From Lynching a Negro. San Francisco, Aug. 16.-Dan Thomas, a negro crab fisherman, was wounded and narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of 500 Tennessee soldiers sterday. Five men of Troop B, of the regular cavalry, which attempted to quell the riot, were dragged from their houses by the volunteers and slightly injured. Officers of the Tennessee regiment finally and the men back to quarters and took the bleeding negro to the guardhouse for protection.

The trouble began in a saloon where Will Davis, a private of Company L. First Tennéssee regiment, was drink-ing. In the saloen were five or six other soldiers from different regiments and the pegro Thomas. According to the story told by Davis the negro ap-proached him and asked for a drink. Davis replied that he had no money, whereupon the negro struck Davis in the right eye with a set of brass knucktes. The two closed in a struggle un-til they were separated by an Iowa in the hospital at Fort Myer.

When the negro found himself free he left the saloon and went to his home. Thither he was followed by soldiers, who wrecked the house in an endeavor to get at the colored man. But for the propert arrival of Major Cheatham the negro might have fared much worse. Major Cheatham covered the leaders with a pistol and said he w kill the first man who injured the colored man from immediate violence, but on the way to the guardbouse at the presidio the mare was attacked by Private Scruggs, who struck him a ter-rible blow over the Lead with a bludgeon. The soldiers were quieted with

All the men engaged in the riot were volunteers, most of them Tennesseeans, but there were a number also from the Kansas and Iowa regiments.

MRS. JOHN WALLET, of Jefferson, Wis., than whom none is more highly steemed or widely known, writes "In 1990 I had a severe attack of LaGrippe and at the end of four months, in spite of all physicians, friends and good nursing could do, my lungs heart and nervous system were so completely wrecked, my life was despaired of, my friends giving me up. I could only sleep by the use of oplates. My lungs and heart pained me terribly and my cough was most aggravating. I could not lie in one position but a short time and not on my left side at all. My husband brought me Dr. Milen' Nervine and Heart Cure and I began taking them. When I had taken a half bottle of each I was much better and continuing persistently I took about a dozen bottles and was completely restored to health to
