SUPT. LEWIS RESIGNS.

He Will be Succeeded by Robert Quinn, of Shamokin, Next Saturday.

On Saturday next, the 13th inst., Robert Quinn, at present superintendent of the Shipman Coal Company, near Shamokin, and who has been most efficiently discharged for the past year, coming from Pottsville, will assume the superintendency of the William Penn colliery, connected with the Susquehanna Coal Company. Mr. Quinn succeeds William H. Lewis who has held that position ever since the colliery was opened, about twenty-eight years ago. Mr. Lewis retires.—Mt. Carmel Star.

Inquiry at Wm. Penn this morning confirmed the report as to Mr. Lewis' resignation, and it will take effect on the day given above. Mr. Lewis has not yet decided upon his future, but will not rest for a while before determining whether or not he will remove from Wm. Penn. He has "been in the harness" for many years and has earned a well deserved rest. When it became known among the employes that the present superintendent had tendered his resignation there was a general expression of regret, as Mr. Lewis has always been held in high esteem by those employed at the colliery. There are many, outside of the residents of Wm. Penn, who would regret to see him leave the region.

Appointed Lieutenant.

Among the appointments of Second Lieutenants in the regular army announced yesterday as made by the President was that of Joseph W. Beacham, Jr., of Brookings, nephew of Miss Sallie Beacham, of West Oak street, town. Lieut. Beacham is a graduate of Cornell, and upon the organization of the Astor Battery last year for service in the war with Spain enlisted in that corps and served with it in the campaign which resulted in the capture of Manila, returning with the Battery as its First Sergeant to which office he had been promoted for gallant service in action.

Suit Against the Borough.

The Jeanesville Iron Works has brought suit against the Borough of Shenandoah for the sum of $225.00 and interest. The claim is for furnishing a hot-water heater and three Mc'lave blowers at the time the pumps were furnished, in December, 1894. The members of the original water committee rejected the claim of the company, contending that the heater and blowers were provided for in the original contract, and not as extras claimed by the company. The suit is made returnable to the next term of the court, before Solicitor Burke and the attorney for the company, John R. Coyle, Esq., at the suggestion of the latter, have agreed to submit the question to arbitration with a view to a settlement. The hearing will likely be held on the 27th inst.

Miss Morgan's Hearty Reception.

Miss Edith Morgan received much high praise for her rendition of the leading part in "The Woman of Samaria," which was given by the male choir of Nativity Church, South Bethlehem, last week. The cantata was attended by a large audience chiefly made up of the musical world of the Bethlehem, who all spoke in terms of the work and especially of Miss Morgan's part of it. The high tenor solo sung by Miss Morgan, on account of the illness of the leading tenor, was particularly commended.

Fortune for Mrs. Charles Beddall.

Mrs. Charles N. Beddall, a former resident of town, and now residing at Tamsqua, in the course of a few weeks will come into possession of the snug sum of $250,000. This big fortune was bequeathed to her by an uncle and the will containing the provision was probated in the Philadelphia courts last week. The settlement of the will is now pending. Quite an interesting story is connected with the bequest.

Water Company Pays Up.

The Pottsville Water Company has paid over to the heirs of the late Dr. Shannon, of Schuylkill Haven, the sum of $46,000, which covers the amount of damages awarded in the suit for possession of the Indian Run water supply, recently decided by the Supreme Court.

FOUND IN A TUNNEL!

A Telegraph Operator Found Lying Unconscious on the Track.

OVERCOME BY SULPHUR FUMES!

The Man Attempted to Walk Through the Tunnel Immediately After the Passage of an Engine—He Was Picked up by a Track Walker.

The timely arrival of a track walker saved a life in the Mahanoy tunnel of the P. & E. Railway last evening. The person whose life was almost sacrificed was M. M. Burke, the veteran telegraph operator at the eastern end of the tunnel. Mr. Burke is 65 years old and the greater part of his life has been spent in railroading, but his experience last night was the most thrilling he has ever met.

After supper Mr. Burke concluded to visit friends at Mahanoy City, and to have a shorter and more level route he concluded to walk through the tunnel. A train had passed through the place but a short time before Mr. Burke started on his journey, but he gave this no attention, believing that the fumes of sulphur from the engine would have sufficiently cleared through the vents in the tunnel and leave the atmosphere clear for his passage.

The man walked to the center of the tunnel without experiencing any inconvenience from the fumes, but at that point a feeling of dizziness and weakness attacked him. He hesitated a moment or two in doubt, and then summed up all his strength to reach the western end of the tunnel. How far he proceeded he cannot tell, and he does not remember dropping to the track. His last recollection is of the determination to reach the end of the tunnel for which he started.

