HORRORS OF RED TAPE!

It Keeps Dead Bodies Above Ground at Matanzas.

SUFFERINGS OF CUBAN TROOPS.

The Inmates of Camp Rojas, Near Calbarren, Lack Food and Clothing, and Citizens Are Starting a Movement to Relieve the Terrible Distress.

Havana, Sept. 17.—Advices from Matanzas report a terrible condition of neglect at the San Carlos cemetery there. Twenty-nine bodies gathered between the 3d and 12th inst. are unburied and in an advanced state of decomposition, infecting the whole neighborhood and creating a fearful stench.

Red tape forbids the burial of unknown dead, and most of the unburied bodies were picked up in the streets without any means of identification. The civil governor, when a protest was made by the residents and press of Matanzas, at once ordered the chief of police to make an investigation and to order the immediate burial of the bodies, threatening him and his subordinates with severe punishment for such criminal neglect.

Advices from Calbarren say that the condition of the Cuban troops at Camp Rojas is dreadful, the inmates of the camp lacking food and clothing. General Francisco Garrillo, commanding the camp, has addressed a circular letter to the business men and planters of the district requesting that a meeting be held at the Estate Reforma, in the neighborhood, to consider ways and means for relieving the situation, as he is determined to observe strictly the provisions of the armistice which prevent the troops from stealing cattle and other food, while at the same time it is impossible to hold out without relief until a definite peace is concluded.

Advices from Sancti Spiritus, in the State of Sancti Spiritus, say that extreme poverty exists among the lower classes there and that clothing, supplies and medicines are greatly needed.

They had a knock-me-down and carry-me-out time at the regular monthly meeting of the Girardville School Board Thursday night. Nobody seems to know just how it all came about, but in the course of the meeting P. C. Foy, who was temporarily filling the chair, called Director Patrick Kearney a liar, and then the Donnybrook fair began. Foy landed on Kearney with a keen upstart, but Kearney quickly rallied, and proceeded to wipe up the floor with Foy, and was doing it in right good shape when the other members took a hand and brought hostilities to an end.

The meeting broke up in wild disorder, and the affair has been the talk of the town. Hickert's Cafe. Baked beans and pork to-night. Sick Soldiers Coming Home. A special train left Pottsville to-day for Camp Meade, at Middletown, fully equipped with nurses, medicines and surgeons, for the purpose of bringing to the Pottsville hospital the twenty-four sick soldiers now in the division hospital at the above camp. The movement was inaugurated by the Pottsville hospital officials, after a visit to the camp by W. L. Shafer and others.

THE PENNSYLVANIA SOLDIERS.

Only Six of the Regiments Are Retained in the Service.

Middletown, Pa., Sept. 17.—The fever patients in the general hospitals at Camp Meade will be sent to Philadelphia as rapidly as they become strong enough to be moved. Surgeon General Sternberg believes the sick do better in city hospitals than in tents, and has arranged with several Philadelphia hospitals to take care of this class of invalids.

There are now retained in the service only six Pennsylvania regiments that were mustered in at Mt. Gretna. All the others have been mustered out or have been ordered to their home stations for muster out. Those still in the service are the Eighth and Tenth, at Manila; Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth, at Porto Rico.

A majority of the men in camp are becoming more and more restless, and unless the war department acts promptly there may be mutiny in some of the commands. An officer in the First Hundred and Second New York, which arrived Monday from Camp Black, and officers of numerous other regiments admit that the volunteers are tired of inaction, and with no prospect of anything but police duty in the new possessions of Uncle Sam they want to go home.

SEWERAGE TROUBLES.

Officials Failed to Agree at a Conference To-day.

BOROUGH OFFICIALS OBJECTED!

Propositions From the Representatives of the Coal Companies Regarding the First Ward creek Were Unanimously Rejected—State Board of Health May be Notified.

Another conference with a view to adjusting the difficulties created by the condition of the creek at the eastern end of Centre street was held this morning. It was thought after the last meeting that a way had been found for an amicable settlement of the matter, but it seems that the parties interested are now more divided. In opinions that they have been since the negotiations were first opened.

The officials who attended the conference this morning were Messrs. Clemens, of Pottsville, and Pollard, of Ashland, representing the P. & R. C. & I. Co.; Mr. Baird, of the Thomas Coal Company; Councilmen Lally and Bell, Messrs. Malone and Morrison, of the Board of Health; Health Officer Conry and Supervisor Burns. The officials met at the East Centre street bridge, where a view north and south could be had of the stream in question, and Mr. Clemens opened the conference by producing blue prints of surveys that had been made since the last conference to make estimates on the cost of improvements.

He said there were 4,300 feet along the creek in which the main difficulty arose and his company had found that it would cost about $8,000 to crib the sides and plank the bottom of the creek as had been suggested by some of the borough officials, therefore his company had dropped that suggestion for the present and made a proposition of its own, viz: That a channel four feet deep with the sides sloping from eight feet at the bottom to eighteen feet at the top be made in the creek. This, he estimated, could be done for $500. He would allow $100 more and the P. & R. C. & I. Co. would agree to pay one-third of the expense, up to $200, the borough to do the work.

Mr. Baird said his company would clean out the creek north of the Lehigh Valley railroad at its own expense, and share half the expense for cleaning and cribbing the creek from the railroad south to the bridge where the creek connects with the Indian Ridge colliery stream. Below the latter point, he said, his company would not touch, because the P. & R. C. & I. Co. was responsible for the coal dirt there. This Mr. Clemens refused, saying the Lehigh Run colliery puts twice as much coal dirt in the creek that the Indian Ridge does.

Both propositions were unsatisfactory to the borough officials. First, because the P. & R. proposition practically anticipated nothing more than a clearing out of the character; secondly, that cribbing the sides is the only true remedy; third, that Colliery Run colliery is responsible with the P. & R. company, in part if not equally, for the coal dirt being in the part of the creek Mr. Baird refused to consider and the Thomas Coal Company should bear a pro rata share of the expense for the whole territory; and, lastly, should the propositions be accepted, the borough would have the small end of the bargain with the bulk of the expense, in that it would be left with half the expense with the Thomas Coal Company and two-thirds with the P. & R. company.

The Jewish Holiday. The Jewish year 5659 was ushered in last evening and the New Year (Rosh Hashonah) was fittingly observed to-day, marking the beginning of the Jewish fall holiday, lasting from the 17th to the 21st inst., the latter date being the Day of Atonement. These two holidays are the most important in the Jewish calendar, and are very generally observed by Hebrews throughout the world. All places of worship are crowded, and many smaller halls and buildings are devoted to the religious observance of these days. The New Year was ushered in by the blowing of the Shofar, or ram's horn, and to-day's services in the synagogue were conducted in accordance with the ancient Jewish ritual. The Day of Atonement, which falls this year on the 27th, is almost universally observed among Jews as a day of fasting and prayer. The synagogue service continues throughout the entire day, and in the afternoon impressive memorial services are held.

Grand Fall and Winter Opening. On Monday, next, there will be a grand opening of fall and winter stock of clothing for Men, Youths and Children at L. The stock will embrace all the latest styles, the best makes and best materials. The same applies to our stock of hats and gents' furnishing goods. Remember the opening date—Monday, Sept. 19th.

Big Prize Money. Latest estimates of the distribution of prize money from the naval victories of late war follow: Sampson, $100,000; Dewey, $20,000; Schley, $5,000; Captains of Sampson's fleet, $4,000 each; Captains of Dewey's fleet, $3,000 each; the men average $105. No one charges Sampson with the intention of making a divvy of his pile with the rest of the boys.
