SENSATIONAL FRANCE.

Postponement of Piquart's Trial a Point For the Army.

HE WILL NOT COMMIT SUICIDE.

The Accused Colonel's Remarkable Speech in a Paris Courtroom—Comte Esterhazy, En Route for Paris, Discusses His Share in the Dreyfus Case.

Paris, Sept. 22.—The trial of Colonel Piquart and M. Loholis, a lawyer, on the charge of revealing documents concerning the national defense was to have begun yesterday before the correctional tribunal. The public prosecutor, however, asked for an adjournment on the ground that the prosecution of Colonel Piquart on the charge of forgery and use of forged documents had been ordered by the minister of war, M. Loholis, who was counsel for M. Zola during the latter's famous trial, indignantly opposed the adjournment, which he said was an attempt to hand over Colonel Piquart into the clutches of the military authorities.

Colonel Piquart then rose and made a statement which caused a sensation. He said: "This is, perhaps, the last time I shall speak in public. I shall sleep, perhaps, in the military prison of Cherche Midl. Therefore I wish to declare that if I find there the strangling cord of Lemercier Picard, or the dagger of Colonel Henry, it will be murder, for I have no idea of committing suicide."

The judges decided to indefinitely adjourn the case, and Colonel Piquart was led away between policemen. Lemercier Picard, the man referred to by Comte Esterhazy as a detective, understood to have been employed in the Dreyfus affair, who was found hanged in his lodgings about a year ago, under circumstances which cast some doubt upon the theory put forward that he had committed suicide. Never before was such a scene witnessed in court as that which followed Piquart's declaration. The judges, officers and audience appeared as though paralyzed with emotion.

The air is full of rumors of sensational developments. Among other things it was announced last night that Colonel Piquart was already in the Cherche Midl prison. It appears, however, that the authorities of the La Sante prison refused to deliver him up in the absence of the necessary formalities, but there is no doubt that he will be in the Cherche Midl prison before night.

The Dreyfusites are somewhat dependent, the military authorities, who are responsible for the shelving of the Piquart trial, having apparently regained the upper hand, and it is feared that Piquart will be kept in prison and his trial indefinitely postponed in order to keep his mouth shut.

The latest developments are that General Pelloux will be transferred from his post as commander of the command of some provisional brigade, his name having become too notorious.

The Italian government declines to replace Senor Panizzardi as military attaché here until the Dreyfus case shall have ended, owing to the gross insults offered to Senor Panizzardi through the newspapers.

A dispatch from London says: Comte Esterhazy has been rejoining in London in the guise of an Italian count. He speaks Italian fluently. A representative of the Daily Mail caught him at Charing Cross as he was about to start for Paris. In the course of the interview Comte Esterhazy said he had constantly passed the detectives detailed to watch him while in Paris, in his private residence, and that nobody had recognized him.

"But," he added, "I mistrusted events. I told General Pelloux, after the suicide of Colonel Henry, that it would be impossible to stop things, and that the movement would be formidable. The general, who knew the truth of the matter—Sandherr, Henry and myself. The first two are dead, and I alone hold the secret."

Comte Esterhazy complained bitterly of the treatment of himself and Mme. Paysa, who is in prison in Paris. He declared that the "Destruction" furnished had Madame Paysa brought from the St. Lazare prison and offered her liberty if she would reveal all she knew about the general.

After reference to other phases of the affair Comte Esterhazy said: "I intend to publish a book that will throw light upon the unhappy Dreyfus story. Caynaine made a mistake in pursuing me, because he struck at the same time his relation, Colonel Paty du Clam. I may mention that I had already received a pension offered me by General Billot."

Comte Esterhazy affected a gay nonchalance, but just as he was taking the train he said, in a sharp, nervous tone, without pausing for breath: "I don't know whether you shall make use of the documents in my possession. It will depend upon the march of events."
