FACTS ABOUT LENSES. Some Things That All Amateur Photographers Should Know.

The focus of the lens is the point distant from the lens where the rays meet. Now, if the ground glass which receives this image is placed either side of this point, it will receive not a point but a spot of light, and the image will be more or less distinct as the glass is removed nearer to or farther from the point where the rays meet.

The centers of the bounding surfaces of a lens are called centers of curvature, and the straight line through the center of curvature and the optical center is called the axis of the lens.
