THE BOARD OF HEALTH

A Special Meeting in the Council Chamber Last Night.

LECTURES ON HEALTH RULES

President Spalding Defines the Duties of Undertakers—J. J. Bradigan to Get the Creek Contract if the Thomas Coal Company Fails to Act.

The meeting was attended by Dr. Spalding and Messrs. Marston, Holmes, Schmidt and Malone, members of the Board, Solicitor M. M. Burke, Secretary Curtin and Health Officer Conry.

President Spalding first called upon the Hoehler and Roberts cases, stating that Justice Toomey had suspended sentence to give the gentlemen charged an opportunity to appear before the Board and make a statement with a view to secure clemency.

Mr. Hoehler was present and stated that he did not understand the rules of the Board of Health and that he did not notice as to what the health laws were given him on Wednesday, at his residence. The next day Mr. Hoehler called at the Board of Health office and got the second notice.

Resolved, That the following resolutions shall mean something.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Institute are due to the school directors, teachers and people of Mahanoy City, for their kind reception and attention they have tendered to the teachers during the Institute.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Institute are due to our County Superintendent, Mr. Weiss, and the Advisory Committee, for the choice of the excellent day instructors and the entertaining evening exercises.

Resolved, That by the energy, perseverance and intelligence of our County Superintendent, Mr. Weiss, the educational welfare of our county has been successfully advanced and we believe in what is called team work.

Resolved, That we, the teachers of Schuylkill county, will neglect no opportunity of self improvement and that we will especially pressure ourselves on those branches we are called upon to teach.

Resolved, That we will never speak evil of a fellow-teacher, but will defend each and all of us at all times and in all places, unless we know from personal observation that such teacher has proved to be unworthy.

Resolved, That we will treat our pupils in the school room and on the street as we treat others who are our personal friends and acquaintances.

Resolved, That for many years past, and more especially at present, it is necessary that an organization is required among the teachers of the different counties to act in conjunction with the committee of the State Teachers' Association, so that by their numbers and intelligence they may be able to influence legislation in favor of education.

Resolved, That the time has now come when every teacher should have a vote, regardless of sex, providing that he or she has attained the legal age.

AFLAME ON THE OCEAN.

Total Destruction of the Clyde Line Steamer Croatan.

ALL BUT FIVE WERE RESCUED.

The Fire Gained So Rapidly That There Was No Time to Lower the Boats, and the Twenty-seven Persons on Board Jumped Overboard.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Nov. 5.—A disaster at sea, fortunately with small loss of life, five persons in all, was made known yesterday by the landing here of 23 persons who escaped from the burning steamer Croatan, of the Clyde line, bound from New York for Wilmington, N. C., and Georgetown, S. C. The disaster occurred on Nov. 1, about 18 miles north of Cape Charles, and about 126 miles from New York, from which port the steamer sailed on Oct. 31, with a general cargo and eight passengers. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the steamer was followed by the freighter bank beneath the waves. Of the 23 persons who were on board 22 survived. These passengers were landed at this port yesterday afternoon by the schooner Alice E. Clark, of Portland, Me., which had been in the vicinity of the Croatan at the time she was burning.

The Croatan's list of drowned is as follows: Second Assistant Engineer Jeremiah McCarthy, of Nova Scotia, leaves a widow in New York; Steward James Curtis, Jersey City; Mrs. James Curtis, wife of the steward; Frank, 62, older (last name unknown); Jennie Willard (colored), Wilmington, N. C.

The Croatan was but 30 hours from New York, and going at a good rate of speed, with a smooth sea and calm weather, when at 3 p. m. a fire began to burn on the deck and spread to the cargo. The fire was on fire, a general alarm was immediately given, and an effort was made to lower the boats, but the fire spread with such rapidity that all efforts to reach them were unavailing, because only ten minutes after the fire was reported the ship was completely enveloped in flames from stem to stern. Shortly after the fire was discovered an explosion took place in the cargo, which blew off the after hatch. A second explosion followed a few minutes later, and the ship was then a mass of flames. It was at this time that Captain Hale, seeing that to remain on the vessel meant sure death, gave orders for all hands to jump overboard and save themselves as best they could. The gallant captain was the last man to leave the ship, remaining on deck with his first officer until they were completely enveloped in flames and the vessel had commenced to sink.

There seemed to be no panic on board. The men and women, after lashing on their life preservers, jumped into the water, knowing that the chances of escape were much more certain than if they remained on board the burning ship. Some of the passengers had their faces scorched, and many had their clothing on fire when they leaped into the sea. The captain and first officer succeeded in securing a yawl boat, which had been damaged in lowering, and by hard work rescued eight persons from the water.

The burning ship was sighted by the four masted schooner Alice Clark, of Portland. Captain Clark, which was bound for Cape Charles, was bound for Cape Charles, and his crew of 12 men and women followed into the water, knowing that the chances of escape were much more certain than if they remained on board the burning ship. Some of the passengers had their faces scorched, and many had their clothing on fire when they leaped into the sea. The captain and first officer succeeded in securing a yawl boat, which had been damaged in lowering, and by hard work rescued eight persons from the water.

No explosives were known to be among the ship's cargo, and the origin of the fire is a mystery to her officers and crew.

THE MAN WITH THE HAMMER!

The man who wields the hammer with the most flourish and makes the most noise isn't always the one who drives the most nails. His nails may be bent, his hammer poor, and when the day's work is done he'll be behind. We drive bargains, not nails, but our stock is up in quality. The blows of our hammer are accurate and regular. We are making a winning record every day in our GROCERY line.
