BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS. Judge Edwards Renders a Decision in the

Waverly Case,

Judge Edwards, of Lockawanna county, has finally rendered a decision in the famou Waverly borough school case, which involves the reading of the hible in the schools of that district. The case and its origin nearly two years ago and at that time created much feeding among the people more directly interested and more or less comment and critters dbroughout lackawanna county. The principal of the high school of Waverly borough was in the habit of reading a chapter from the bible each day, using the King James version. The parents of some of the children objected, but without avail, the principal maintaining that it was his duty and he would continue the custom. Subse-quently one of the citizens of Waverly filed a bill in equity to restrain the principal or any other person from reading the scriptures or conducting any form of religious exercises in the public schools of Waverly, This action naturally created very bitter feeling in the community, the people being divided into two appealing and hostile factions, the bitterness of which may not entirely pass away for many years. As to the question of legality involved in the issue made, Judge Edwards holds that whether or not the bible shall be read in the public schools is a matter for the Board of Directors of each school district to determine as in their wisdom sound best. In some schools the bible is read, in others not. There is no law requiring it, and no law for-bidding it, hence there can be no violation of haw in either event. It follows that the School Bound is the proper authority to dechle this question, as it does others, in the onduct of the public schools under its jurisdiction:

The court has adjourned until next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The court will then further examine evidence, and look over what it terms the "inadvertent" list of al-leged voters presented to it last week.
