SAFE BLOWN OPEN.

Four Masked Men Visit Two Business Places in Town.

Four masked men who are still at large made one successful and two unsuccessful attempts at robbery during the early morning hours yesterday, and at one place wrecked a safe without securing the booty they anticipated. The places visited were William H. Zimmerman's butcher shop and Edna Dipple's jewelry store on South Main street, and the residence of Thomas Bell, on North Market street. They failed to get into the latter place. At exactly five o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Zimmerman and his family and neighbors were violently aroused from their slumbers by the report and shock of terrific explosion in the Zimmerman residence. Mr. Zimmerman jumped from his bed and hurried down stairs, but when he reached the door of the dining room at the foot of the staircase leading from the first to the second story, he found it barricaded. He was a prisoner in the doorway. He hurried up stairs again and shot out one of the front windows for help.

Among the neighbors aroused was Yenial Shoenaker, who resides next door to Zimmerman's building. Shoenaker had just returned from work at Lamb's millery and was out upon the street immediately after hearing the report of the explosion. He was under the impression that a boiler had exploded in the Zimmerman house. He went into the butcher shop. There was no light in the place. As he groped towards the rear of the store he heard the command, "Hold up your hands!" Shoenaker thought Zimmerman or one of his friends was playing a joke on him and he laughingly replied, "I always have my hands up."

At the same instant Shoenaker received a blow on the top of the head that fell him unconscious to the floor. When Shoenaker revived he found himself lying upon the pavement in front of the shop. How he got there he does not know. He was unconscious for a short time, however. Shoenaker returned to his house and then went back to the shop, accompanied by his son, Frank. They went into Zimmerman's dining room and found the door of the store barricaded by a couch and two chairs. These were removed and Zimmerman released from his captivity. An inspection of the place then followed. The safe in the small room at the rear of the shop was found to be open. The door was not blown off, but was badly holed at the bottom and was still held fast by the bolts. A desk near the safe was found broken open and the wagon cash boxes had been robbed of their contents, which only consisted of a small amount of change, however. About a dozen postage stamps were taken, but a number of revenue stamps were left undisturbed.

An inspection of the dining room and kitchen showed that the burglars had feasted before beginning operations. The tables and floors were strewn with particles of bread, pies, pork and beans, sausage which the burglars had procured in the shop, and other eatables. All that had been left in the pantry the night before was either remained or strewn about the premises. Two pairs of gold spectacles, a silver watch, two pocket-books containing $5 and a few other things of minor value were carried away. Mr. Zimmerman says $150 will cover his loss, including the wrecked safe, George M. Boyer, bartender in McAdoo's cafe, and Adam Campbell, Mr. Zimmerman's driver, saw the four burglars run down Main street as far as Cherry street, the darkness prevented the witness from seeing whether the burglars continued down the street, or turned into Cherry street. Shoenaker says the men were masked by wearing huddiechiefs over their faces below the eyes. They are described as being young men.

The burglars entered Shoenaker's stable on Pearl alley. They broke the lock on the door. After passing through the stable to Shoenaker's yard they jumped over the fence into Zimmerman's yard. After opening the doors of the latter's stable, to give a clear road for escape in case of detection, the burglars forced one of the kitchen windows. The marks of a powerful Jimmy are plain on the glass and still. Before beginning operations the burglars also unlocked the front door of the shop, giving them a clear way at the front also.

Duall's jewelry store is located a square below Zimmerman's place, and on the same side of the street. Entrance to the place was gained from the rear. A piece of glass was cut from the kitchen window and an arm was put through the opening to unlock the kitchen door. Duall does not know the time the burglary was committed. He awoke at six o'clock yesterday morning and found that every room in the house had been ransacked without disturbing any of the four occupants. Some clothing had been carried down stairs and left. All change Duall had in his clothing was taken. Several pairs of spectacles and some silver knives and forks were missing from the store. The loss amounts to about $50. An examination of the safe in the store showed that the surface of the door had been coated with oil, indicating that the burglars had prepared to blow open the safe. A small candle was found on a show case near the safe. It is believed the burglars took flight from the noise of passing footsteps outside.

Nearby many were surprised to hear of the burglaries through the police. They were summoned to Zimmerman's by a messenger immediately after the situation of affairs had been discovered. The police say they spent the greater part of the night and morning, up to the time they went off duty at 4:43 a. m., in trying to run down the four men they suspected would undertake just such work as was done. Night Watchmen O'Hara and Crary were with them on the hunt. Once they thought they had bagged the game, shortly after three o'clock two men accompanied to get the Thomas Bell's house on North Market street. The police say they got a trail, but the burglars were evidently forewarned and got a good start before the police arrived at the house. The two burglars made their escape. The police found a pair of rubber overboots one of the burglars left behind.

It is believed that the gang is the same one that robbed the Hazeltine house in the Catawissa valley. The police claim they know the four men and will soon have some of them in custody. One is alleged to be a red-haired man who was chased out of the town about a year ago. He is a non-resident, and it is believed he has already skipped. It is quite possible, the police think, that another of the gang accompanied him, but the other two will hardly go very far.