A track walker started from the western end of the tunnel to walk through it and make his customary inspection. This was about half an hour after the time Mr. Burke started on his journey, and fortunately but a short time after the latter was overcome. When about two-thirds of the distance between the western end and the eastern end of the tunnel the track walker found Burke prostrate form. The lower limbs were stretched across the rail of one track and the head over a rail of the other, so that in the event of a rescue not being made, a train passing in either direction would have mangled the body. The track walker tried to arouse Burke but could not. He then half dragged and half carried the unconscious form to the western end of the tunnel. Burke revived under the influence of the fresh air, but not sufficiently to walk to his home. Last night his condition was serious, but to-day he was reported out of danger.

To the Public.

In conformity with a spirit of economy adopted by the Board of Directors of the Soldiers' Monument Park Association of Shenandoah, Pa., they have decided to appeal to the male citizens of the borough for aid to clear and beautify the site for the proposed monument in a manner beneficial to the association and at very little cost and inconvenience to the contributors, namely: By having offers from volunteers to do work on the clearing free of charge on any day, or days, when the collieries are idle, or when they are not otherwise employed. In recognition of this service the association proposes to issue certificates of subscription to the monument fund to each contributor to an equivalent amount contributed in labor. Any citizen who will so volunteer is respectfully requested to call on, or send his name and address at once to either of the following Directors: Hon. M. C. Watson, corner of Main and Lloyd streets; P. W. Bierstein, 107 South Main street. A list of the volunteers will be published in the newspapers from time to time. It is proposed to start the work next Monday, weather permitting.

Daily Newspaper For Sale.

The HERALD last week stated that the report of the purchase of the Pottsville Chronicle by R. J. Wilson, of Mt. Carmel, was confirmed and that he would assume charge about the latter part of the month. Further evidence of the truthfulness of this report is given by Mr. Wilson. He offers his Mt. Carmel paper, the Daily News, for sale, giving as his reasons for selling as "having interests elsewhere."

Cut in State Charities.

A large batch of appropriation bills for private charities were reported to the House last night in nearly every bill the original amount of the appropriation is reduced, owing to the depleted condition of the State Treasury. The Children's Home, at Pottsville, asked for $3,500, and received $1,500; the Pottsville Hospital wanted $30,000, and are given $20,000.

SOLDIERS' MOVEMENTS.

What Shenandoah Representatives are Doing in the Army.

Harry Walters, who spent several days visiting his parents in town, to-day returned to Scranton, Waters, who was formerly porter at the Ferguson House, enlisted last August and has since been in the recruiting service. He is a member of the 21st Infantry and has been advanced to corporal, with the rank of sergeant as a promotion in the near future. The recruiting station is located at Scranton now, and will be continued there for a month, or more, after which it will be changed to Wilkesbarre, and then to this region—probably Mahanoy City—but not to Shenandoah. There are two other Shenandoah men with this recruiting detachment, James Bradley, of the 21st Infantry, and Harry Hafner, of the 13th. Bradley is now a Sergeant and Hafner a Corporal, and both are in line for advancement.

Lieut. Siviter, who recruited the three men named while his recruiting station was located here last summer, has parted from them and is now with the 1st Infantry, which was booked to sail from San Francisco, Cal., yesterday for service in the Philippines. Three Shenandoah men were also booked to sail at the same time. They are Thomas F. McAllister, 6th Artillery; John Tempest, 1st Regiment, and William G. Griffiths, 3rd Artillery. They were enlisted here last August by Lieut. Siviter, and were assigned to Fort Monroe, Va., after which they were assigned to the commands in which they are now to serve in the Philippines.

Honer Agala Wins.

Before the Nonpartisan Athletic Club at Philadelphia on Saturday night, John Honer, of Summit Hill, again demonstrated his pugilistic ability by knocking out Charley Stevenson, of Philadelphia, in six rounds. The bout was a rattling one in which Honer appeared to have all the best of the argument. In the sixth round Honer started in to finish Stevenson, was hot after him and landed a left hook, then a straight right and the Kensington champion was out for keeps. It was some time before he could be brought to consciousness.

Silk Mill at Ashland.

Silk mill projects are becoming epidemic in this region. Almost every town of any size has "a plan" under way. Now Ashland comes forward with a hint in that direction. T. J. Dillon, of Patterson, N. J., who is a manufacturer with a plant and not a promoter, was in that town yesterday and wants to locate there. The Ashland capitalists want talk, and are thinking loud.

