SAN JUAN BOMBARDED!

THE AMERICAN FLEET SILENCED THE BATTERIES AFTER A THREE HOURS ENGAGEMENT.

ONE AMERICAN KILLED; SEVERAL WOUNDED

The Spanish Loss on Shore is Large. The Town Set on Fire.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

St. Thomas, West Indies, May 13.—The American fleet, under Rear Admiral Sampson, at day break yesterday, after a severe bombardment lasting three hours, reduced the fortifications at San Juan de Porto Rico.

The Detroit led the American squadron into the harbor, and at a signal the Iowa, in command of "Fighting Bob" Evans, opened fire on Morro fort. The Detroit, followed by the Indiana, New York, Terror and Amphitrite steamed into the harbor.

Admiral Sampson's squadron consists of the armored cruiser New York, his flagship; the battleships Indiana and Iowa; two monitors, one of which is the Amphitrite and the other, it is said, the Puritan; the unprotected cruisers Marblehead and Detroit, the torpedo boat Porter and the torpedo boat destroyer Mayflower, with several scout boats and other boats.

The American fleet's first round was aimed too low, and did little damage. The second round, however, was at the proper elevation, and completely silenced the fort and set fire to the town.

Spanish marksmanship was wretched and did little damage. The New York, Admiral Sampson's flag ship, was hit but once. This shot killed seaman Wederneck, and injured four others on that vessel.

The Iowa was also hit but once, and three of her sailors were injured, but not seriously. They were seamen Merkle, Hill, and Mitchell.

The loss on shore was large, and the people in the city, when the bombardment began, sought refuge in the interior.

Admiral Sampson has effected a blockade of San Juan and is now awaiting the approach of the Spanish Cape Verde fleet.

Washington, May 13.—Secretary Long early this morning received a despatch from Rear Admiral Sampson corroborating the report of the bombardment of San Juan, Porto Rico, contained in the fore-going despatches.

American Despatches Held Up.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

Washington, May 13.—Captain Cotton, of the auxiliary cruiser Harvard, at St. Pierre, Martinique, in a telegram to the navy department to-day states that his despatches were held up at St. Pierre until after the Spanish squadron had sailed.

From this telegram the navy officials believe the Spanish fleet is bound for Cienfuegos, Cuba.

San Juan Surrenders.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

LONDON, May 13.—The Evening News reports that San Juan surrendered to Rear Admiral Sampson last night.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Latest Advice From the National Capital on the War Situation.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

WASHINGTON, May 13.

Sidney L. Berry, an alleged Spanish spy, was arrested last night at the navy yard. He is now a prisoner in the barracks pending an investigation.

Word has been received here that Lieut. Bernard, of the Winslow, says that vessel was "ordered by the captain of the gunboat Wilmington to go into the harbor of Cardenas and attack the Spanish gunboats there. We were immediately fired upon, and five of our men were killed and I don't know how many injured. The aim of the Spanish was perfect, and the shell burst in our very faces."

In order that the expedition may leave San Francisco as soon as possible General Merritt has been given authority to take with him, at his own discretion, the first 7,000 men who report at San Francisco.

All mystery as to the whereabouts of the Spanish Cape Verde fleet having been dispelled by the receipt of a telegram to-day by Secretary Long from Rear Admiral Sampson, to the effect that the fleet passed Martinique yesterday, there is now impending one of the greatest crises of the existing war. Upon the result of the battle between these two fleets will depend the immediate destruction or postponement of the fall of Spain's power in this hemisphere. If Sampson is successful it will be a blow from which Spain cannot recover.

Secretary Long has been officially notified that the new cruiser Alabama will be launched at Cramp's shipyard on Wednesday next. The Cramps will build three more vessels for the government of the same pattern as the Alabama.

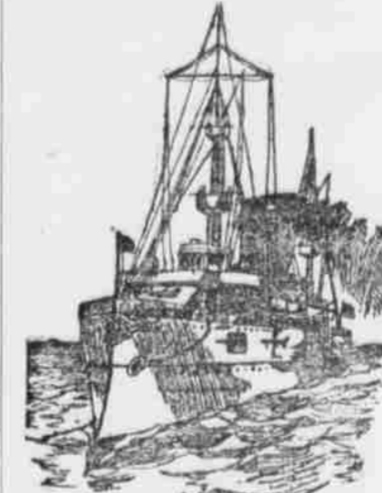

Four Cuban soldiers from the headquarters of Gen. Gomez have arrived here. They will give expert testimony to the Strategic Board as to the invasion of Cuba. They

FLYING SQUADRON SAILS.

