COYLE AND MOYLES!

Star Witnesses Enter Sweeping Contradictions of the Charges.

BOTH SAY THEY ARE INNOCENT!

Coyle's Meeting With Engler and His Relations With One Martin J. Lawlor. Presented to the Committee in a New Light.

Harrisburg, Mar. 22.—The men charged with attempted bribery were given an opportunity to present their side of the controversy, and ex-Senator T. M. Moyles and ex-Senator John J. Coyle, of Schuylkill county, now of Philadelphia, flanked by an array of able counsel, were the star witnesses. They denied bill that has been charged of their efforts to bribe members of the Legislature in connection with the McCarrill bill.

Both witnesses were under great strain, and Coyle was nervous, while Moyles' face was flushed. Both men denied everything of a criminal nature, and expressed the belief that they were victims of a conspiracy.

Mr. Moyles said he was vitally interested in the McCarrill bill because he was indicted in the Luzerne county courts for alleged conspiracy, and admitted that he requested Mr. Coyle to go out into the mountains of the capitol with him to discuss the bill. He said he argued with Mr. Coyle to support the bill because it was a good Democratic measure, and offered to prepare a statement for him giving his reasons for favoring the bill. While the witness was dictating the statement a motion was made to adjourn the house to prevent a reconsideration of the bill and nothing further was done.

Moyles practically admitted that with the exception of an offer of money and Coyle's part in the transaction, the testimony of Representative Criss under oath was correct as to his interviews with him.

Ex-Senator John J. Coyle not only denied that he had ever offered money or place to any member of the Assembly, but he swore that he had never asked any Republican or Democrat either to vote for Senator Quay or for the McCarrill bill or for any motions bearing on the McCarrill bill, but he could not explain how he would be able to help Quay and the McCarrill bill if he had never asked anybody.

In answer to the general question as to what reason he could assign for four reputable and responsible members, Representatives Engler, Criss, Miller and Johnson, swearing positively that he had offered to reward for their vote when he knew them slightly, Mr. Coyle replied that it must be because of the rewards offered; he knew of no other reason. He denounced as false all of the charges, and denied that he ever told Engler that Archbishop Ryan was interested in the McCarrill bill.

Coyle testified that he came to Harrisburg on December 30, had a room at the Locust Hotel, and that the door between the rooms was usually open. He said he recalled the conversation suggested by the writing of a prescription, but he could not explain how he would be able to help Quay and the McCarrill bill if he had never asked anybody.

A sweeping question by Mr. Young, regarding bribery or attempted bribery or indirectly, was answered by Coyle denying he had ever given anything out of the way or offered money or anything of any kind.

This concluded the examination and the committee adjourned until to-day at 10 o'clock.

THE CRUSH WAS FATAL.

A Miner Dies While on His Way to the Hospital.

Louis Baroski, the miner who was crushed by a fall of coal at the Knickerbocker colliery at noon yesterday, died before reaching the hospital. The unfortunate man was crushed beneath a lump of coal that was so large the combined efforts of four men were required to remove. His left leg and arm were broken, and he was internally injured. Dr. Stein, who gave the man temporary treatment before the departure for the hospital, says that death was probably the result of shock. Baroski was a single man and resided at Yatesville. The remains were sent there last night.

Is It Malaria or Alum?
(Popular Science Monthly.)

Langour, loss of appetite, indigestion and often feverishness are the common symptoms of a physiological condition termed "malaria." All these symptoms may be and frequently are the effects of the use of alum in the preparation of food.

There is no question about the poisonous effect of alum on the system. It obstructs digestion, prostrates the nerves, coagulates and de-vitalizes the blood. All this has been made clear, thanks to physicians, boards of health, and food commissions. So "highly injurious to the health of the community" does the eminent head of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Barker, consider alum in baking powders, that he says "their sale should be prohibited by law."

Under these circumstances it is worth the while of every housewife to employ the very purest and the most reliable of her family.

A pure cream of tartar baking powder, which is the only kind that should be used, ought to cost about 45 cents to 50 cents a pound. Therefore, if you are paying much less, something is wrong; if you are paying less or less per pound, the powder is certainly made from alum.

Always bear these simple facts in mind when purchasing baking powder.

MINE TO BE REVIVED!

Extended Operations to be Started at the Continental Colliery.

RICH DEPOSIT OF COAL FOUND!

After a Shaft and Three Tunnels Are Opened and a Breaker-Built Employment Will be Given to Several Hundred Men and Boys.

One of the most important of recent mining undertakings in this region is being developed at the old Continental colliery, near Centralia. The colliery is owned by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company and was abandoned several years ago, the breaker being removed. Tests during the past few months convinced the company that there is a large deposit of an excellent quality of coal in the lower and undeveloped strata, and that it can be secured at moderate cost.

In pursuance of the plans decided upon when these conditions were found to exist, it was decided to sink a shaft near the site of the old breaker, and the contract for this work has been awarded to M. R. Sims, son of Mine Inspector William Sims, of town, and Alexander McDonald, of Mahanoy City.

The shaft is to be three hundred feet deep and it will extend several miles. A large breaker will be erected at the shaft to receive the output. A force of company men are now at work sinking to the rock and the contract is expected to begin their work about May 1st, next. The contract includes the driving of three tunnels and the company is looking forward to one of the best developments it has in hand. The people of Centralia are giving employment to several hundred men and boys, and a boon to the town. The new workings will more than make up for the loss the town sustained by the abandonment of the colliery at that place several months ago.

An Ugly Fact.

From Mahanoy City Record.

The people of Mahanoy Plane have a very ugly fact right in their midst; a fact ominous and disagreeable. A week or two ago the bottom dropped out of the main street of the town. It was filled up, or apparently filled up, by the Lawrence Coal Company, the subsidence of whose mines caused the giving way of the surface. A day or two later the dirt that had been dumped in the hole disappeared, and it was again filled up, and it has again gone down leaving a yawning, ugly chasm, that looks even more unpleasant than it did in the beginning. That is the fact that exists to disturb the mind of every resident of Mahanoy Plane.
