MRS. BOTKIN'S PERIL

Damaging Evidence Against the Alleged Poisoner.

IDENTIFIED BY TWO WITNESSES.

One Woman Declares She Sold Mrs. Botkin the Handkerchief Sent to Mrs. Dunning's Daughter and Another Identifies Her Handwriting.

San Francisco, Dec. 17-The defense n the Botkin murder trial yesterday ceived the worst setback it has experienced since the case opened. The evidence of two witnesses examined was of such a convincing nature that the chagrin caused by its introduction was plainly written upon the faces of the accused woman and her counsel, The evidence clearly showed that Mrs. Botkin wrote the anonymous letters sent to Mrs. Dunning from this city apprising Mrs. Dunning of the alleged misconduct of her husband, and informing the dead woman that she had grounds for commencing a suit for divorce. The handkerchief which was enclosed in the box of poisoned candy was proven to have been purchased in this city by Mrs. Botkin, another link in the chain of the prosecution.

The first important witness was Mrs.

Grace Harris, who was employed in the City of Paris dry goods store during May and June of this year. Mrs. Har-ris told of the purchase of the hand-kerchief, identified the article which she sold and stated positively that Mrs. Botkin was the purchaser. She was certain of the woman for the reason that Mrs. Botkin so resembled Mrs. Harris' own mother that the similarity caused her to wonder. She was certain of the handkerdief because it bore a price mark which she herself had stamped on the article. Cross examination rather strongtheaed her evidence than otherwise, as it brought out the fact that Mrs. Harris took Mrs. Botkin's address, which the purchaser gave as the Victoria hotel, where she resided up to the time of her arrest.

Mrs. Rouff, an aged woman and a resident of Stockton. Cal., told of her acquaintance with the defendant, which was that of an intimate friend. She alo knew Dunning very well. Mrs. Rouff said that on one occasion she called on Mrs. Botkin at her rooms and the defendant showed her a handkerchief, asking her if it was not a beautiful one for the price. Mrs. Rouff recognized the handkerchief sent to Mrs. Dunning's daughter as being exactly like the one Mrs. Botkin showed The witness then identified Mrs. Botkin's handwriting in the anonymous letter sent to Mrs. Dunning. Mrs. Rouff was familiar with Mrs. Botkin's writing and pointed out its peculiari-ties. When shown the note that was enclosed in the box of candy Mrs. Rouff stated that she believed it to have been written by Mrs. Botkin. She discussed the samples of writing shown her with the ability of an expert. She recog-nized the language of the letters as that of Mrs. Botkin. Witness told of a conversation she had with the defendant on the different poisons and their qualifications for killing mice. Later Mrs. Botkin was taken sick, and while under treatment discussed poisons with her physicians. She thought the action of strychnine too harsh and spoke of arsenic of being mild in its action, and seemed well informed upon its other symptoms.

Mrs. Rouff told of another visit of Mrs. Botkin to her Stockton home. It was made shortly after the perpetra-tion of the crime. Mrs. Botkin was greatly excited and talked about pol-sons, anonymous letters, and made other remarks that puzzled Mrs. Rouff. On one occasion Mrs. Botkin talked to the witness about bleaching hats, and remarked that 'she had heard that arsenic was used for that purpose. Defendant became agitated when in-formed by Mrs. Rouff that she would chased the poison. Upon cross examination Mrs. Rouff intimated that she thought Mrs. Botkin's Illness at the time she asked so many questions of the doctors about poisons was a sham. She stated that at the time Mrs. Bot-kin visited her, after the crime had been committed, she felt certain of Mrs. Botkin's guilt in the matter, but explained her sympathy for her and her care of her during her brief illness as being impelled by a Christian spirit.

THE FATE OF KENNEY

Is Now in the Hands of a Jury of His Peers.

JUDGE'S CHARGE TO THE JURY.

He Calls Attention to the Fact That Boggs Has Been Supported in Statements Made by Him by Other Witnesses and by Documentary Evidence

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 17.—The inno-cence or guilt of United States Senator Richard B. Kenney, of Delaware, charged with conspiracy and aiding and abetting in the misapplication of funds of the First National bank, of Dover, was given to the jury to decide at 6:30 o'clock last night, after a trial lasting II days. Judge Bradford charged the jury for over two hours, and the opinion was generally expressed that it was against the defendant. This is the second time Mr. Kenney has been on trial as a result of the defacation of $107,000 of the bank's money by its teller, William N. Boggs. On the former occasion, in July last, the jury disagreed. Now, as then, the principal witness against him was Boggs.

Referring to Boggs' testimony and the bank's books, and that Boggs' credibillity rested with the jury he said: "It would be very far from your duty if, disrogarding what may seem to you natural and inherently truthful testimony given by him, you should permit yourself to be carried away by fierce denunciation, by heated language and by excited and unwarranted epithets applied to him. On the contrary, his testimony should be carefully considered, scanned and weighed. It is proper to call your attention to the fact that he has been supported in statements made by him on the set. in statements made by him on the witness stand, not only by documentary evidence, but by the testimony of witesses on matters material to the case."
He revised the relations existing between Boggs and Kenney as indicated by the testimony, and went over Kenney's story denying the charges. As to the latter be said: "His testimony is before you, and you must determine how far it is credible. The deep personal interest he has in the result of this case should be considered by you in weighing his evidence and in determining how far and to what ex-tent, if at all, it is worthy of credit Where a witness has a direct personal interest in the result of a case the temptation is strong to color, pervert or withhold the facts."

After further caution to give the risoner the benefit of loubt, but first to be sure it was a loubt born of reason, the judge finished and the jury retired. A verdict is not expected before late today, or possibly before Monday.
