Pottsville, Nov. 15 .- The trial of George uinn for the murder of Patrick Scully, which has now occupied three days, was of an interesting and important character yes terday afternoon, when the defense opened their case. This was especially the case when the sister of Patrick Quinn, who was engaged to be married to the murde ed man, gave her testimony. The commonwealth ex-amined a number of witnesses that seemed to mean a strong chain of evidence against

Albert Forney said he found a "billy" in the weeds near the scene of the tragedy, and identified the one presented by the District Attorney. Wm. Horsewood, a hardware dealer, said he sold a "billy" to John Me-Allister on August 20, who was in company with another, but could not say it was Quinn.

He said he knew Scully, but it was not he Here the commonwealth closed its case Late yesterday afternoon the defense opened with Miss Annie Quinn, sister of the prisioner, the first witness. She said she had een keeping company with Scully, that he had made threats to her and also against her brother. She had been living in Philadelphia but came back to Girardville early in August

The evening of the night on which Scully was struck with the stone she left her home in company with Miss Katie Cuff. They walked to Girardville and met Scully who stopped her and said she should not go to town. They had had a conversation about the letter it is alleged he wrote from Phila-delphia. She walked up from the railroad toward the Palace theatre and saw her brother George. She called to him and then went up to him and told him that Mr. Scully would not let her go over to town alone and and had threatened her and called her a liar

George Kenny was with her brother. Quinn told her to go up the street. She started but turned and said : "He (Scully) will only molest me again coming back." George said : "Oh, no, he won't ; go of Then Scully called out : "Who'll stop m He then struck George on the side of the head. He hit Quinn more than once. Witness desche, of Locust Gap, were married on believed he was putting something in said she saw Scully put his hand back an pocket. Quinn said Scully hit him with "billy." She saw her brother's head and was bleeding ; the handkerchief placed on his head was full of blood. Here they seperated, the girls going to the depot and the men down Parker street. Witness testified that Scully had said in her resence that he would give her brother ouble. She saw her brother the next morning and his head was cut.

OTH,FU On cross-examination Miss Quinn said she CL was 25 years old. She had known Scully ine years and he had been paying attention to her eight years, during five of which she lived in Philadelphia. She came home on August 5, and Scully called on her the week ES DI previous to her leaving the city and made threats. He said if I was to marry any; one else he would kill me and anvone I would marry. He also threatened to see Holmes Letters testamentary were granted to and give my brother trouble and said he
