Cross Examination Fails to Shake the Testimony of Boggs.

WHERE THE STOLEN MONEY WENT Boggs Had Accounted For Over $50,- ped That Line of Questioning-Kenney Not Involved in His Gambling.

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 8 .- The cross examination of William N. Boggs, the defaulting teller of the First National bank of Dover, was resumed yesterday in the third day of the trial of Senator Kenney, of Delaware, on charges of conspiracy and aiding and abetting in the misapplication of the funds of the institution.

Touching upon Senator Kenney's overdrafts from the spring to fall of 1596, the witness repeated his former testimony that the bank lost no money. Mr. Bird endeavored to have the willness give Senator Kenney's balance in the bank in April, 1897, a few months after his election to the senate. This was objected to, and the objection was sustained by Judge Bradford. The witness was here asked to give in detail his losses from various operations in which he used the bank's funds and lost that money. Finally Judge Brad-ford Interposed and Indicated that the purpose of the line of examination was not attacking the credibility of the wit-

Before this Boggs had accounted for operations at Gloucester and other places from 1899 until his flight: $8,000 in marginal stock operations with Cuth-bert & Co., of Philadelphia; between $10,000 and $15,000 in poker playing; $2,-000 in faro playing; $6,000 in building operations; $2,000 during the political campaign of 1894; $2,000 in a "bucket shop." with Amos Cole & Co., in which Boggs represented the company; $1,-500 in a discretionary pool in Wall street; $1,000 as "hush money" to pre-vent exposure of his card playing, which was paid to L. G. Rosenthal.

the bank. Boggs repeated his statement made in the examination in chief that Sen-ator Kenney had been his counsel prior to October, 1895, when he first told him he was a defaulter, and that it was in his capacity as counsel that the wit-ness called upon him. Mr. Bird then went over the details of that meeting but did not shake the testimony of the witness.

the apparent purpose of scouting the witness' statement that he had no thought or hope of escaping some punishment by testifying. Witness said he had none, and added that he wished it was all over and he had no occasion to be put through a similar ordeal at ach trial.

The proceedings were almost entirely devoted to counsel inquiring of the witness whether he had testified to certain things during the trial in last July. He read from a record of the proceedsome he said he did not remember. Those portions of the previous testitimony in this trial, did not materially Upon redirect examination Boggs said that in the spring of 1897, just before his flight, Senator Kenney knew that Colonel Cooper was responsible with Boggs for the loss of about $25,000 of bank's funds. He also said Senator Kenney had written him a number of letters during 1896, inquiring about the ANTI-SCALPING BILL PASSED. The Measure Goes Through the House by a Vote of [19 to 10].

Washington, Dec. 8. - The house yesterday passed the anti-ticket scalping bill by a vote of 119 to 101. This action is the culmination of a ten years' struggle on the part of the railroads to put an end to the business of ticket scalping. The interstate com-

He then ordered Colonel Garcia not to allow his men to attend the evening procession armed, and said he would permit the continuance of the morning procession only with the distinct understanding that there was to be no firing. The sole reason why the offenders were not arrested was that they were within the cathedral limits at the time.

An overflow meeting was held in the theater, with music and speeches, none antagonistic to the Americans. After-ward a procession of 5,000 people paraded through the principal streets to the house where Maceo was born, and formally affixed a brass tablet com merative of that event.
