Regardless of Age.
The kidneys are responsible for more sickness, suffering, and deaths than any other organs of the body.

A majority of the ills afflicting people today is traceable to kidney trouble. It prevades all classes of society, in all climates, regardless of age, sex or condition.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are unmistakable, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness, pain or dull ache in the back, a desire to urinate often day or night, profuse or scanty supply.

Uric acid, or brick-dust deposit in urine are signs of clogged kidneys, causing poisoned and germ-filled blood. Sometimes the heart acts badly, and tube casts (wasting of the kidneys) are found in the urine, which if neglected will result in Bright's Disease, the most dangerous form of kidney trouble.

All these symptoms and conditions are promptly removed under the influence of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root. It has a world wide reputation for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

No one need be long without it as it is so easy to get at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar. You can have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery, Swamp-Root, and a book telling all about it, both sent to you absolutely free by mail. Send your address to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., and kindly mention that you read this liberal offer in the Shenandoah Herald.

CHICAGO STRIKERS ON STRIKE

Against a Proposed Fifty Year Street Railway Franchise.

THE MAYOR LEADS THE STRIKERS

The Honor, However, Cautions Citizens Against Demonstrations Which Could Be Construed as Lawless—All Factories United in Opposition.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Democrats, Republicans and citizens irrespective of party assembled in mass meeting in various wards of the city last night and declared themselves unalterably opposed to any street railway legislation by the aldermen under the Allen law. Prominent speakers were in attendance at all of the meetings. The ward machinery of the Democratic party took up the cause, just as the executive committee of the Republican party had a few days previous. Chicago has never witnessed such a spectacle before, and it is doubtful if any other city has.

Mayor Harrison called for voters yesterday to help him win the fight against the fifty-year franchise ordinance, on the proposition: "No franchise extension ordinance of any kind until the Allen law is repealed." Yesterday he wrote his name to the following:

"Every political, social, religious or other organization which takes action against the proposed franchise ordinance is requested to send a delegate to the Independent Anti-Boodle League, room 323, Ashland block. Such delegates shall act as members of the league's executive committee, and shall report the necessity of public action, should such necessity arise, to the organization sending him. It is necessary that a permanent and watchful force should follow the people's fight to the end."

In addition to political speakers the league has at its disposal lawyers, judges, ministers, professors, business men and workmen who have offered their services.

Mayor Harrison yesterday put the brakes on some hot headed citizens who talked "ropes" by telling them that in the first place there would be no necessity for any overt acts, because the "gang" could not muster enough votes to pass the ordinance over his veto, and in the second place that all talk of mob law, vigilance committees and escorts to aldermen were out of place and dangerous. He said he was heartily opposed to demonstrations which could be construed as lawless.

A score of men started out last night distributing white badges on which were printed a gibbet, from which dangled a noose. The words printed on the badge were "Anti-fifty-year strikers." Before the theater crowds had reached home these badges were all over the city. One of the men distributing the ribbons said over 200,000 have been printed.

Robbed the Grave.
A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreary condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes swollen, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. I continued in this state for three weeks, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at A. Wascley's drug store.

Spanish Bombard.
Madrid, Dec. 10.—The impartial publisher and inflammatory article on the subject of the Maine charges. The paper intimates that the explosion was the outcome of an intense desire "upon the part of certain factions in the United States to see the outbreak of war." The article adds: "The partisans of the war realized that something startling was necessary to arouse national sentiment. It was a remarkable chance. Almost all the Maine's officers were on board another ship at the time of the catastrophe. Those who charge the Spaniards with being capable of such a monstrous act are well capable of committing it themselves. Spain cannot remain under such an infamous charge."

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 10.—Texas was blizzared sweep "thirty-four night and yesterday. All kinds of weather, rain, hail, sleet, snow and a driving wind, have prevailed. The snowfall in western Texas and the Pan Handle district is very heavy, and traffic has been delayed or stopped. Fourteen inches of snow are reported from some places in the Pan Handle, while in northern, eastern, central and southern Texas the fall is about four inches. All unpecked cotton will suffer greatly, but the snow almost assures a fine wheat crop, of which there is a largely increased acreage. Reports from the Indian Territory say the storm in that section is very severe.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. TWO NOTABLE TRIALS.

