In the death of Dr. John T. Carpenter, of Pottsville, the medical profession of this county loses one of its most active and learned members. He contributed largely to medical literature, and speaking of him in this connection calls to mind the experience a resident of Pottsville had while solourning in Germany. While in that country he was taken sick, and in conversation with the attending physician the latter remarked that he had just finished reading an able article by Dr. Carpenter, reproduced by one of the medical journals of Germany. The American traveler was somewhat surprised to learn that his townsman had gained international reputation.
