OUR COUNTRY: First, Last and Parever

On the 14th inst. those Democratic members of the Legislature who favor fusion with the anti-Quay Republicans, for coffensive and defensive operations" at the coming session, will meet in Harrisburg for a conference.

Much is said these days about the great personal sacrifice made by lawyers in accepting a place on the bench. This may be true, yet very few of them resign while many will spend thousands of dollars to secure the position. Besides there is no compulsion for any lawyer to serve in a judicial capacity.

THE NEW DIPLOMACY.

The British Ambassador to France Gives Advice to Frenchmen at a Paris Banquet.

Paris. Dec. 7.—At the silver jubilee banquet of the British Chamber of Commerce here last evening the British ambassador, Sir Edmund J. Monson, referring to the "new diplomacy" which is said to have come into fashion the past year, said it chiefly due to the enterprise of the press, but also it was in a measure due o "mother country innovations and Hill Bar station, where, to the originality of the American mind ever restlessly watching to improve verything-which will perhaps end by improving the diplomatists of the old school off the face of the earth." The ambassador added:

that there is much good in the particular innovation occupying my mind at the present moment. America has invariably sent to England the fines representatives of her intellect and cul-

and I think we may attribute no little degree the happy developments of the friendly feeling between Great Britain and the United States to the manner in which these representatives performed their tasks, especially their public utterances on both sides of the Atlantic."

Sir Edmund then proceeded to dilate n the recent remarkable outburst of public feeling in Great Britain pro-voked by the Fashoda incident. He appealed to France to disabuse herself of all suspicion of unfair intention upon the part of Great Britain; to try to believe there was no general animosity in England toward France, and to meet England on every question at issue with an honest desire for an equitable arrangement. He concluded as follows: "I would earnestly ask officials in power and unofficial exponents of public opinion to discountenance and abstain from a continuance of the policy procure an ephemeral ratification to a short lived ministry, must inevitably perpetuate across the channel an intolerable irritation. I would entreat them to resist the temptation to thwart British enterprise by petty maneuvers, such as the proposal to start colleges as rivals to General Kitchener's projected institution in the reconquered Soudan. Such ill considered provocation might have the effect of converting Great Britain's present policy of forbearance in Egypt into the adoption of measures at which I presume French sentiment is not aiming.'

As such a separation of the points is entirely in line with the expressed desire of the Spanish commissioners there appears to be no reason, now that an agreement has been reached as to all of the protoral points, why these should not be which it is desired they should appear in a treaty and be at once signed by the commissioners. In this case it is be submitted to congress even before

It is believed that it will make toward a speedy creatment of the convention in the senate to limit the peace treaty to the points of the protocol. As to the other points which our commis sioners were instructed to negotiate upon, they may or may not be disposed of at Paris by the present commissioners, but the indications now are that they will be left to adjustment of diplomacy, the Spanish government being under no compulsion whatever, save such as may be exercised by the Spanish people who may suffer from the lack of proper treaty safeguards to regulate conmerce between Spain and the United States. Perhaps conlead the Spanish commissioners to consent to an inclusion in the peace treaty of a clause providing for a renewal of and until other treaties can be agreed upon to take their place.
