

SYRUP OF FIGS
NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not grip nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

A POINT FOR DREYFUS.
Fiquart's Court Martial May Now Be Postponed,
THOUGH THE CHAMBER VOTED NO

Documents Formerly Denied the Court of Cassation Will Be Turned Over by the Government on the Demand of the Court.

Paris, Nov. 29.—The minister of war, M. De Freycinet, in the chamber of deputies yesterday, refused to intervene in the Picquart affair, and the house approved the government's declaration regarding the separation of military and civil powers, by a vote of 437 to 73. During the debate the president of the chamber was frequently obliged to intervene in order to quiet the uproar on all sides.

M. Poincaré, Republican, made an impassioned speech, in the course of which he said it was not necessary to confound the army with a few imprudent men. While the members of the court martial were above suspicion, the prosecution of Picquart secured the reputation of Colonel Picquart's imprisonment, M. Poincaré further asserted, was beyond all precedent, and there were guilty persons, he claimed, who were enjoying scandalous impunity.

M. Poincaré, who was minister of public instruction in 1893-95, created a sensation by adding:

"We were attacked for the Dreyfus prosecution in 1894, but I learned of the Dreyfus affair through the newspapers."

Tremendous applause and uproar followed this assertion.

M. Barthou, who was minister of public works in 1894, here interjected:

"I am ready to endorse the words of M. Poincaré, which are true."

This called forth more applause and exclamations of "It is absurd," "It is inconceivable." Thereupon M. Poincaré added:

"The only proof of Dreyfus' guilt in 1894 consisted of the bordereau. No cabinet minister, nor any member of the council of ministers, heard any mention of the confessions Dreyfus is alleged to have made to Captain Lebrun-Renaud."

M. Cassagnac, the former minister of war, said:

"General Mercier secured these confessions."

General Mercier was minister of war at the time of the Dreyfus trial.

M. Poincaré continued: "Captain Lebrun-Renaud, when he was examined by the president of the council, did not mention the Dreyfus confession."

This statement caused applause to break forth from all parts of the house, during which M. Cassagnac tried to speak, but was howled down.

"Let us hear the hero of the forgery."

M. Poincaré concluded by saying:

"Silence has weighed heavily upon me, and I am now happy to have had the opportunity to tell what I know of the case."

M. De Freycinet said: "The government, on assuming office, found the proceedings pending. We have only one anxiety, and that is to ascertain the truth. We do not object to furnishing the court of cassation with all the evidence available, excepting the evidence involving the national defense."

After another appeal from M. Millerand for a postponement of the Picquart court martial, M. Dupuy, the premier, declared that the Dreyfus affair "must remain purely judicial, as the only means of reaching the truth, which may now be attained."

"We decline to order a postponement of the court martial," said the premier.

To give such an order, even if we had the right, would be to strike a blow at the principle of separation of the public powers. It is not within the province of parliament or the government to adjust the connection which may exist between the Dreyfus and Picquart cases. The government would be calculated to hamper the work of the court of cassation. We will respect the decisions of the law. We are a government of law, and refuse to be a government of arbitrary measures."

The order of the day, approving the statements of the government respecting the principle of the separation of the judicial and executive powers, was then adopted by a vote of 437 to 73.

In the lobby of the chamber Mr. Duvaux's speech was interpreted as an invitation to the court of cassation to ask for the production of the bordereau and other documents in the Picquart case, which the government would immediately produce, thus indirectly leaving the government of the court martial, which the government has refused to grant under duress.

The vote in the chamber enables the anti-Dreyfusites to sing a song of victory, since the Dreyfusite demand was accepted and placed on the Picquart court martial's agenda.

Nevertheless, the whole debate served to advance the cause of Dreyfus. M. Dupuy's speech is admitted on all hands to have been a masterpiece of statesmanship. He did not permit the government to have power to intervene with General Zurlinden, but explained that it would be better for the court of cassation to do so.

Perhaps the most significant feature of the debate after M. Poincaré's revelations, which served to create even closer the bonds of suspicion surrounding General Mercier, is the changing attitude of the chamber toward M. Cassagnac. The latter's speech before the period of the Henry suicide was accepted and placarded throughout the country as proof of the guilt of Dreyfus. Now he is received with the howls of the deputies when he attempts to justify his attitude.

The general belief is that the court of cassation will now demand the Picquart dossier, thus delaying the court martial.

It is reported that General Zurlinden, military governor of Paris, has already resigned. There is also a report that Colonel Picquart will be released on bail.

HAVANA'S FATAL EXPLOSION.
Thirty-eight Persons, Mainly Children, Killed or Injured.

Havana, Nov. 29.—A box of powder exploded yesterday near the Reina factory, resulting in the death of more or less serious injury to 38 persons. Many horses, stables and stores in a private house, which also contained five rooms full of staves and other articles. The careless handling of one of the boxes of powder or of one of the boxes of cartridges caused the explosion.

Nobody was killed outright by the explosion, but three of the injured died of their wounds, and the condition of most of the others is more or less critical. At least 10 are expected to live. It was a miracle that the immediate loss of life was not great.

A man known as Jeronimo Smith had acquired several hundreds of thousands of cartridges, many of an old pattern at the various military depots here, for a mere song, and was arranging to turn his investment to account by removing the gunpowder from such cartridges, with a view to selling at a profit. To this end he hired about 20 boys and girls, with a few men and women, to do the work. The shells are mainly children.

The best save in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, scalds, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures all sores, whether new or old. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by A. W. Wadley.

An Agreeable Concomitant.
Washington, Nov. 29.—Helen Spook, 20-year-old daughter of a German, called at the state department yesterday and had a conference with Secretary Hay on current topics, particularly those growing out of the late war, in the course of which the young lady endeavored to express the most friendly sentiments on the part of Germany concerning the present situation of affairs in Europe. It was significant as an evidence that German officials desire to counteract the reports that Germany is about to assume an attitude of protest and to lay claim to the Sulu archipelago.

Honoring President Iglesias.
Washington, Nov. 29.—President Iglesias, of Costa Rica, was the recipient of two notable courtesies yesterday. Being the guest of honor at a breakfast at the State house, called by prominent officials and South American diplomats, and later being taken by President McKinley for a drive about the city in the White House carriage.

A robust, manly son and a smiling baby-girl meeting in their stroller, in the arms of a woman, what more can any woman want? It is a home that should be granted to every woman. Thousands fall to the wayside because they neglect to look after their health. A woman's health is dependent upon her own health during the period of prospective maternity. The prospective mother should be particularly careful to bear the brunt of maternity. It makes these organs strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It makes the prospective mother strong and cheerful. It insures a baby-constitutionally strong.
