The Boat Spring-Time Tonio-A Seashorp

Trip. When spring-time comes, after the dull, heavy winter weather, we all feel the need of something to tone up the system. Formerly this was done by the use of bitter decontions, but now a days the knowing ones have found that the best tonic is a trip to the ocean beach, and the practice of spending a few days on the Shore is finding more and more devotees every year, so much so that the Seaside Hotels make extra arrangements to accommodate the early Spring visitors. Atlantic City, with its names us open-all-the-year botels, sun parlors and magnificent boardwals with a southern exposure, giving promenaders a splendid view of the ocean while inhaling the warm invigorating salt warm invited up from the gulf stream, is es-pecially suited for the purpose, and through the good train service of the Philadelphia & Reading route (Atlantic City R. R.) has quick railroad connection with all points. Fast trains have Chestnut St. and South St. Ferries at convenient hours and through tickets are sold and haggage checked through om us to all points on the Philadelphia & Reading Railway and its connections. We would also call the attention of the traveling public to the fact that Philadelphia & Reading engines burn hard coal, thus avoiding smoke. The Atlantic City Bailroad is double track all the way, and is ballasted with anthracite cinders, thus eliminating the very disagreeable feature of dust, and that this route has the record of insugarating the 60 minute train service between Philadelphia and Atlantic City, running and maintaining for 80 days without a break the fastest train in the world A book has been compiled by the Company, giving interesting statistics regarding these tacts. It will be sent by mail to any one who will address with a two cent stamp Edson J. Weeks, General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia

A Lifeboat Containing the Mate and Fourteen Men Brought In to St. Angustine, Fla., After Buffeting the Waves For Forty-eight Hours.

St. Augustine, Fla., April 24 .-- Considerable excitement was created here yesterday afternoon by a small boat out at sea giving signals of distress. Captain Allen immediately went to its assistance in the yacht Baldwin. Upon nearing the boat he found it to be that missing lifeboat of the Morgan line steamer General Whitney, which foundered north of Cape Canaveral during Friday night. Captain Allen transferred the sailors from their cramped quarters to his yacht and brought them in to Corbett's dock, where a large crowd awaited them. Hot coffee and food were furnished them at once upon the boat, and the poor fellows fairly banqueted.

The story of the disaster as told by Mate Mattson and his men was a thrilling one. One of the bulheads sprung a leak from the heavy seas which were prevailing during the early part of Friday night. All hands were ordered to the pumps and worked hard. but the holds soon began to fill, in spite of their efforts. The officers and men realizing that the steamer was settling fast and sure to founder, took to the two lifeboats. Captain J. W. Hawthorne and 15 men went in the

hy the remaining men. The went in the boat and were never at in seen by the remaining men. The pinin's boat was upsot while attempting to land at Mosquito Lagoon House of Refuge on Saturday. The captain and eleven men were drowned. The chief engineer, assistant engineer, fireman and one sailor were saved. Shortly afterward, Mate Mattson and the balance of the crew, 14 men, took to the second boat. This was about mid-night. They had a compass and began to row for shore. A strong wind was prevailing, creating a heavy sea, and the men at the oars could make no headway

All day Saturday the men tried to approach shore, but could not even get a glimpse of it, and almost despaired, when they found they had plenty of provisions, but no water. They spent all of Saturday night at the mercy of the sea, which washed over their frail boat frequently. Early yesterday morning they sighted land, and with redoubled energy, made strong from desperation, they took their turns at the oars. When near enough to the land they improvised a flag with canvas tacked to an oar, and it was then that Captain Allen went to their rescue.

The men when they landed were drenched to the skin and almost fam-ished, but warm food soon revived their spirits, and they cheerfully narrated their experience. They will remain here until they receive instruc-tions from New York. Besides Mate Mattson, who conducted the party through the rough trip, the survivors are Charles Andy, H. Kerper, D. Jack-son, Louis Cook, George Cook, H.

Louise, G. L. Olson, Ed Seablum, Pat-rick O'Neil, N. Larsen, J. Nelson, George Linge, J. Davis and Thomas Cavanaugh. These men were at sea in their open skiff 48 hours, and most of the time without water.

