USED A KNIFE.
An Early Morning Bloody Affray at Grovers' Hill.
At about two o'clock this morning several of the police were called to Grovers' hill to quell a fight in which one Joe Urban was making use of a pocket knife. He stabbed William Menkewitz three times in the head, but although the victim bled profusely the wounds were not of a serious character. While the police were waiting for Urban to dress himself to go to the lockup the prisoner suddenly sprang up and, before the officers could interfere, he beat John Patrowski with a shoe and bruised him badly. Urban was put in the lockup, and after several hours confinement the prisoner was given a hearing before Justice Shoemaker and committed for trial at court in default of $700 bail.

Assault at Brownsville.
Four residents, Adolph Rose, John Smith, Adam Nawick and the latter's wife, all of Brownsville, were shopping in town Saturday evening. After returning home and leaving Nawick's wife at the door, the men agreed to repair to a neighboring saloon to have a drink. The midnight hour having set in they were compelled to take the back door. When a dark spot was reached Smith was attacked by his two comrades and knocked down with a piece of iron. He was exposed to the cold for over two hours, but finally gained sufficient strength to walk to his home. His left shoulder was badly bruised and his right hand lacerated, with his right hip terribly swollen. His assailants had been arrested and were placed under $100 bail, each, by Justice Shoemaker. The victim has been sent to the Miness' hospital.

Kendrick House Free Lunch.
Vegetable soup will be served, free, to all patrons to-night.

Firebugs at Mahanoe City.
Firebugs are again at work at Mahanoe City. The shirt factory operated by Harry Bushar and located near the Lehigh Valley depot, being totally destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The building, which was owned by Ball & Kutz, was totally destroyed, entailing a loss of $1,800 with $1,000 insurance. The loss on the machinery and stock is placed at $1,700, with $2,000 insurance. The factory employed 60 hands and its destruction is a severe blow to Mahanoe City. It was the work of incendiaries.

Another Fire.
Mahanoe City had a second fire yesterday. It occurred in the house of Andrew Louas last night and was due to a defective flue. The damage was slight. The shirt factory mill fire has caused Jones & Johnson, of the hosiery mill, to put a night watchman on duty at their plant.

Reported for Mustering Out.
Under the orders for the Fourth Regiment to rendezvous at the company armories beginning November 6, the members of Company E now report at the armory at Potomacville at 9 and 5 o'clock every day for roll call. This will be continued until the company is mustered out. The Shenandoah members left here Saturday evening for that purpose. Meade Peters, of town, went to Potomacville this morning with a physician's certificate to the effect that he required care to ward off an attack of pneumonia. Capt. Dyson gave Peters a ten-day sick furlough.

Advice—Take Pan-Tina, 25c. At Grubler Bros., drug store.

Caught in the Act.
At 12:30 yesterday morning two men were seen leaving the cellar of the saloon at the northwest corner of Main and Oak streets with a half barrel of beer in their possession. They were rolling their plunder along Oak street when Policeman Uratis appeared and grabbed one of them. The other man fell in running away and the saloonkeeper threw himself upon the prostrate man and held him prisoner until Uratis came up. The officer took both the robbers to the lockup, but the case was subsequently dropped, as the saloonkeeper would not prosecute.

Successful Meetings.
Mrs. Brynorch Rose, of South Wales, preached in the Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church yesterday morning and last evening before congregations that crowded the edifice. In the evening the capacity of the church was overtaxed. The sermon in the morning was preached in Welsh and in the evening there were English and Welsh discourses. Mrs. Rose is an eloquent and impressive speaker.

POLITICAL POTPOURRI
The Last Rally of the Campaign Will be Made Here To-night.
RALLIES ALL AROUND TO-NIGHT.
The Former Will Hold a Mass Meeting in Robbins' Opera House, and the Democratic Hosts Will be Amassed in Ferguson's Theatre.

The present somewhat unusual political campaign in this county will close to-night, so far as the spell-binders are concerned. Every election district in the county has been visited by the speakers of the two parties, and they will both close the campaign by mass meetings here to-night, making their second appearance in Shenandoah.

