Speaking of the Authracite coal trade, Saward's Journal says the day of high prices has gone by, but fair prices, with an increased tounage, if possible, means a good result to the capital invested in the coal n the carrying companies. It will not do to deceive the trade this year, as they were during last and its predecessor, and after taking care of tonnage, and prices necessarily, in the early part of the year, let things alide later on. The better conditions which existed during the past four menths were not the result of any effort on the part of the management to improve the trade, but to a fortunate combination of cold, ice and snow. Are there not some people in the Anthracite industry who can and will do something to put it on an even better basis than it now is, and keep it there?

AGAINST MR. QUAY!

The "Red Book" Figures Indirectly in the Testimony.

THE CLAIM OF THE DEFENSE.

It Will Probably Be That the Senator's Account in the Bank's Ledger Was Flotitious, and That His Name Was Z Dishonestly Used by Cashier Hopkins

Philadelphia, April 14.-Proceedings

in the trial of ex-Senator Quay yesterfay were tedlous, but nevertheless in teresting in their bearing upon the future of the case. District Attorney Rothermel placed upon the stand in succession the paying teller, receiving teller and bookkeepers of the broken People's bank to prove the books. All of these, in answer to questions, made reference to Senator Quay's account and the bookkeepers said they had entered the figures, but none of the books were opened to show what the nature of the account was. This will be done later. All of the bank employes of cross-examination stated that the had never seen Senator Quay's deposit book, and they did not believe there was one. It has been hinted that the defense will claim that Senator Quay' account in the ledger was fictitious as far as he was concerned, and that the senator's name was used by Hopkin as a cloak for his own personal trans

The "red book" was a big feature of the day's proceedings, figuring indi-rectly in the testimony of several wit-nesses. Its pages were gone over repeatedly and the question of its iden-tification with the business of the bank was discussed, and when court ad-journed a handwriting expert was on the stand identifying the writing in it as the work of Hopkins.

All this was accomplished by the district attorney in spite of the protests of the three lawyers employed by Senator Quay, who fought in vain against the web of circumstantial evi-dence, involving the red book to such an extent that it seems almost cer tain that this necessary piece of evi dence will have to be admitted after

It was evident from the district at torney's attitude yesterday that he proposes to formally offer the book in evidence in a day or two, and he ap pears confident of his ability to intro duce the testimony which its pages contain and which is so vital in the establishment of the charge of conlead, only Senator Quay remains to face the charge.

The most interesting witness of the WE SELL BUTTERICK PAPER PATTERNS. day was Clay Kemble, son of William H. Kemble, deceased, the founder of the People's bank. Mr. Kemble was assistant cushier and a director as well. He did not take a very active part in the operation of the bank, be father's estate. When asked what Hopkins' duties were he replied: was the whole bank ' attorney gained a signal victory by securing the admission of the minute book of the bank, in which Cashie Hopkins kept a record of the meet ings of the board of directors. The particular entry bearing on the Quay case which the district attorney was anxious to get in was under date of the board was the note of (Senator) Arthur Kennedy and R. R. Quay, indorsed by M. S. Quay, with stock of attached, it was agreed to make this loan provided R.R. Quay complied with the president's request for a certain letter.' The "certain letter" is the one which is regarded as the most damaging evidence against Senator Quay's son. It is addressed to James McManes, president of the People's bank, by B. J. Haywood, state treasurer, and is as follows:

"On Monday we will mail you a check for $100,000 for credit of com-monwealth of Pennsylvania general fund, which will make a credit to our account of $600,000. The understanding is that I am not to draw against any part of this deposit until the Hon. R. R. Quay has paid or arranged satisfactorily to you the loan of $100,000 which you are to make himnext week."

The defense objected strenuously to the minute book, saying that, althoug the $100,000 note bears Senator Quay' indorsement, he knew nothing what ever of the letter from Haywood and had nothing to do with the juggling of state money indicated by it. The diswas virtually made to Senator Quay and that Haywood received interest on the deposit. Judge Biddle said he would overrule the objection, as the
