STRONG STATEMENTS.

Three Women Relieved of Female Troubles by Mrs. Pinkham.

From Mrs. A. W. SMITH, 59 Summit St., Biddleford, Me.

For several years I suffered with various diseases peculiar to my sex. I was troubled with a burning sensation across the small of my back, that all-gone feeling, was despondent, fretful and discouraged; the least exertion tired me. I tried several doctors but received little benefit.

At last I decided to give Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. The effect of the first bottle was magical. Those symptoms of weakness that I was afflicted with, vanished like vapor before the sun. I cannot speak too highly of your valuable remedy. It is truly a boon to woman.

From Mrs. MELISSA PHILLIPS, Lexington, Ind., to Mrs. Pinkham:

"Before I began taking your medicine I had suffered for two years with that tired feeling, headache, backache, non-pituitary, and a run-down condition of the system. I could not walk across the room. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound, one box of Liver Pills and used one package of Sanative Wash, and now feel like a new woman, and am able to do my work."

From Mrs. MOLLIE E. HERBEL, Powell Station, Tenn.:

"For three years I suffered with such a weakness of the back, I could not perform my household duties. I also had falling of the womb, terrible bearing-down pains and headache. I have taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel like a new woman. I recommend your medicine to every woman I know."

who are anxious to create snug berths for their families. And the taxpayers pay the bill.

The people are certainly indignant over the action of Council. Argument in favor of the erection of the dam is wanting. True it is the storage capacity will be increased, but not one cent of additional revenue will the borough receive for the expenditure of this large amount of money. There is no guarantee that the reservoir will be sufficient to tide us over the dry season, and at this particular time the taxpayers are in no humor to sanction so large an expenditure. The HERALD does not propose at this time to enter into an exhaustive discussion of the question, but will do so later on. Our news columns, however, are open for a discussion along these lines on the part of the taxpayers, who are invited to give their views in as short a space as possible. This will serve two purposes. The Councilmen will thus be enabled to govern themselves in accordance with the views of their constituents, and it will, on the other hand, afford those deeply interested in the borough plant an opportunity to give their views as to the best and most economical means of improving the plant and increasing the supply. Let there be a full and free discussion.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trials of this great medicine, and the satisfaction of knowing it is absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by the use of this medicine. It is sold by trial bottle free. Regular size 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

He Couldn't See It.

Speaking of your reminders me of a story I read the other day. An American in London, talking of an unfortunate person who had just died, quoted Artemus Ward as saying, "It is a pity he never got in his pocket, if he'd never been born."

TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM

Effectually yet gently, when constive or bilious, to purify the system, to awaken the liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening it, to dispel headaches, colds, or fevers, use Syrup of Figs, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Bees and Trees.

The value of bees to fruit growers can hardly be overestimated. Some years ago a place was leased to a tenant who had a few colonies of bees. In one corner of the yard was a large and thrifty looking apple tree that always bore an abundance of blossoms, but no fruit. A number of colonies of bees were placed underneath this tree, and much to the surprise of the owner of the place, the tree was loaded with extremely fine apples, something that had never occurred before within the memory of the man who had owned the place for 25 years. The next season the bees were distributed under trees that had not been in the habit of bearing freely. The most surprising results followed, the trees being full of very fine specimens of fruit. If the blossoms on an apple, plum or pear tree are covered up and the bees are kept away from them until the blossoming season is past, there will be no fruit. This has been tested again and again.—New York Ledger.

The First Use of Field Music.

Gustave Kohbe writes an article on "The Trumpet in Cuba and Battle for the Century." Mr. Kohbe says: "The first use of field music of which we have authentic information was at the battle of Bouvines, that village of French Flanders where the French have won no fewer than three victories—Philip Augustus defeating Otto IV of Germany there in 1214, Philip of Valois defeating the English there in 1414, while in 1794 the French defeated the Austrians at the same place. It was at Bouvines in 1214 that trumpets sounded the signal for the victorious French charge, the first authentic instance of a command given by a trumpet call."

Lake Saltors Gull Scam.

It is said that lake saltors scam the best scotch. A sailor may cross the Atlantic without danger of running into an island, and he may hardly see more than two or three ships during the entire voyage, but on the lakes it is just the other way. The lakelaker is therefore because more alert, watchful and careful.

A WILD STUDENT'S LIFE.

Bismarck's Turbulent Existence While at Gottingen.

During his student days at Gottingen Bismarck was one of the wildest of the wild. He drank and fought and roistered, and he smoked incessantly. Still he was not an idle student. Thanks to his iron constitution, he was able to attend his dissections, to give some attention to his law studies. He rose with the lark for he had to be at the lecture room before 7 o'clock in the morning to listen to Heeren on history and ethnology. An hour later he gave ear to Wendt on logic and metaphysics. After that came an hour with a fencing master, and then Hugo on jurisprudence and Goshen on some other intricate topic. Dinner followed, and then mathematics under Thibaut. An hour or two of hard reading concluded the work of the day, and then came play—and such play!

The recreations of the Gottingen students in those days were not gentle. Duels were frequent, and the college fraternities were in fact little else than drinking and duelling societies. Bismarck in his second term was the leading member of the Hannoverian, the leading fraternity of the time in Gottingen, though it may be said to his credit that his sagacity and astuteness had as much to do with his leadership as his capacity as a drinker and his power as a swordsman.

