POLITICAL POINTS.

Peter Flanigan, the well-known and successful merchant of Ashland, is a candidate for County Commissioner, and his name will be presented to the Democratic convention. He is making an active canvass.

The vote of Shenandoah in the next Democratic county convention will be 3183, a high increase. Who will be the next superintendent of schools is a question worrying some of the local politicians.

It looks very much as though Recorder Emanuel Jenkin will have no opposition for re-nomination. And he deserves it; because there is no more efficient and faithful official on the bill.

George Republicans of Northumberland county will hold their county convention on May 22. The Quay people scored another point in carrying the primaries in Lancaster county on Saturday last. The "ants" so far have not elected one delegate to the state convention.

It is said in political circles that E. J. Brennan, of town, will be a candidate for County Commissioner. The fall campaign and the scramble for office is well under way, and when the nominating conventions of the two great political parties get down to business this spring, there will be no lack of material on either side, out of which to construct tickets.

South-of-the-mountain candidates are multiplying for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner. In addition to John L. Stauder, the present incumbent, of Schuylkill Haven, the candidates already in the field are: John Goss, also of Schuylkill Haven; L. J. Brown, of Cresonia; F. R. Webber, of South Manheim, and Elias Roeder, the Summit Station merchant.

The next political contest in order is the election of state delegates. This district, because of the reduced party vote last fall, is entitled to but one delegate. Mahanoy City has a candidate for Prothonotary in the person of John T. Quinn, a lifelong Democrat.

Should Quay fall of re-election many of the plans of one or two Republican leaders of Pottsville will be badly shattered. Democratic candidates continue to multiply. His candidacy for County Treasurer with friends at the county seat, remarks the Pottsville Chronicle.

The illness of Senator Losh greatly retards the enactment of certain measures in which he is personally interested. Democratic candidates continue to multiply. This town has already produced three, with more to follow.