It is difficult, on the eve of election, to predict the result of to-morrow's contest. Both the Republican and Democratic leaders profess to be confident of success, while the supporters of Dr. Swallow say he will carry the county. The latter prediction is not based upon good judgment. The preacher candidate will hardly receive 2,000 more votes in this county above what was cast for him last year. Jenks will probably carry Schuylkill by a small plurality, with Stone a very close second. The latter has gained wonderfully within the last week, hundreds of Republican deserting the Swallow ranks and falling in line for the Republican candidate for Governor. The latter, from present indications, will be elected by not less than 75,000 plurality.

Advice from different parts of the county indicate a large independent vote so far as the county ticket is concerned, which makes it difficult to forecast the result. The Republican county chairman, however, is confident of success, and it is safe to say that a majority of the candidates of that party will be successful.

One of the most interesting contests is that for Senator in this district, with David M. Graham as the Republican standard-bearer. Shrewd political forecasters say that Mr. Graham will be elected. He has a united party at his back, and his personal popularity has enlisted many Democrats to his support. Dr. Reitzel, the Republican candidate for Legislature, will also be elected.

The Republicans will hold a mass meeting in Robbins' opera house this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The principal speaker will be Gen. J. P. S. Gobin, candidate for Lieutenant Governor. He is a very forceful talker, and will no doubt attract a large audience. The other speakers announced are Hon. C. N. Brum and S. Burd Edwards, Esq., the latter candidate for District Attorney. This is Mr. Edwards' first appearance here on the stump in this campaign.

THE JUDICIARY.
A Correspondent Shows Conclusively That Judge Koch is a Non-Partisan.

EDITOR HERALD:—The Democratic press admits the principle of a non-partisan judiciary, but tries to make Mr. Marr appear to be a non-partisan candidate. I am glad to note that these newspapers at last succumb to the inevitable by admitting the correctness of the principle. This scores a victory.

Now, let us see who is the non-partisan candidate. The Democratic organ asserts that Mr. Marr voted for one Republican for Judge, namely, Judge Green. They say, however, that Judge Koch never voted for a Democrat in his life, and yet it is well known that he voted for Judges Pershing and Bechtel, two extreme partisan Democrats. This demonstrates that Judge Koch is at least twice as good a supporter of a non-partisan judiciary as Mr. Marr.

The false statement regarding Judge Koch's attitude on a non-partisan judiciary is on a par with the other campaign stories concerning him. The people know what is meant by a non-partisan judiciary, and they will again endorse it to-morrow by voting for Judge Koch to succeed himself. They will say that a good Judge shall be retained in the public service, and that he shall not be set aside to give place for a mere partisan nominee. They will say also that the Republicans shall have at least one Judge out of four on the Bench in this county.

NON-PARTISAN.
Shenandoah, Pa., Nov. 7, 1893.

POLITICAL POINTS.
To-morrow and the agony will be over. The theater bureau issues a special forecast and says it will rain to-morrow.

The Philadelphia Inquirer of Saturday, editorially said: "Mr. Brum is perhaps the craziest man on the financial question this side of the Mississippi. Wharton Barker alone excepted." The Inquirer, too, is favorable to the Democratic organ, and they Chairman Elkin, of the Republican state committee, estimates the plurality of William A. Stone at 131,000, and says that Dr. Swallow will not carry a single county.

Hon. John Wanamaker addressed one of the largest and most refined audiences of the campaign at Potomacville on Saturday night. Unlike most of the speakers who are opposing W. A. Stone, the merchant prince abused no one, and his remarks offended no one. He paid his respects to Mr. Brum, the latter having attacked Wanamaker the evening previous.

A rally was held by the Socialistic Labor party in Ryankewick's hall last evening. The hall was packed to the doors. The speakers of the evening were the local aspirants for office.

It is a safe bet that David M. Graham will win by a handsome majority in the Senate ticket.

