TESTIMONIAL BANQUET.

Dr. G. M. Hamilton Entertained by his Friends at the Hotel Francy Last Night.

A merry time and a merry feast constituted a testimonial banquet tendered Dr. G. M. Hamilton last evening, in the cosy dining room of the Hotel Francy.

M. M. Burke, Esq., was made toastmaster of his evening, and in his speech paid Mr. Hamilton a glowing tribute to his worth and good qualities and a leading member of the profession.

Following is the list of guests: A. B. Lamb, John C. Lewis, T. J. Hickey, H. C. Folmer, J. C. Cooper, A. T. Spero, Benjamin Fehlowitz, M. J. Lawlor, M. E. Doyle, F. H. Scott, Frank Miller, Dr. P. B. Schmitt, Wm. Niswenter, Frank Schmidt, Paul Houck, Dr. D. John Price, M. Billinger, Martin Grahler, Dr. C. Robbins, M. M. Burke, Esq., John Harle, Dr. W. N. Stein, Dr. D. J. Langton, T. C. Dolan and Dr. P. F. Burke.

Through the departure of Dr. Hamilton the town suffers the loss of one of its leading physicians. His new field of practice will be at Millersburg, Dauphin county, where he will become the successor to one of Millersburg's oldest and ablest physicians, who is about to retire from active practice.

Don't fail to attend Waldron's big horse sale to-morrow at Mahanoy City. It is a BIG BEER CUT.

The Columbia Brewing Company Takes Up the Gauntlet.

The Columbia Brewing Company of town has determined to show that it can take a hand in the cut rate game inaugurated by the Philadelphia brewing concern and the far is doing. The Quaker City company put beer into the town about ten days ago at six dollars a barrel. All the other companies were charging seven dollars, and none made an effort to meet the cut until to-day, when the Columbia Company reduced its price to five dollars.

JACK DANDO BADLY SHOT

The Veteran Constable Falls While Performing His Duty.

ESCAPE OF HIS ASSAILANT!

A Shot Gun Was Used and the Attending Physicians Say the Victim Cannot Recover—The Shooting Was Done at Close Range.

"Jack" Dando, one of the bravest and most popular men who ever served as an officer of the law in this borough, was fatally shot last night by a disreputable Pole who long ago outlived his usefulness in this world.

The warrant for the arrest was issued for his alleged participation in the shooting of Mrs. Bialecki, a disreputable fellow who was a nuisance to the community and a brute to his family.

Early last evening Mrs. Bialecki appeared before Justice Shoemaker and caused a warrant to be issued for her husband's arrest on the following information: "That her husband, Wojcizk Bialecki, has from some time been abusing and beating me very shamefully, and also to-day, October 12th, committed an assault and battery on me by striking her, knocking her down, and further assaulting her by throwing a cup at her; that he does not work, stays around drinking and carousing, and does not provide sufficient means for her support."

The warrant for the arrest was issued for his alleged participation in the shooting of Mrs. Bialecki, a disreputable fellow who was a nuisance to the community and a brute to his family.

collar on Coal street the four men walked out to the street, assisting Dando. The police hurried back to the house where the shooting occurred and found that the bird had flown.

Sally Bialecki, the daughter of the murderer, says that as the four men walked out the rear doorway with Dando, her father pushed the door after them and stepped out of the doorway into the kitchen. He said to her, "Good bye; I am going to the Squire's office, and he hurriedly left the house by way of the door opening on to Strawberry Alley, and in an opposite direction to that taken by Dando and the four men.

It has been stated that several hounds owned by Bialecki followed him up Locust Mountain, and have not returned since. This has been referred to as a good clue. It is true that after the shooting the hounds did go up the mountain, but they returned later in the night. The members of the family say that there is nothing significant in connection with the hounds. They are not penned up and they take runs on the mountain every night.

Constable Dando is 50 years of age and has a wife and two grown up children. He did considerable service in the civil war and is a member of Watkin Waters Post No. 146, G. A. R. He was the first appointed policeman in the borough and served several years on the regular force. His record is that of a quiet, courteous man, and fearless in the performance of his duty as an officer. He was very popular and regret over his late is general.

Bialecki is 64 years old, weighs 180 pounds and is 5 feet 7 inches high. His hair is brown and his red moustache is mixed with gray. This is the description of the man as furnished by the police; this morning to all the neighboring towns and other parts of the region.

Dando spent a restless night, but rested quite early this morning after the physicians administered opiates. This afternoon he had another spell of restlessness and suffered from great pain in his breast and side. The opinions of the physicians as to the ultimate result are unchanged. They entertain no hopes for recovery.

