DEEM'S ESCAPE.

A Letter From Camp McKenzie Gives the Details of It.

A letter received from Camp McKenzie, Augusta, Ga., dated the 22nd inst., gives particulars concerning the escape of Frank Deem from the detail that was taking him to the camp as a deserter.

It is stated that after Sergeant Henry Huntington and Private Philip O'Brien took charge of Deem at the Potomac jail they immediately started southward with him. They knew the character of their prisoner and resolved to take no chances that might tend to allow an escape. Deem was handcuffed continually on the journey, except during a short time at lunch in Washington. During the evening the journey was resumed. At about 1 a. m. when the train was about 100 miles south of Washington, and running fast, Deem asked permission to go to the private closet. O'Brien accompanied him and held the door open, the place not being large enough to admit two. When Deem turned to come out O'Brien stopped back a little to allow the prisoner to get as quick as a flash Deem pressed the button which caused the window in the closet to fly up and Deem sprang headfirst through the opening. The windows of the cars have an automatic attachment by which they can be instantly raised by pressing a button.

Immediately following the escape O'Brien sought Huntington and both men implored the conductor to stop the train, so that they might search for the prisoner. The escape took place at Orange. The conductor refused to stop the train until Barboursville, eleven miles distant, was reached. After a delay of several hours Huntington and O'Brien were able to get a train to take them back to Orange, but no trace of Deem could be found after their arrival there.

Two traveling salesmen on the train from which Deem escaped, and who witnessed the bold act, were moved by the effect upon O'Brien and voluntarily furnished him with their names and addresses, expressing their willingness to testify in behalf of the private who would be held. They will testify that there was no neglect of duty on O'Brien's part. They said that no person could have prevented an escape under similar circumstances. Latest reports from Orange and the vicinity state that no trace of Deem has been found.

ATTACKED BY BOYS.

Warrants Based Upon An Assault on a Synagogue.

During a wedding ceremony in the Kehobis Israel synagogue on West Oak street yesterday afternoon a crowd of boys assembled in front of the edifice and created great disorder by throwing snow, ice and stones at the people entering. Members of the congregation repeatedly appealed to the boys to desist, but they only increased the attacks and several people suffered injury. One woman had both her eyes blackened by a piece of ice thrown by one of the boys and several people had their hats destroyed. A stone was thrown through the transoms over the front entrance, passed over the heads of the assembled people, and out through the large stained glass window at the rear of the church. Eight panes of stained glass were shattered and the damage to the edifice amounts to about $125. This morning Messrs. David Levine and Hyman Rubiniski, two trustees of the synagogue, appeared before Justice Stoneaker and swore out warrants for the arrest of Martin Monaghan, Alvin Richards, Garfield Davenport, Millard Smith and Harry Felt. The two first named boys were caught on the scene by Constable Bolin, but were discharged after spending a couple of hours in the lockup. It is stated that several boys in addition to those above named will be arrested.

FATALLY MUTILATED.

A Brakeman at Mahanoy Plane Crushed Beneath a Car.

John Reiff, of Gordon, employed as a brakeman by the P. & R. Railway Company, was horribly mutilated at the Mahanoy plane last night and died at the mahonery hospital at 7:30 o'clock this morning. He was 26 years old and single.

Reiff was assigned as a car catcher at the top of the plane. When loaded cars were hoisted to the top it was his duty to jump on them and run them into position in the yard. The unfortunate man attempted to jump on a car, the box of which was covered with ice. Reiff's foot slipped from the box and he fell beneath the rapidly moving car. His right leg was cut off at the hip joint, the left leg just above the ankle, and the right arm at the shoulder joint. It was surprising that the victim survived the injuries at all.

The Philadelphia birds won 9 out of the 7 battles, Shenandoah winning the fourth. It is stated that $2,500 to $3,000 was lost on the main in stakes and wages.

QUAY WANTS THIRTEEN!

The Fateful Number Hovering Around the Senator's Name

SCHUYLKILL LOOKING FOR A PLUM.

Druggist Paul W. Houck, of Town, Urged as a Member of the State Pharmaceutical Board—A Break Anticipated at Harrisburg Tomorrow.

Special to EVENING HERALD.

Harrisburg, Jan. 25.—Playing politics for a national stake is a decidedly interesting game, and only experts are served with the cards. The boys who pull the strings in the districts, wards, or even counties, and who are regarded as wonderful political engineers in and about their own homes, are scarcely allowed to keep score in the big game which is being played here in the contest for a successor to Matthew Stanley Quay. This is made plain by the small figure cut by the "statesmen" from Schuylkill, who came here in the interest of their favorite, Congressman Brunm, Sub-Treasurer Finney, Hon. Elias Davis, "Jack" Whitehouse and his side-partner, "Gus" Schrinck, and a few other lesser lights, who are looked upon at home as "big guns," were here and cut a very small figure. In fact, they were merely on lookers.

THE FATEFUL THIRTEEN.