Reverial Meetings.

Reverial meetings continue all this week in the M. E. church. Rev. Ellis E. McKelvey, of Delano, will occupy the pulpit this evening. On Thursday evening Rev. M. L. Sawyer, of Shamokin, will preach. THE PROBE IN TWO CITIES.

Politicians Interested in the Quay Trial and Mazet Investigation.

QUAY'S DEFENSE IS CONSPIRACY.

Friends of the Beaver Man Delighted That the Case is Now on, and Predict an Acquittal—Prominent Witnesses.

Philadelphia, April 11.—Ex-United States Senator Matthew S. Quay and his son, Richard R. Quay, were called to the bar of the court of quarter sessions yesterday, and the trial of the two defendants was begun. Judge Craig Biddle was the trial judge. District Attorney Rothwell, after over two hours had been spent in selecting a jury, elected to try the ex-senator first on that one of the five indictments in which he and his son are variously named, which charges Mr. Quay and the late ex-State Treasurer Benjamin J. Haywood with conspiracy in using the state funds for their personal benefit and profit, and in a manner unauthorized by law. This action practically leaves the ex-senator alone on trial.

Beyond the selection of a jury and the examination of one witness, Thomas J. Barlow, receiver of the People's bank, nothing was done yesterday. The only witness examined, Mr. Barlow, led to the first clash between counsel, and apparently indicated that a determined legal battle, replete with knotty points of law, will be fought in the trial of the cause. The district attorney called Mr. Barlow to identify books and papers found by him when he assumed the receivership. Mr. Shapley undertook to cross-examine the witness with respect to his knowledge of whether certain books, which the defense it is understood claims is missing, are included in those testified to by the witness. This was objected to, and after repeated efforts to obtain an answer to the question in another form it was abandoned, and Mr. Shapley said he would begin his cross-examination this morning.

NEW YORK'S INVESTIGATORS.

Richard Croker Will Be a Witness on Friday Next.

New York, April 11.—Only two witnesses of any importance were put on the stand before the Mazet legislative investigating committee yesterday. Frank Croker, son of Richard Croker, was on the stand all morning. He testified that he had paid $17,000 to enter the Roebling Fire Proof company, and was drawing a salary of $2,500 from it to "turn the business." Young Croker said he had first given for his 179 shares of stock a check for the amount mentioned, but when asked if he would produce the cancelled check he gravely worked into an admission that the stock was paid for in cash furnished by his father. He said he had got the money in big rolls from his father in the Democratic club, and he took the money to his house and kept it in his room all night. He told of having been presented with $6,000 worth of stock in the United company, "because," he said, "they knew we had lots of friends in railroads and such places."

Chief of Police William S. Devery was again put upon the rack after Frank Croker had given his testimony. Much of the questioning of the police captain was similar to that of Saturday, when he was called to explain for the existence of many disorderly resorts in the city that flourish at all hours of the night. Devery said that the police department had done all it could do, with the evidence it had before it, to close such places. Devery denied that he knew of any high official of the city who was interested in pool rooms.

During the progress of the session Dr. O'Sullivan said to the committee: "Mr. Richard Croker desires me to say that he will be at the disposal of this investigating committee at any time up to April 18, when he is to sail for Europe."

Mr. Moss evidently took this for a challenge, and he promptly informed Dr. O'Sullivan that Mr. Croker's presence was desired at the very next meeting of the committee, which will be next Friday.

Lawlor Enters Bail.

From Pottsville Chronicle. Constable Frank M. Betram arrested on Saturday M. J. Lawlor, of Shenandoah, who with M. E. Doyle, both of the Shenandoah News, are charged with libel by Henry C. Boyer, of the Miners' journal, a suit having been brought before Justice J. S. Conrad against these last week. Lawlor entered bail to the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at court, Doyle having previously entered bail. Lawlor's security is A. B. Lamb, of Shenandoah.

Tim on His Dignity.

Tim Hurst denies that he has made application for a position on the National league staff of umpires. He said he would accept an appointment if tendered him, but that he would not apply for it.

Osmond Richards, Lost Creek; Eli Connor and George F. Kost, Wilkesbarre; Daniel Ogden, Shenandoah, and Charles A. Goyne, Ashland, all filling responsible positions in the employ of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, spent yesterday in Hazleton sorting out and securing a list of patterns at the shops belonging to the coal company, prior to their transportation to other points.