ALL QUIET AT MANILA.

Little Demonstrations by the Rebels Are Quickly Suppressed.

Manila, Feb. 20.—Scouts claim to have seen General Pio del Pilar, who commanded the rebels at Paco, with his arm in a sling, directing the troops. General Montenegro, the insurgent commander-in-chief, is reported to be personally conducting the movements in front of General King's line at San Pedro Macati. The signal corps is arranging signals with the navy for future operations on the left.

With the exception of the port of Manila, trade with Philippine ports is still blocked. It is a non-resident, and it is believed he has already skipped. It is quite possible, the police think, that another of the gang accompanied him, but the other two will hardly go very far.

Mrs. MARGIE BABCOCK, 176 Second St., Grand Rapids, Mich., had ovarian trouble with its attendant aches and pains, now she is well. Here are her own words: "Your Vegetable Compound has made me feel like a new person. Before I began taking it I was all run down, listless and sleepless most of the time, had pains in my back and side, and such terrible headaches all the time, and could not sleep well nights. I also had ovarian trouble. Through the advice of a friend I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and since taking it all troubles have gone. My monthly sickness was so painful, but have not had the slightest pain since taking your medicine. I cannot praise you too much, my husband and friends are so much changed in me. I look so much better and have some color in my face."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Garret McKernan Died Yesterday From a Paralytic Stroke.

Garret McKernan, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of the town, and who was prominently identified with its municipal affairs several years ago, died at his home on North White street at two o'clock yesterday morning from the effects of a paralytic stroke, which he received on Friday afternoon, last. Mr. McKernan was in his 70th year. He had been a sufferer from rheumatism for many years. He was born in the county of West Meath, Ireland, in 1820, and came to this country in April, 1849, calling in Carbon county. He remained there until 1860, when he moved to this town, and continued to reside here from that time. Mr. McKernan was active and prominent in local political circles and served as Councilman during the years 1870, '77 and '78. He subsequently served three consecutive terms as Supervisor of the borough. Advancing age and the rheumatic affliction then forced him to retire from active pursuits, and he lived in retirement for several years in a comfortable home. Mr. McKernan took an active interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the borough before his retirement and, with John Gauthier, Sr., and Samuel Gay, both deceased, was appointed a committee to go to New York and purchase the first steam fire engine acquired by the borough. The deceased is survived by his wife, Mary, and seven children, Edward McKernan, now with the U. S. infantry at Manila; Peter, of McAdoo, Geo. and John, two prominent business men of Pottsville; Mrs. E. L. Talley, a directress of the Home Friendly Society, Baltimore, Md., and located there; Mrs. James North, of now, and Miss Mary, residing at the family residence. The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning, leaving the residence at 9:30 o'clock. Solemn requiem mass will be celebrated in the Annunciation church at 10 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Annunciation cemetery.

William Lloyd, aged 63 years, a cigar maker by trade, died in Pottsville on Saturday. He was a member of the G. A. R. Funeral took place this afternoon.

The remains of Joseph Nattress, who died at North Tiverton, R. I., were interred at Girardville, his former home, yesterday afternoon. He leaves a wife and two children.

The funeral of James Hill, a former resident of town, took place in Philadelphia this morning.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Knott, wife of George Knott, Sr., took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence on West Centre street. Services were held in All Saints' Protestant Episcopal church, Rev. G. W. VanFossen officiating, and the remains were interred in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

The late bearers were Charles Haskins, Jeremiah Roughey, Susan Beyer, William Harby, William A. Davis, Albert Bromie.

William D. Thomas, a prominent citizen of Lansford for many years, died at his home there on Saturday morning, after a two weeks' illness of the grip.

Mrs. James Kane, an aged resident of Mahanoy township, died at her home in Jackson Saturday, after a lingering illness. The funeral of Mrs. Kate Phalen took place at Mahanoy City this morning. Requiem mass was celebrated in St. Canisius church.

Catholic Collections. The Catholic Times publishes the result of the collection for the Holy Father in the churches of the Philadelphia Archdiocese. The city churches gave $5,006.44, and the country churches $2,323.80, a total of $7,330.24. St. Patrick's, Philadelphia, leads the city churches with $512.85, and St. Paul's, Reading, the country churches, with $144.52. The amounts contributed by the local churches follow: Annunciation R. V. M., $32; St. Casimir's, $45.94; St. Stanislaus, $17.77; St. Mary Church, $15.80; St. George's, $9.10; total for Shenandoah, $118.81.

The Centrals Plan. Nearly every town in the county has trouble with the electric railways about the removal of snow from their tracks. The authorities at Centrals, adopted a novel and somewhat effective plan. The day after the blizzard a force of men was employed to remove the snow drifts. They could not throw it upon the pavements, and there was but one outlet. It was piled six feet high on the electric railway tracks. The latter company will have a merry time removing it, unless they wait for Old Sol to do the job.