The joint session of the Legislature developed no new sensation to-day, outside of the introduction of a new candidate, Ritter, and the increase of Widener's vote from 2 to 3. The result is as follows:

Senator	To-day's Yesterday's	Vote.	Vote.
Quay	104	106
Dallzell	70	80
C. W. Stone	7	15
Stewart	7	8
Huff	5	5
Irwin	2	2
Tubbs	2	2
Rice	2	2
Grow	2	2
Markle	1	1
Smith	2	2
Widener	2	3
Ritter	2	2
Total	234	234

There were eighteen members paired and absent. Senator Quay still hovers around the fateful thirteen, being again that many votes short of an election.

The Quay people have now given it out that a break will come tomorrow, but their prophecies in this respect have failed to materialize so often in the past, that the public now places very little credence in them.

MORE CARDS IN THE DECK.

A careful scrutiny reveals the fact that all the cards in the deck have not been dealt yet, and scenes far more sensational than the accompanying revolt against the alleged arbitrary ruling of the Lieutenant-Governor last Wednesday are likely to develop before the deadlock is dissolved. The Quay leaders claim to have a few ace up their sleeves, and when they show them down they promise to take the opposition by their feet. They have been saying this for a week, and if it doesn't soon come to pass their people will become restless and demand a show of their hand.

DEMOCRATS HOLD THE KEY.

The Democrats continue to hold the key to the Senatorial situation. While the election of a Democrat to succeed Senator Quay is out of the question, it is evident that nobody can be elected to the office until they abandon their caucus nominee, Mr. Jenks, and go over to some Republican candidate.

ROOM FOR A SHENANDOAHIAN.

Paul W. Houck, a leading druggist of Shenandoah, and an ardent supporter of Quay, was here yesterday. Mr. Houck's deputy superintendent of Public Instruction, and his elder brother is the recognized Quay leader in Lebanon county. His friends here have started a boom for Mr. Houck to secure one of the plums held up by Governor Stone. The position sought is that of a member of the State Pharmaceutical Board. Accompanied by his brother, ex-State Senator Coyle and a few other friends, they called upon Governor Stone last evening, and presented their claims. The reception they received and the assurances given them warrants the prediction that Mr. Houck will land. He is in every way qualified for the position and the appointment would meet with much favor, so far as the writer is able to learn.

THE DEMOCRATS.

Colonel James M. Galley, the Democratic leader in an interview, said that the Democratic legislators were not on the market, and that they will stand by Jenks until Quay hauls down his flag. "At no time, under any circumstances," said he, "will a single Democrat vote for, or in any way assist, in the re-election of Quay."

Democratic Senatorial Candidate Jenks said: "So long as my candidacy serves to carry out the principles of the Altona platform I shall remain where I have been placed."

Ex-Judge Gordon, of Philadelphia, issues a statement in which he declares that Senator Quay will never get a single Democratic vote.

At noon today the two houses met in joint session, and Mr. Kean was formally elected to the seat now held by Senator Smith.

MAY PROVE A MURDER!

Three Men Held For Beating a Hazing-Ton Peddler.

WERE PREVIOUSLY ARRESTED!

But Released Upon Payment of Costs and Their Victim Has Since Become Prostrated Through Injuries He Received. Committed by Justice Toomey.

Frank Johanna, Anthony Soljak and Joseph Pissnik, Hungarians of Trenton, near Park Place, were arraigned before Justice Toomey last night on a charge made by Mrs. Mary Admy, a Syrian woman of Hazleton. She alleged that her husband was terribly beaten by the defendants.

The husband of the woman, Salime Admy, is a peddler. About two weeks ago he visited the boarding house of the defendants at Trenton and displayed his wares for sale. One Johanna, one of the defendants, stole one of the instruments from the pack. The peddler protested and Johanna, in retelling the charge of theft, wanted to beat Admy. The boarding boss interfered and the peddler was allowed to depart unmolested.

It seems that the three accused men were not disposed to let the matter drop and they followed Admy some distance from the house, and assaulted him. It is alleged that Johanna struck the peddler, a powerful blow on the head with a club, inflicting a gash in the scalp that required seven stitches. A Hungarian who witnessed the assault went to the peddler's assistance and gave him shelter and treatment. That night there was a suit before Justice Neil T. Brennan, of Mahanoy township, and the three defendants in the present case were arraigned on Admy's complaint, but subsequently released on paying $15 costs.

On Monday Mrs. Admy appeared before Justice Toomey and presented a certificate sworn to by Dr. Lawrence Smith, of Hazleton, setting forth that the woman's husband was confined to bed by the effects of the injuries received in the assault at Trenton, and that his condition was dangerous. The patient suffered from delirium at times and it was feared his brain was affected.

When the accused were arraigned last night they made no direct denial of the charge against them, but protested that they had already been arrested and fined. Justice Toomey said that would not prevent their arrest since their victim was in a serious condition, and they could not avoid what may yet prove a charge of murder by simply paying a fine. As the physician in attendance had sent a second certificate, however, stating that the victim's condition was improved, the Justice said he would accept bail. He asked Johanna to furnish a $1,000 bond and the bail of the other defendants was fixed at $500 each. They were committed in default.