It is stated that he fought at least 30 duels, though there are detailed records of only four. One of them, singularly enough, was with Windthorst, who, in the stormy days of Bismarck's power as a politician, was one of his strongest opponents. Apparently the authorities did not learn of any of Bismarck's contests, for, though the official records show that he was punished four times, none of these punishments was for fighting.

His first punishment was for offending in a secondary capacity in a duel between an Englishman and a certain Baron von Grabow. There had been trouble between these two at a ball, and a fight with pistols was arranged for the following morning. Bismarck seconded Grabow. The two principals arrived on the ground in the most friendly manner, and Bismarck with the greatest diffidence persuaded them to substitute 12 paces for the three on which they had already determined.

When he came to take the measure, however, he cunningly lengthened the 12 into 24, and the result was that no one was injured. For his part in this affair the rector sentenced Bismarck to solitary confinement for 10 days. The old college house in which he was incarcerated is no longer in existence, but the door of his cell, on which he carved his name with his penknife, has happily been preserved. The English student Knight and Wright, his second in this duel, were incognito revelers, and together with Bismarck and John Lothrop Motley, the noted historian of later days, were responsible for half the mischief perpetrated by the Gottingen students.

You invite disappointment when you experiment. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them. C. H. Hagenbuch.

The Eskimos "Huskies."

The wild dog, unimproved at all by association with man, is typical of nothing but the wolf, and in the circumlocution he is found in numbers roving over the fields of snow and ice, frequently in company with the wolves. The Eskimos have taken their wild creatures and by a rude process of selection and training they have developed the "huskies," a colloquial abbreviation of husky, which are absolutely reliable. These animals represent a type of dog but little removed from the wolf—hardy, vicious, swift of foot and keen of eye. They have been trained to haul sled loads of goods across the snow and ice, and this comes as natural to them now as the pointer does to the sportsman. They possess the blood of the wolf, however, in their veins—the tint of the jackal. At the first opportunity they will run away and join the wild dogs and deteriorate rapidly in their company.—George R. Walsh in North American Review.

Eczema! The Only Cure.

Eczema is more than a skin disease, and no skin remedies can cure it. The doctors are unable to effect a cure, and their mineral mixtures are damaging to the most powerful constitution. The only remedy is in the blood, and Swift's Specific is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated blood diseases.

Eczema broke out on my daughter, and continued to spread until her head was entirely covered. She was treated by several good doctors, but grew worse, and the dreadful disease spread to her face. She was taken to two celebrated medical men, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the surprising results it followed, the trees being full of very fine specimens of fruit. If the blossoms on an apple, plum or pear tree are covered up and the bees are kept away from them until the blossoming season is past, there will be no fruit. This has been tested again and again.—New York Ledger.

Don't expect local applications of soaps and salves to cure Eczema. They reach only the surface, while the disease comes from within. Swift's Specific is the only cure and will reach the most obstinate case. It is far ahead of all similar remedies, because it cures cases which are beyond their reach. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, and is the only blood purifier guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other mineral.

Remembered One Thing.

In the course of a tedious trial, involving the possession of a stack of goods, a man who had formerly been employed as a traveling salesman was testifying.

"Do you mean to say, sir," asked the attorney for the plaintiff, "that you can't remember what was carried in your valise on the trip in question?"

"I didn't say I couldn't remember," replied the witness. "I said that at this late date it was impossible for me to recollect everything I carried on that particular trip."

"Don't evade the question, sir!" thundered the attorney. "I want to know what was in that valise!"

"Samples."

"Samples of what? Mention some particular thing."

"Well," said the witness after reflecting a moment, "I remember I had a sample of a rather inferior hair dye, about the sort, I judge, that you have on your whiskers, sir."

"You may stand aside," gruffly said the lawyer after the prize in the courtroom had subsided.—Exchange.

When the House Takes a Hand.

Sometimes the criticism of the House takes the form of audible remarks addressed to the members of the audience by another. Cole, in his "Life of Charles Keen," relates that on the first night of a new play by Sheridan Knowles at the Waterford theater a heavy explosion seemed to "dragging its slow length along" between two still heavier actors who had no effect to produce any more than to claim them if they had. The audience were evidently tired, though patient from respect for their countrymen, the author, and now and then relieved themselves by an expressive yawn. There happened to be a secondary yawn when a voice from the audience called out in correct parliamentary cadence, "I move that this debate be adjourned to this day six months." This saluted the house and prepared them to enjoy the more telling scenes which were about to follow.—Hall Magazine.

Captain Kidd's Piratical Hoard.

In "The Buccaneers and Pirates of Our Coasts," Mr. Knollys, Mr. Frank R. Stockton brings his serial to a close with an account of Captain Kidd. After telling of his cruise to Madagascar and his inability to land his rich booty in New York, Mr. Stockton says: "In the month of May, 1699, an incident which has given rise to all the stories regarding the buried treasure of Captain Kidd. The disturbed and anxious pirate concluded that it was a dangerous thing to keep so much valuable treasure on board his vessel, which might at any time be overtaken by the authorities, and he therefore landed at Gardiner's island on the Long Island coast and obtained permission from the proprietor to bury some of his superfluous stores upon his estate. This was a straightforward transaction. Mr. Gardiner knew all about the burial of the treasure, and when it was afterward proved that Kidd was really a pirate all the hidden booty was given up to the government.

This appears to be the only case in which it was positively known that Kidd buried treasure of our coast, and it has given rise to all the stories of the kind which have ever been told.
