The Medieval Smith.

The contemporaries of the medieval smith were the artists who built the cathedrals, the masons, architects, sculptors and carpenters who put their religion into their work. His workmates were men of restraint who reared those monuments of "chiseled muscle," which have so often been referred to as the pride and boast of the civilized world. We find the worthy smith was not one whit behind his contemporaries, for he also was an artist, and beautiful specimens of his handiwork remain to this day. It wrought the most graceful forgings by means of the fewest possible number of tools—forgings which showed his love of the beautiful and a painstaking desire to turn out work of great merit. The numerous exquisite examples of his handiwork which exist in our old gateways, church doors, altar railings, weathercocks on old buildings, signboards of quaint wayside inns, still serve as types for continual imitation.—Good Words.

He Was Scotch.

A story of a Kilmarnock man's visit to London is told in The Herald of his town. He was most hospitably welcomed at the house of a friend's friend, on whom he had been asked to call. The lady of the house asked him if he were a total abstainer, and, finding he was not, brought out a decanter of whiskey and nearly filled a tumbler, which she handed to him. The Kilmarnock man protested that he could not take "half the amount." "Oh," replied the hostess, "you are a Scotchman, aren't you?"

The Dipper or the Dropper?

There are cough medicines that are taken as freely as a drink of water from a dipper. They are cheap medicines. Quantity does not make up for quality. It's the quality that cures. There's one medicine that's dropped, not dipped—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. There's more power in drops of this remedy than in dipperfuls of cheap cough syrups and elixirs. It cures Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all Colds, Coughs, and affections of the Throat and Lungs.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Crogan's Death.

An inquest was held at Mahanoy City last night on the death of Augustus Crogan, who was killed in the Ellangowan colliery last Saturday night. The only witness examined was Matthew Caserley, leader boss at the colliery. He testified that he and Crogan were unloading timber. Caserley lifted the timber to one of the timbers to have it pulled from the cage. He told Crogan to step aside and the latter did. The timber started, the log slipped on leaving the cage and struck Crogan in the stomach. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death. The funeral of the victim took place at two o'clock this afternoon from the family residence at Jacksons. The services were conducted by Rev. G. M. Beck, pastor of the German Reformed church of Mahanoy City. The remains were brought to this town and interred in the Old Fellows' cemetery.

A Bit of History Recalled.

"I was disgusted with the captain of the company," remarked Mr. Squinford. "Miss Jordie made the flag presentation speech in a clear, distinct voice that could be heard by everybody in the crowd, but Captain Soudby mumbled his words in so low a tone that I couldn't hear a word he said, and I stood within six feet of him. A man ought to be able to rise to the occasion as well as a woman."

"Yes," absently responded Mrs. Squinford. "That reminds me of the time when we were married. I spoke my vows, as you remember, in a clear, distinct voice, and you mumbled something I couldn't understand, although I stood within considerably less than six feet of you. Mr. Squinford mumbled something, but seemed unable to rise to the occasion, and the conversation closed.—Chicago Tribune.

TYPHOID AT CAMP MEADE.

New York Regiment Will Be Isolated. To Prevent Further Spread. Middletown, Pa., Sept. 27.—Typhoid fever is getting in its deadly work at Camp Meade. Three deaths occurred between Saturday night and Monday morning. The body of Private William Morgan, Company A, First Maryland, was shipped last evening to Frederick City, Md. The others were Corporal Roy W. Johnson and August F. Company F, Second Pennsylvania engineer corps. Johnson was an undergraduate of the University of Nebraska, and his remains were forwarded to his home at Crete, Neb. Foss' body was sent to Reshad, Minn. He was a graduate of the University of Michigan, and held a fellowship in the University of Nebraska. Private J. S. Thompson, of the corps reserve ambulance company, who was taken away from here by the Lancaster general hospital ten days ago, died Sunday night of typhoid. Private Frank T. Forney, Second Pennsylvania, died yesterday at the Harrisburg hospital of fever contracted in the south. His body was shipped to New Albany, Ind. Typhoid is spreading so rapidly in the Two Hundred and Third New York that the regiment will be sent away as soon as a suitable camping ground is found. It is probably that the troops will be isolated in the Conowingo hills in the vicinity of Elizabethtown. New tents will be issued to them and extra precautions taken to confine the disease to this command. The medical officers say the New York soldiers landed during the last week of August. A train load of typhoid patients was taken to Philadelphia hospitals last evening by a Red Cross train. This society is taking excellent care of the sick in its hospital here, and has secured the services of a specialist to treat the typhoid cases.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 27.—Articles from Carthagena, Colombia, state that the Colombian government has finally decided to decline to pay the Cerutti claim, on the ground that the republic is now able to produce ample evidence of Cerutti's complicity in the political troubles that occurred in the country in 1876 and 1877. The government, according to the articles received, has directed the president to urge Italy to agree to resubmit the case to arbitration, and will, in the event of failing in this attempt, oppose force with force to the last extreme.

CIVIL COURT.

Four Judges Hearing Cases During the Last Week of Court.

The last week of civil court opened yesterday with four judges disposing of the cases. Judge Albright, of Lehigh, and Judge Lyon, of Juniata, are assisting Judges Bechtel and Keiser in the cases. The case of Bernard Deacon vs. Elizabeth Whalen, an action to recover damages for injuries sustained by falling through a coal hole on the defendant's premises. The plaintiff is a resident of Girardville and is an installment agent. On the 6th of May, 1894, he was walking along East Lloyd street, when he fell in a coal hole in front of the property of Mrs. Whalen and his leg was badly injured and injured, causing him to be confined to the house for four weeks, and for which he seeks to recover damages to the amount of $500. Deacon testified that the coal hole was in a safe condition and in a safe condition, and that he was only made a demand upon the Borough Council for damages, but his claim was ignored by that body, and then he brought suit against the property owner. The defendant produced evidence to show that the pavement was not recently built, that it was made in a workmanlike manner, and that no complaint as to its bad condition had been made to the defendant. Judge Lyon told the jury that property owners are compelled to keep their pavements in a safe condition, and the only way for the jury to detect the defendant's negligence in this case is to see what extent the plaintiff sustained injuries. M. M. Burke, of town, represented the defendant and John F. Whalen the plaintiff. The jury retired late yesterday afternoon, and this morning brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, awarding him $75 damages. The verdict was somewhat of a surprise, as it was generally thought the plaintiff had a poor case. Frank A. Everett and Silas Hoffmeyer were appointed Republican and Democratic inspectors, respectively, in the Brandywine district, Mahanoy township, for the election in the cases of C. M. Becker vs. Levi M. Paul and A. L. Shay, adms. vs. Prudential Insurance Company. Also in the case of Wise vs. Devlin.
