboard side.

The story of the explosion is told by different witnesses, and adds little to what Captain Sigsbee and Commander

Wainwright related. Nothing in the testimony fixes responsibility, no conspiracy is apparent and no knowledge of the planting of a mine is shown. Captain Sigsbee states that a somewhat bitter feeling existed against the American ship and Americans generally, and a witness whose name is suppressed told of overhearing conversation among Spanish officers and a citizen indicating a foreknowl-edge of the destruction of the Maine by blowing her up. An official of the American consulate tells of informa-tion received anonymously tending to show that a conspiracy existed. But nothing is definitely stated which fixes any responsibility upon Spain or her subjects.

The testimony makes 100,000 words of strictest detail.

Twenty Thousand Acres Submerged. Hundreds of Families Destitute. Sullivan, Ind., March 29.-The leves on the Wabash river went out last night with a break of 100 feet, entalling a loss of $100,000. Twenty thou sand acres of land are overflowed and hundreds of families are rendered homeless and destitute. Citizens are responding for miles around in their efforts to remove families and stock. Hundreds of cattle and horses are hemmed in. The levee is 11 miles long, and was built at a cost of $80,000. Every effort is being made to rescue the families from their submerged homes. It is feared that many people who were probably slow to take warning will meet death in the flood. A dispatch from Emerson says that 12,000 bushels of corn and 65 hogs were swept away.
