Coal Strike in South Wales, The United States Consul at Cardiff.

Wales, Mr. Daniel T. Phillips, gives the following account of the Weish coal strike The strike of the South Wales coal miners, which began on the 1st of last April, was caused by the failure of the Coal Masters' Association to accede to the demands of the miners for increased wages. Attempts were made, from time to time during the course of the strike, to adjust these differences, but without success. The employers from the first refused to submit to arbitration the matters in dispute, and offered the men an 87 percent, sliding scale—that is to say, an advance of S per cent upon what cepting the masters' terms. Although is termed the standard basis of 1897. for every shilling advance in the price by the miners, too much praise canof coal with 5 per cent, advance not be given them on account of their ernment would do whatever was necesupon the rate of wages paid up to excellent behavior, notwithstanding the end of March inst (12) per cent. their great sufferings during the long above the standard, and equivalent strike. It is estimated that the cost to 17g per cent, above the standard to the collieries has been $30,000,000. wage. The operatives rejected this offer and asked for a minimum wage of 22j per cent, above the standard Sympathy with the workmen and their friends was manifested to a great extent throughout the country on the part of the trades unions, and thus close upon 750,000 people were kept from starvation.

The terrible suffering can hardly be exaggerated; but, strange to say, no scenes of violence were witnessed in any part of the coal field. Welsh miners in this respect are unrivaled. Yet, one of their leaders has this week been sentenced to two months' imprisonment with hard labor for organizing a procession having for its object the intimidation of a few "blacklegs" in connection with a colliery dispute prior to the strike. Great indignation is evidently felt among the workmen; but they contens themselves with adopting constitutional means of directing the attention of the Home Secretary to the desirability of reducing the sentence with what result remains to be

The effects of the strike are fareaching. All the naval coal supplies were obtained in this district, and, owing to the scarcity, the British admiralty abandoned the naval review this year; and the channel fleet being in need of fresh supplies, other coal is now being tested, and the best of this will be chosen for naval purposes forthwith. The coaling stations throughout the world are affected, and in some lustances are said to be almost depleted. Inland, not only have the prices of other coals advanced, but great inconvenience is experienced, especially in London, in consequence of the volumes of smoke emitted wherever steam power is used; and the newspapers report convictions in the police court against steam-packet owners and others, on the score of having created nulsances.

In this way, an opportunity has been afforded for the introduction of Pocahontas coal into London, and in the booths and talk to voters. the making of coal contracts with American shipping firms. A sailing vessel has just cleared at this consulate in ballast for Norfolk, Va., to 25c. load a cargo of coal for Australia.

The workmen employed handed over their 20 per cent, advance of wages to the strike relief fund, and thus aided considerably in prolonging the struggle. The ports most affeeted were Cardiff and Newport, and whereas before the strike commenced a number of steamers called here for bunker supplies en route for the United States, comparatively few Hood's Sarsaparilla. "For several years I had no cessation of the suffering caused by catarrh. I had sense of fullness in the head and ringing in my ears. One of my nostrils was tightly closed so I could not breathe through it, and I could not clear my head. I tried several catarrh cures, but failed to get relief. Seeing accounts of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla I determined to give it a fair trial. After taking a few bottles I was satisfied it had effected a cure, for the catarrh no longer troubled me a particle and I felt better in every way than for years. I am now able to do a hard day's work on the farm." ALPRED E.

ROBUST MANHOOD

Strong Bodies and Vigorous Nerves Always Make Successful Men.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy Insures the Greatest Power, Strength and Vigor.

No such thing as fallure in life is possible in perfect manhood. It is lac of vital force - weakness and inactivit of body and mind—that strews the world with human wreckage. Weak blood fails to nourish the nerves and muscles. A noticeable failure of strength ensues A feeling of exhaustion follows, which the usual opportunities for rest do not overcome. Sleeplessess is the next symptom of a decadence, intensifying the nervous derangement that exists. The stomach becomes affected, as shown in nervous dyspepsia, and the sufferers begin to despair of recovery.
