personnel bill are pushing for its con-sideration, and the rules committee will give a day to it during the present week. The only opposition to it is likely to arise from the fact that the reorganization it contemplates involves an additional charge on the treasury of several hundred thousand dollars.

The final vote on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill will be taken today. The opponents of the civil service law succeeded in striking from the bill, while the house was in committee of the whole, the appropriation for the maintenance of commission. But when the vote is taken in the house, where members are obliged to go on record, there is little doubt but that the appropriation will be restored. The diplomatic and consular and the naval appropriation bills are the next budgets to be taken up, and either or both of them may be considered this week. Such time as Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or intervenes will be consumed in the consideration of the bill for the codifica-tion of the laws of Alaska. A Concise Report on the Reeking Filth of Havana.

NECESSITY FOR PROMPT ACTION.

The Investigator Who Sacrificed His Life While Serving the War Department Completed an Exhaustive Report Refore His Death.

Washington, Jan. 9. The war department, division of customs and insular affairs, makes public a very full synop-sis of the lare Colonel George A. Waring's report of his visit to Havana un der the special instructions of the war department, given him early last autumn, to thoroughly inspect the sanisuch recommendations for the future suggested by said inspection. Colonel Waring's investigation was most thorough, and in pursuing it be contracted an illness which resulted in his death a few days after his return to his home

Colonel Waring says he found the street cleaning without an adequate organization or funds and the markets offensive and dangerously fifthy for the distribution of American food with the exception of two, Taron and Colon markets. He also found the machinery used for sweeping the streets ineffective, the garbage being thrown into the streets in entire disregard of the or dinance requiring it to be set in proper receptacles. The work of the contrac-tor was all done in the latter part of the night, and absolutely in the dark. Foul pools were found in the streets In which rubbish and filth had been de-posited, which the contractor was not required to clean. This filth was turn-ed over to the buzzards. Some of the streets in the compact part of the city are paved with large stone blocks, others with Belgian blocks and the re-mainder are unpaved. These streets are filled with dirty holes, which in turn are filled up with house garbage. There is practically no sewerage. In many cases households connect their privatvaults with loose brick or stone drains just under the pavement along their frontage. These allow the liquid filth to leach out into the ground close to the surface, enabling the householder to get out of much hiring of night scavengers to ball out and carry away ac-Slaughtering pens, while superficially

THE LATE COLONEL WARING. washed by copious floodings from the water supply into an adjoining creek and harbor, recking with putrid filth. There is no systematic disposal of garbage and sweepings. It is deposited on the surface in and near the town, where the buzzards feast upon it to their full satisfaction. Bead dogs, cats chickens are left in the streets until the buzzards pick them to the skeleton And all this is done under an intense sun. Bad as these conditions are, they are not comparable with the disgusting conditions of the domestic life. There are fewer than 20,000 houses in the city. Sixteen thousand are of one story, 200 are of three stories and a very few are of four stories, and non higher. At least 12 out of every 13 of the inhabitants live in one story houses, the total population being over 200,000. The average population to the houses is over ten.

In all the compactly built parts of the city the entire lot is covered with the house, there being one or two courts included in the building. In the better class of houses the entrance hall is quite commonly the standing room of the carriage. It opens into the parlor at its side and into the reception room at its rear. Beyond this is a court, then dining room, then a smaller court the kitchen, stable and private vault, practically in one. Sleeping rooms are in the rear of the parlor and at the side of the court dining room. The conspicuous feature of every house is the private vault, and sometimes a sec ond vault for kitchen wastes. The vaults occupy a space practically under and almost in the kitchen. It is rare indeed, that these vaults have a ventilating pipe, so that they beich forth nauseating odors throughout the house, which pervade the streets. Lest the conditions above set forth should fail to do their appointed work of destruction the broad marshes at the southerly edge of the harbor are at hand to furnish their quota of malaria. Into these marshes flow a num ber of water courses, which bear upon their surface the off scourings of a very poor quarter of the town, the effluent of the slaughtering pens and other foul establishments, while a large portion of the flat is used as a dump

Colonel Waring, is of the purest and most excellent character. This, with the winds of the gulf, save the city from being absolutely and unqualified; bad. The city is a veritable plague spot. Its own people, largely immune though they are to yellow fever, which has prevailed in Havana without interruption for 163 years, fall constant victims to the pernicious malaria and depressing influences to which they are always subjected. It needs only the immigration of fresh material, which the enterprise of an American population is sure to bring in, to create a sacrifice such as has not yet been Commerce, says Colonel War ing, will carry the terrible scourge of yellow fever to our shores, until we rise again in a war of humanity and at all costs wipe out an enemy with which no military valor can cope. In conclusion Colonel Waring says: Would it not be wise to accept once the fact that we are confronted with a danger compared with which war is insignificant, and proceed to meet and conquer it while we may? We cannot afford to walt until we have fed it and strengthened it with the lives of our people. The pacessary reforms will call for contry works even now. But every months' delay will make them more costly and more imperative. We can set about these reforms now calmity and judiciously. Later, under the impulse of panie, we should work at far greater disadvantage," Colonel Waring süggests many improvements as absolutely essential to the health of Havana. The cost of these improvements, Colonel Waring declares, will not exceed $10,000,000. It has been estimated, continues Colonel Waring, that single epidemics introfuced into the United States from Havana have cost in the Mississtypi val ley mions $100,000,000 in loss to industries and to commerce, uside from the loss of life, amounting in 1878 and 1879 to 13,911, in addition to the enormous cost of the sickness of those who recovered. Colonet Waring further states that in his judgment the complete execution of the work indicated would completely eradicate yellow fever from Havana for all time, would relieve it from the malaria, which is now so fatal, and would reduce its normal death rate from its present high figure (not far from 50 per thousand) to about 20 per thousand. He says the work must all be done before June 1, 1899. If it is not all done there is reason to fear that yellow fever will be rife in Havana next season, because of the large number of unprotected persons who would go

Shortly after Saturday midnight, with a rour that could be dred acres of the hill, anywhere from 10 to 50 feet in depth, crashed into the Frazer, damming it completely and sending the water in torrents over the fertile Nicola valley. The course of the river was changed completely. Now the Frazer, which, owing to the flat a broad majestic, but shallow stream, is fully half a mile out of its course. The district, is sparcely settled, and no lives have been lost, so far as known. Barns and houses, however were caught in the flood and carried away, and thousands of acres of var-uable land will never be reclaimed from the muddy waters of the Frazer