Senator Kenney Testifies in His Own Defense at Wilmington.

DENIES STATEMENTS OF BOGGS.

At Philadelphia, Ex-Comptroller Eckels Denies That He Tried to Shield Singery—Ex-Cashier Steele Says False Reports Were "An Oversight."

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 10.—In the trial of Senator Kenney yesterday Edward Room, the expert accountant, continued his testimony. The manipulation of checks by Boggs, the witness said, was possible under what is known as the new system of bookkeeping equally as well as under the old system. He testified to the entering in red ink of what are known as legitimate overdrafts, and said it was impossible for the bank officials to determine by the bank's books the actual overdrafts of the defendant that he had discovered by an examination and comparison of the First National's books with the Farmers' bank. He said the bank lost nothing through the defendant's accounts.

Thomas J. Ewell, a reporter for the Baltimore Sun, testified to the genuineness of an interview with Senator Kenney published June 10, 1895, in which Kenney said that he knew Boggs was in trouble at the bank, and that the latter had told him he was a defaulter. This was in October, 1894. Boggs, in his testimony, made it a year later.

For some unexplained testimony the government rested its case and ex-Artillery General Biggs addressed the jury for the defense. He admitted that Boggs had told Kenney he was a defaulter, but that the defense would prove the amount was not mentioned, and that Senator Kenney advised Boggs, as his counsel, to make good his deficit. From that time on until Boggs' flight in the following year Kenney never discussed the defalcation, and was under the impression he had made the amount good in the meantime.

After recess Senator Kenney took the stand in his own behalf, and until adjournment, over two hours, he told his story of his relations to the defalcating teller. His manner was calm, and he answered the questions with positiveness and emphasis. He pronounced an absolutely false all the important incriminating statements testified to by Teller Boggs. He said he first met Boggs between 1881 and 1883, and was first consulted by him professionally some time prior to 1895.

It was in 1894, and not 1895, he said, that Boggs told him he was in trouble at the bank. He never mentioned the amount nor the names of others who had aided him in looting the institution. Senator Kenney advised him then to see his relatives and have his deficit made good, so as to avoid publicity. The matter, he said, was never again referred to until Boggs' flight in May, 1895.

Coming down to the period named in the indictment, the last eight months of 1895, when Boggs appropriated so much bank money, the witness said he knew, as counsel for Boggs, that the latter had legitimate resources amounting to over $4,000, respectively of his bank salary, from the fall of 1895 to February, 1897. He denied that he ever knew Boggs was withholding witness' checks at any time, or that he was similarly carrying Thomas S. Clark, Colonel Cooper and others.

Touching upon the purchase of stock on margin in connection with Boggs, for which the latter said he paid in $1,000 of bank funds, the senator said: "It was the first stock I ever bought. I was a fad in the state then to buy Day State Gas, but it had no influence over me. Boggs and Colonel Cooper induced me to buy, saying they were on the inside and had a great deal of money out of it. We carried 250 shares, 100 of which was Boggs'. It was bought at 26 and steadily declined. I wanted to close out at a small loss, but Boggs insisted that it was going to 45. The losses I paid on my check, and my under standing was that the $1,000 was deposited by Boggs to my credit from the funds."

He admitted depositing drafts for $5,000 and that they were returned to the bank, but denied that the purpose of the drafts was to tide over an investigation of the books. He believed in their genuineness, and upon being notified that they were not honored he at once made the amounts good.

He denied Boggs' statements in reference to conversations about Boggs' flight to Cuba and the discussion of possible new treaties to shield the former from arrest. He also denied having written letters to Boggs about carrying checks, or that he had ever added such words as "destroy this" or "burn this" to any letters to Boggs.

