THE PERIL OF DOWNING.

Alleged Spanish Spy May Meet the Death Penalty.

TWO CHARGES AGAINST HIM.

On Conviction on Either Charge He May Forfelt His Life-Threatened to "Make It Hot For the Entire Navy" When Forced From the Brooklyn.

Fort Monroe, May 10.-The chief topic of conversation here is the arrest at Washington of Commissary Yeoman George A. Downing on the charge of being a spy in the employ of the Spanish government. Downing came to the Brooklyn last December, when she lay in the navy yard at Brooklyn, and said his residence was New York city. He was an Englishman by birth, and had done previous service on the Peninsular and Oriental boats and had also been steward on a steam yacht owned by Phelps Carroll. He had naturalization papers. He was accepted and served on board the Brooklyn until the third week in April, when he was notified that he was obnoxious to the

He asked for his discharge, and when Paymaster's Clerk Hancock handed it to him it was indorsed "not recom mended for re-enlistment as commissary." When Downing saw this he flew into a rage and threatened Mr. Hancock. When he left the ship he declared that he would "make it hot for the entire navy." There was something more than unsatisfactory service in Downing's case which led up to his discharge, and it is suspected that even when on the Brooklyn he was gathering information. It is believed that even two weeks ago Downing was suspected, although nothing definite was known about him. The sailors were all against the man, and not a word of regret was heard today over his arrest. In fact, the seamen openly his arrest. In fact, the seamen openly hint that they did not think it was unexpected.

Two charges are perferred against Downing. The first is that of acting as a spy, in violation of section L343 of the revised statutes. The specifications under this charge allege that George Downing acted as a spy, the United States being at war with Spain, and did obtain information in regard to the military and naval operations of the United States, and endeavored to communicate the same to a person in Mon treal, for use by the Spanish government in its hostile operations against the United States. The second charge is that of giving intelligence to the enemy.

Under the first charge the prisoner is liable on conviction to suffer death. while under the second his punishment shall either be death or such other as the court martial may direct. The judge advocate of the court will conduct the prosecution, and the prisoner will be given permission to employ counsel for his defense. If the sentence is that of death, the prisoner in all probability will be shot. Thousands of sufferers from grippe have been restored to health by One Minute Cough Cure. It quickly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, pneumouia, grippe, asthma, and all throat and lung diseases. C. H. Hagenbuch.

though for the last two days this city has been in the throes of revolution with all its horrors and all its sadness. Certain quarters today present a scene of complete devastation. In others, the quietness of terrorism reigns, and this is the more striking when contrasted in the mind of the spectator with the scenes of Sunday and the day before. when, above the shricks of the dying, rose the walls of the widows and or-

A very noticeable point throughout the two days' fighting has been that the workingman element, although without adequate means, offensive and defensive, has shown extraordinary tactical knowledge, a proof, among others, that organization existed and that preparations had been made, perhaps not for an explosion now, but at the first opportune moment.