Left Fortress Monroe To-day to Intercept Spanish Fleet.

Special to HERALD. Fortress Monroe, May 13.—The flying squadron, under command of Commodore Schley, sailed from here at daybreak this morning, under sealed orders. It is believed that the squadron is headed for Havana, to intercept the Spanish Cape Verde fleet that has been located at Martinique, and when last cited was bound westward, probably for Cuba.

THE ENEMY FOUND.

Admiral Sampson Confirms the Cape Verde Fleet Report.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

WASHINGTON, May 13.

Secretary of the Navy Long at ten o'clock this morning received a despatch from Admiral Sampson, stating that the Spanish squadron which left St. Vincent on April 29th had been sighted west of St. Pierre, Martinique.

The torpedo boat destroyer Furor put in at St. Pierre late Wednesday night and five other ships continued in the direction of Cuba. At five o'clock yesterday afternoon the torpedo boat destroyer Terror put in at St. Pierre, but neither visitor remained long.

The Cape Verde squadron consists of the Almirante Oquenda, Vizcaya, Infanta Maria Teresa and Cristobal Colon, all armored cruisers of 6,800 tons, and the torpedo boat destroyers Terror, Furor and Oquenda, of 400 tons.

From Martinique, where the Spanish fleet was sighted yesterday, to San Juan, where Admiral Sampson is awaiting them, is a distance of 425 miles. At the rate the Spanish fleet is supposed to be sailing, seven knots an hour, it would require little more than two days, so they are not expected to meet the American fleet before to-morrow, when the enemy should be engaged in battle.

Cardenas Victims Buried. Key West, May 13.—The four sailors killed in the Cardenas battle on Wednesday were buried yesterday afternoon. An escort of 200 men from the warships accompanied the bodies to the graves. Ensign Bagley's body will be buried by relatives.

Crisis In Italy. Rome, May 13.—The situation here is becoming more serious. The government, in a circular, admits that it is powerless to put down the disturbers. Arrangements are being made to mobilize the entire army.

Orders Countermanded. New York, May 13.—Orders from the war department, countermanding the orders for the sailing of the state volunteers on transports for Tampa, Florida, were received here at noon to-day. They merely ordered the holding of the transports and said nothing about sending the volunteers to Chickamauga by rail. There are in readiness seven regiments, 322 officers and 6,500 men.

Mt. Gretna Troops Delayed. Mt. Gretna, May 13.—The 4th and 16th regiments did not leave camp as was expected. The reason assigned for the delay is the failure of the quartermaster to provide the necessary commissary stores. It is not known when they will leave.

Spain Expectant. Madrid, May 13.—This city has been thrown into a state of fervent expectancy upon receipt of the news that the Cape Verde fleet was off Martinique.

Germany's Attitude. Berlin, May 13.—The rumor that the Emperor paid a visit to United States Ambassador White, is officially denied. The official organ, the North German Gazette, says that unless there should be imperative reasons for force, Germany would do nothing to disturb the friendship existing for a hundred years with a country where millions of Germans have found a second fatherland.

TWO FATAL ACCIDENTS

A Man Instantly Killed at the Strippings This Morning.

BOY DROWNED IN A MINE BREACH

His Hat Was Blown Off and is Running After It Got on the Brink of the Breach and Slipped Into It. Other Accidents.

A Hungarian named Steve Savilko was instantly killed this morning by a fall of coal and clod at the Shenandoah City colliery strippings. The man left his boarding house in Bradley's row at the eastern end of Centre street at an early hour to pick coal at the strippings for the proprietor of the boarding house. He was to be assisted by another boarder, but started out ahead of him. When the other man reached the strippings he found Savilko's dead body partly covered with debris from the embankment where the victim had started to dig coal. The accident could have taken place but a few minutes before the companion's arrival, as the latter left the house shortly after Savilko did. The recent heavy rains have weakened the embankment of the strippings and it is believed that Savilko precipitated the fall as soon as he commenced work with his pick. The remains were removed to the boarding house, where they were viewed by Deputy Coroner Manly and a jury. Friends will have to provide a burial, as the deceased was destitute. He was a man about 30 years of age and is survived by a wife and family, who live in the old county. Savilko had been a resident of the town but a week. He came here from the Scranton region.
