A FASHODA BLUE BOOK.

Porrespondence Between the French and British Governments.

LORD SALISBURY DETERMINED.

The Correspondence Shows That the British Would Have Resisted With Force of Arms Any Interference With Their Plan of Campaign.

London, Oct. 10 .- The foreign office has issued a Fashoda blue book giving and British governments.

It begins with a dispatch dated Dec. 10, 1897, from Sir Edmund Monson, British ambassador at Paris, to Lord Salisbury, referring to rumors of the massacre of the Marchand expedition, and expressing the ambassador's sat-isfaction that he has been allowed to acquaint M. Hanotaux (French foreign minister of that day) with Lord Salisbury's view that, if other questions Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply are adjusted. Great Britain will make what the weak stomach lacks, there are several good preparations which will do this, shores of Lake Tehad. The dispatch but none so readily as Stunic Dypopsia shows, however, that the ambassador Tablets, which are designed especially for made it clear that this concession must all stomach troubles, and while core all di-right of any European power except

M. Hanotaux replied on Dec. 24 in a long dispatch of respectful protest against Lord Salisbury's view.

On Aug. 2 of this year Lord Salisbury wrote Lord Cramer, British diplomatic two flotilias should ascend to Fashoda and go up the Blue Nile as far as it personally to command the Fashoda flotilla and to take a few troops, if he should consider it desirable, the object being to assert Great Britain's sphere of influence in the Nile valley. On Sept, 7 Sir Edward Monson re-ported to Lord Salisbury a conversation in which M. Delcasse, French foreign minister, announced that Marchand had no authority to decide on questions of right, and had been instructed to abstain from any action likely to lead to local conflict. M. Delcasse further expressed a conviction that the matter was susceptible of arrangement by means of discussion. To this Lord Salisbury replied on Sept. 9 that Great Britain regarded the operations of the sirdar (General Kitchener) as placing all the territories of Khalifa Abdullah, by right of conquest, in the hands of the British and Egyptian governments, and insisted that this contention admitted of no dis-

Then follow various dispatches recording the discussion between Sir Edmund Monson and M. Delcasse, the latter explaining that Marchand was now virtually a lieutenant to the Liot-ard expedition, and that, therefore, the situation at Fashoda, even if March-and was there, could not be dangerous as Sir Edmund Monson had repre-

On Sept. 25-still following the blue book-the sirdar reported the results of his expedition to Fashoda, fully confirming the announcements already cabled to the press, including the fact that General Kitchner's arrival there prevented a second dervish attack on Marchand. The French officer informed the sirdar that he had concluded a treaty, which he had sent to France for ratification, whereby the Shillock chiefs had placed the country under French protection. Marchand replied in the negative to General Kitchener's question whether he was prepared to resist the hoisting of the Egyptian flag, but he maintained that he had orders from the French government to occupy Fashoda. On the departure of the British forces General Kitchener notified Major Marchand in writing that all transportation of war material on the Nile was absolutely prohibited.

The Sirdard's dispatch concludes as follows: "The chief Shillocks came to our camp and positively denied that they had concluded any treaty with Marchand, while all the Shillocks de-clared their allegiance to the British government. Moreover, Marchand was in such a precarious position that nothing could have prevented his an-nihilation by the dervishes had we been a fortnight later in crushing the

Other dispatches indicate that M. Delcasse declined Great Britain's request for the immediate recall of Major Marchand, and that Great Britain agreed to dispatch a message for the French government to March-and as a matter of courtesy, without accepting any responsibility for the results delay might entail, and still maintaining that the matter admitted of no compromise. In the final dispatch appearing in the blue boook Lord Salisbury, under date of Oct. 3, instructs Sir Edmund Monson to inform M. Deleasse that the lat-ter's message to Major Marchand has en sent, but that Great Britain views the Marchand mission as having no political significance whatever.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Dis ease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's Nev Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at A. Wasley's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

The Happy Now

Compared with The Melancholy Past.

MRS. CHAS. LA POINT. It's the old, old story, told over and over again since the dawn of creation. The story of the heart. It's a theme that never wearies. And yet the saddest stories of the heart are those of its disorders. It has been the most neglected organ in the body. There are thousands of cases of heart disease that never receive the proper treatment. The average doctor knows little of the heart, and treats the cases presented to him, as some other disorder and in this manner, patients, instead of being cured, are made worse,

The testimony of the lady whose portrait appears above is pertinent. Dr. Miles' discoveries, relating to the heart and nerves, mark a new era in the treatment of disorders of these most vital organs. Heart disease, formerly considered beyond the pale of medical aid, has at last yielded the victory to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. The reports received by Dr. Miles' Medical Co., of cases where special advice is asked, show conclusively that in a majority of cases complete cures follow the faithful use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies. The few failures are generally due to neglience on the part of the patient in not taking the remedies as directed.