No trace of Bialecki had been found up to a late hour this afternoon. All the members of the police force were out to-day in citizens' clothes and some of them visited the surrounding towns in search of the fugitive.

KILLED IN STRIKE RIOT

Battle Between Strikers and Deputies at Virden, Ills.

TEN PARTICIPANTS DEAD.

A Large Number Wounded, and Some of Them Dying.

GOVERNOR TANNER'S CONTENTION

Declared That the Mine Owners, in Importing Negro Labor From the South, Was Working Injury to the Fair Fame of the State—Mine Managers, on the Other Hand, Declare That the Governor Is Responsible For the Slaughter at Virden.

Virden, Oct. 13.—The little town of Virden is comparatively quiet after yesterday's rioting and bloodshed, the long expected clash between the union miners and imported negroes. At 12:40 o'clock the Chicago and Alton special train, bearing 200 negro miners from the south, arrived at the stockade around the Chicago-Virden Coal company's mines and immediately the terrific firing began. The list stands ten dead and 25 or 30 wounded.

The dead are: Ed Welsh, Springfield; Frank Bilyeu, Springfield; Albert Smith, Mt. Olive; Joe Kitterly, Mt. Olive; Ernest Keutner, Mt. Olive; A. H. Breneman, Girard; D. H. Kiley, Chicago and Alton detective; William W. Carroll, deputy sheriff; Tom Preston, of Chicago; A. W. Morgan, of Chicago. The latter was killed in the stockade, where seven others were wounded.

The wounded: Ansk Ankel, Mt. Olive; Gustav Wovstap, Mt. Olive; Ed Upton, Springfield; Thomas Jennings, Springfield; Joe Hatnes, Girard, shot in leg; George Runk, Girard, shot in arm; William Herman, Girard, shot in hand; Joe Boston, Mt. Olive, shot in stomach; Joe Sprim, Mt. Olive, shot in arm; Burt Tigar, engineer Chicago and Alton road, shot in arm; J. F. Eyster, superintendent Climax Trading company, shot and beaten.

Yesterday the Chicago and Alton limited due to pass here at 10 o'clock shot through en route to Chicago an hour late, displaying flags on the rear indicating that a special was following. Immediately the word was spread, and a dense crowd of miners collected at the entrance of the stockade a half mile north of the station. D. B. Kiley, a Chicago and Alton detective, stood guard at a switch at the south end of the station platform, to see it was not tampered with.

At 12:40 the special train passed the station and signal shots were fired from the south end of the train announcing the special's arrival. Immediately shots were fired from the moving train, and outside, and the battle was on. A few moments after the train had passed the switch where Kiley was stationed, and while he was talking with two citizens, he threw up his arms and dropped dead, with a bullet through his brain. He was the first man killed. The train continued to the stockade, the miners firing into it all along the route and the negro passengers returning the fire.

The moment the train reached the stockade the miners opened a desperate fire with Winchesters, revolvers and firearms of all descriptions. The negroes on the train answered with a steady fire. The miners and the train were enveloped in a cloud of smoke and the shooting sounded like a continuous volley. Engineer Burt Tigar received a bullet in the arm and dropped from his seat. His fireman seized the throttle, pulled it open with a jerk and the train was under speed, carrying eight wounded men—all deputies except one, who was a negro miner—as passengers to Springfield. One of these died after the train reached Springfield. He was William W. Carroll, deputy sheriff. Another—William H. Clarkson, an inmate of the soldiers' home at Leavenworth, Kan., who was acting as deputy—will probably die.

The train stopped at the stockade but two minutes. Its departure did not cause the firing to cease. The tower of the stockade was filled with sharpshooters armed with Winchesters, and they kept up a steady fire into the crowd of union miners. Eye witnesses say the dead miners were killed after the train had departed. It is not known how many are stationed behind the walls of the stockade, but an estimate is placed at between 25 and 40.

The supply and provision store of the Chicago-Virden company is known as the Climax Trading company, with Superintendent J. F. Eyster in charge. At 3 o'clock, after the firing at the stockade had subsided, an attack without parallel in the history of the trouble was made on Eyster in his store on Main street, one block from the depot, which will probably cost him his life. He was sitting in his store when his telephone rang and he was instructed from the stockade to secure physicians and hurry them to the place. Eyster jumped into his delivery wagon and securing two doctors rushed them to the mines. He returned to his store, climbed out of his wagon and was just entering the store when the cry was raised that infuriated miners pressed toward the store. Eyster ran behind a counter.