The new county is the main issue in the Legislative fight in lower Luzerne county. It is duty of every citizen to vote to-morrow, whether they be Democrat or Republican.

A correspondent writing to the Daily Republican from Girardville on Saturday, furnishes the information that William A. Marr, the Democratic candidate for Judicial

FIRE AT THE CAPITOL
Gas Explosion Causes Great Destruction in the Big Building.
SUPREME COURT ROOM WRECKED.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The United States supreme court room, located near the center of the Capitol, is wrecked, the valuable law library connected with it seriously damaged, and many of the valuable records of the court filed away in vaults beneath that portion of the Capitol have been destroyed.

Those about the building at the time of and immediately after the explosion all agree that it came from gas, though there is a difference of opinion as to what caused it. An engineer in the building stated that a gas meter had exploded. Another official stated that he understood a small gas engine used in running the private elevator for the members of the supreme court was located in the vaults, and that the explosion came from it, but the most plausible statement is that in the vaults where the records are stored gas jets continually burn. It is believed that one of these jets blew out from a draft, and that the gas escaped from it until the tightly closed vault had been filled with gas, which percolated through cracks and reached a lighted jet, thus causing the explosion.

An examination of the lower portion of the building shows that the force of the explosion was terrific. Doors and windows were blown out, and in many places there are large cracks in the under pinning of the walls. It is asserted that several supporting columns of the main entrance of the building are six inches out of plumb. There is no doubt that many valuable papers and documents have been permanently destroyed, and their value from a money standpoint could not be estimated. Twenty thousand dollars had just been expended in improving the supreme court room.

The entire central eastern part of the great marble pile from the main floor to the subterranean basement, practically is a mass of ruins. The force of the explosion was so heavy that the coping stones on the outer walls just east of the point where the explosion occurred were bulged out nearly two inches. The entire marble floor of the building was blown out and locked doors were forced from their hinges quite 100 feet from the scene of it.

Fire followed the explosion so quickly as to seem practically simultaneous with it. The explosion shook the immense structure to its foundation, and had several squares of the Capitol. It occurred in a small room tightly enclosed by heavy stone walls in the subterranean basement, immediately below the main entrance to the old Capitol building. In this room was a 500 light gas meter, which was fed by a four inch main. The meter itself was wrecked and the gas pouring from the main caught fire. The flames originating from the shaft of the elevator, which had been completely destroyed by the force of the explosion, and communicated with the record room of the supreme court, the office of the marshal of the court and the supreme court library. Before the flames could be subdued the priceless documents in the record room had been almost totally destroyed and serious damage had been done in the marshal's office and some minor rooms in the immediate vicinity.

The library of the supreme court, located immediately beneath the supreme court room, was badly damaged by fire, smoke and water, water practically destroying the great collection of law reference books. The library contains about 25,000 volumes, and was used not only by the justices of the supreme court, but by members of congress and lawyers practicing before the supreme court.

The most serious damage in the opinion of the justices of the supreme court is to the records stored in the sub-basement. These included all of the records of the supreme court from 1792 to 1822. The room contains records of cases and opinions rendered by the fathers of the government's judiciary.

Just north of the crypt an archway, almost over the meter room, was completely blown out and great masses of masonry torn from the floor were hurled to the ceiling with such force as to burst the stone and plaster of the walls above. Ponderous flagstones were shoveled from their resting places and throughout the corridors and walls of the corridors were utterly ruined. No damage was done to the main foundations of the buildings, as those are of solid masonry, deeply embedded, and 25 feet four inches thick.

Among the losses which will be most sincerely regretted are those of busts of Chief Justice Marshall and other distinguished members of the supreme court, which were arranged on small pedestals about the supreme court chamber. In the smoke and ruin which followed the explosion these valuable works of art were either badly damaged or wholly destroyed.

In the opinion of the Capitol officials and mechanics who have examined the structure the loss will reach probably $250,000 to the building. The loss on the library and records, as stated above, can be scarcely estimated in dollars and cents. A million dollars could not replace them, because many of them have no duplicates in existence.