"A severe attack of typhoid fever left me with heart trouble of the "A severe attack of typhoid fever left me with heart trouble of the most serious nature. Nothing the doctors gave me seemed to have any effect. They gave the very strongest of heart medicines, but to no avail. I had severe pains in the region of the heart, and was unable to sleep or lie on my left side for more than three minutes at a time without great pain. My heart seemed to miss beats, and I had smothering spells, in which it seemed every breath would be the last I should draw on earth.

We accidentally heard of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine, and as a last resort we purchased a bottle of each. After taking the remedies a week, I could be lifted in a chair and sit up an hour. In two weeks I could walk about, and in a short time I was able to do light house.

I shall be ever grateful to you for your wonderful medicines and will praise them to everyone I know. Truly they saved my life. Hoping every one who uses Dr. Miles Remedies will derive the same benefit that I have, I remain,"

Private-Murderess Still Refleent. Canton, O., Oct. 16.—The home com-ing of President and Mrs. McKinley yesterday for the funeral of Mr. George D. Saxion was attended with a most touching and pathetic scene at the Pennsylvania station. Many people were at the depot when the train ar-rived and extended the party a silent, but sympathetic and reverential wel-

Mrs. McKinley was supported by the arm of the president, with the care and close attention he always de-votes to her personal comfort. He walked slowly to the carriage, his head bowed and his face a little paler than usual, Mrs. Harber, Mrs. McKinley's sister, was next off the train, and was folned by her husband. Mr. Webb C. Hayes followed. John Barber, the sick soldler, was carried from the train by his brother, George Barber, who had gone from New York to Washington to oln the party, and by Mr. George C. Clark. The sick man was an orderly on General Henry's staff in Porto Rico. and has for some weeks been ill with typhoid fever in Washington, where his mother, Mrs. Barber, and Mrs. McKinley have been nursing him, first at the White House and later at Garfield's hospital. Miss Helen McKinley, the hospital. Miss Heien McKinley, the president's sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Steward A. Bowman, of Lorain, the latter the president's niece, who start-ed with the party from Washington, left the train at Pittsburg to take another road.

The president and party went direct to the Barber home, which is the old Saxton homestend and was the Canton home of the McKinleys during his life in congress. Mrs. McKinley soon laid down for a little rest, and at 1:30 din-ner was served to the family. Mrs. Mc-Kinley showed evidence of the suffer-ings from the shock and of fatigue from the journey, but bore up remark-ably well, and was able to be about the

in the Saxton family lot.

The train bearing the cabinet and other officials from Washington to the Omaha expesition will arrive in Canther the two but because Mr. Hanna might ton this evening about 9 o'clock, the private car of the president will be attached thereto and he will join the party. Mrs. McKinley will not undertake the trip to Omaha, but will be with the president in Chicago. She will remain in Canton for several days, and more than likely go to Chicago with Mrs. Lafayette McWilliams and Mrs.

W. A. Goodman, her cousins, The day brought no new developments in the tragedy. Mrs. George remains in jail, and saw no one yesterday but Mayor Rice. He was with her for five minutes. She was arraigned at 10 o'clock this morning and held for a further hearing. She still refuses to talk of the murder.

THE FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

Republicans Will Control, But by Reduced Majority.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The Post pre-sents today, in a series of dispatches from correspondents in every state of the Union, except Maine, Vermont and Oregon, where congressional elections have already been held, a review of the political situation with special ref-erence to the complexion of the next hous of representatives. In summarizing its dispatches The Post says:

While Democratic gains are thus outlined in many states, the figures given do not yet make it positive that the Republicans will lose control of the house. There is at present in the house of representatives a Republican ma-jority of 56 over all parties combined, and this large majority will be difficult to completely overcome. There is no doubt that it will be reduced to a very small number, but the present indica-tions do not point to its entire disap-

"The estimates made by The Post correspondents show that 166 districts in the United States will certainly be Republican in the approaching elec-tion-unless the unexpected happensand 13 additional districts will give the Republicans a majority of the house, According to The Post's advices there are no less than 42 doubtful districts, the large number being in a great measure due to the caution of The Post's correspondents in declining to place in the certain column any dis-trict which contains an element of doubt. Out of this 42, however, there are at least 20 districts in which the chances are said to favor the Repub-Heans.