THE TRIAL OF STEELE.
Ex-Comptroller Eckels Denies That He Tried to Shield Singery.
Philadelphia, Dec. 10.—The prosecution yesterday rested its case in the trial of ex-Cashier Steele, charged with misappropriating the funds of the Chestnut Street National Bank. The first witness of the day was three former directors of the bank—George Ziegler, Jr., Charles A. Porter and Morgan W. Lipper. They stated uniformly that they knew nothing of Singery's overdrafts until they were notified by Comptroller of the Currency Eckels. The Directors met in 1896 and were apprised by Mr. Steele of the real condition of affairs. Mr. Lipper informed the president that he would no longer serve on the board. Mr. Lipper's formal resignation was presented to the board on Jan. 1, 1897. The testimony of the directors was listened to intently by the jurors, and it was effective in showing the mismanagement of the bank.

Mr. Lipper said that Mr. Singery notified the directors when his indebtedness became known to them that the latter (Singery) was a very wealthy man and was entirely ready to pay all his indebtedness and "still have millions left."

Another interesting witness was William C. Smith, who was receiving teller of the institution, District Attorney Beck brought out by this witness, who carried the large cash item of Mr. Singery in his desk, that the indebtedness of the Singery allied interests to the bank was $269,465.64. The bulk of the indebtedness had been carried for five years.

G. G. Elliott, a bookkeeper, who had charge of the ledger in which Mr. Singery's account was kept, strengthened the government's case by stating that very frequently during last year he notified the cashier of Singery's overdrafts.

Lawyer Shields at once opened for the defendant. He made a rather forcible address to the jury, and said he would show from Mr. Steele's own lips that Mr. Singery was believed by the defendant and by every one else by whom he was known as being able to pay every dollar he owed.

The first witness for the defense was ex-Comptroller Eckels. Mr. Eckels said he had never understood that much of Singery's indebtedness was in the form of overdrafts. Had he known the facts he would have ordered the bank closed. His other testimony was to the effect that his attention was called to Mr. Singery's overdrafts in 1894, by Bank Examiner Hunt. In May, 1897, he knew that Singery's allied interests owed the Chestnut Street National bank $269,000, but he believed that this amount was carried as loans and discounts. He never made any endeavor to shield Mr. Singery. As a climax the witness was allowed to make a statement, and, upon being granted permission, he said:

"I wish to say that the statement made by Mr. Shields that I ordered the Singery overdrafts to be carried as loans and discounts was entirely false."

Mr. Shields at once announced that this was a newspaper statement based upon questions he had asked a witness. Judge Butler then put in a word for the government and said they generally get things straight.

William Steele took the witness stand in his own behalf. In reply to a score of questions asked upon cross-examination, as to why he had made false reports to the comptroller regarding the Chestnut Street National bank, and why he had not informed the directors as to the true condition of the bank, he had nothing to say.

At last, when pressed for an answer, he said:
"Well, it must have been an oversight."

Most women approach the critical period of motherhood for the first time with a sense of dread and foreboding that steady inflexible courage and less hand of death should snatch them away before they expect to see the little darling motherless. But Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription fortifies herself with the strength of the elastic endurance of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription need feel one instant's misgiving about either herself or the prospective little one.

This matchless "Prescription" will give her exactly the kind of healthy vitality she needs and at the time she needs it most. It will give elastic endurance to the entire delicate organism involved in motherhood. It will make the coming of baby absolutely free from danger and nearly free from pain.

It will insure the baby's start in life by imparting, through its influence upon the mother, that steady inflexible courage which gladdens a mother's heart. It is the only medicine which can be implicitly relied upon for this purpose; and the only remedy for the mother's inflexible endurance, experienced physician to give perfect health and strength to the delicate, special organism of women.

Dr. Joseph Kerner, of Williams, Colleton Co., S. C., writes: "I have been using your medicine for some time and am happy to say that they have done all that you claim for them. I think they are equal in the world. I would advise all women while in a delicate state to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It shortens the time of birth and makes the labor easier. My wife is the mother of five children and she suffered almost death in each of them until this last one; the time of birth was short and labor easy. From the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser used to sell for $1.50, now it is free. It tells all about the home-treatment of chronic diseases. Several chapters are devoted to the diseases of women. For a paper-covered copy send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing; only to the World's Dispensary, 233 N. 2nd Street, Buffalo, N. Y.; Cloth binding, 31 stamps.