His Body Cut to Pieces. HE ADMITTED MURDER CHARGE, But Denied That Ho Had Assaulted the Wife of His Vietim-Lynchers Ignored the Appeal of Ex-Governor Atkinson to Let the Law Take Its Course. Newnan, Ga., April 24 .- Sam Hose, the murderer of Alfred Cranford and the ravisher of his wife, was burned at the stake two miles from here at 2:30 yesterday afternoon in the presence of nearly 2,000 people. Hose had been on the farm of the Jones brothers, between Macon and Columbus, since the day after he committed the horrible crime. His mother s employed on the farm, and to her little cabin he fled as a safe refuge. She fed him and cared for him, but it is not believed that she knew he was being hunted for by the authori-The Jones brothers were not ties. aware of the crime until a few days ago, and were not sure that Hose was the much wanted man. Saturday morning one of the Jones boys met Hose, and as he was talking to him noticed that his "ginger" face was ebony black. Just below the collar of his shirt the copper color was dis-cernible. Belleving that the negro had blackened his face to escape detection, Jones became convinced that he was the negro for whom the authorities, assisted by bloodhounds, had been scouring the country for ten days and determined to arrest him. Sunday morning the Jones boys brought the negro into Macon and put him aboard a Central of Georgia train, with the Intention of bringing him to Atlanta. At Griffin some one recognized Hosy At Grinn some one recognized Hoss, and sent word to Newnan, the next station, that the negro was on the train bound for Atlanta. When New-nan was reached a great crowd sur-rounded the train and pushed into the CATS.

The Jones brothers were told that the negro could be delivered to the sheriff of Campbell county there, and It was not necessary to take him to At-lanta. This was acceded to, and the negro was taken off the train and marched at the head of a yelling, shouting mob of 500 people to the jail. Here they turned him over to Sheriff Brown, taking a receipt for the prisoner, thus making themselves sure of the $250 reward for the "arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Campbell county of one Sam Hose." Word was sent to Mrs. Cranford, at Word was sent to Mrs. Cranford, at Palmetto, that it was believed Hose was under arrest and that her presence was necessary in Newnan to make sure of his identification. In some way the news of the arrest leaked out. and as the town has been on the alert for nearly two weeks the intelligence spread rapidly. From every house in the little city came its occupants, and a good sized crowd was soon gathered about the jail. Sheriff Brown was importuned to give up the prisoner, and finally, in order to avoid an assault on the jail and possible blood-shed, he turned the wretch over to the waiting crowd. A procession was quickly formed, and the doomed negro was marched at its head through sev-eral streets of the town. Soon the public square was reached. Here former Governor Atkinson, of Georgia, who lives in Newnan, came hurriedly upon the scene, and standing up in a buggy begged the crowd to let the law take its course. Judge A. D. Freeman, also of Newman, spoke in a similar strain. Ex-Governor Atkinson said in concluding: Some of you are known to me, and when this affair is finally settled in the courts you may depend upon it that I will testify against you. The assemblage heard the words of the two speakers in silence, but the hegro, his posy covered with blood from head to foot, was striving and tugging at his chains. The can was ifted over the negro's head by three or four men and its contents poured over him. By this time a good supply of brush, pleces of fence rail and other firewood had been placed about the negro's feet. This pyre was thoroughly saturated and a match applied. A flame shot upward and spread quickly over the pile of wood. As it licked the negro's legs he shricked once and began tu has at the chains. As the names crept higher and the smoke entered his eyes and mouth Hose put the stumps of his hands to the tree back of him, and after a terriffe plungs forward of his body severcaping the flames, which roared and crackled about his feet. One of the men nearest the burning pegro ly ran up, and, pushing him back, said "Get back into the fire there," and quickly coupled the disjointed links of the chain. Yell after yell went up from the crowd, and the progress of the flames was communicated In the rear from shouts of the eye The torch was applied about 2:20 o'clock, and at 3 o'clock the body of Sam Hose was limp and lifeless, his head hanging to one side. The body was not cut down. It was cut to pieces The body The crowd fought for places about the amouldering tree and with knives se cured such pieces of his carcass as did not fall to pieces. The chain was severed by hammers, the tree was chopped down and, with such pieces of firewood as had not burned, were carried away as souventrs. A Self Constituted Court. instant their voices had died away abouts of "On to Palmetto. Burn him. Think of his crime!" arose, and the march was resumed.

Mrs. Cranford's mother and sister residents of Newnan. The mob was headed in the direction of their house, and in a short time reached the McElroy home. The negro was march-ed in the gate, and Mrs. McElroy was called to the front door. She immedi-ately identified the negro, and her verdict was agreed to by her daughter, who had often seen Hose about the Cranford place,

"To the stake!" was again the cry. and several men wanted to burn him in Mrs. McElroy's yard. To this she objected strenuously, and the mob, complying with her wish, started for Palmetto. Just as they were leaving Newnan news was brought that the clock train from Atlanta would bring 1,000 people from Atlanta. This was taken to be a regiment of soldiers, and the mob decided to burn the prisoner at the first favorable place rather than be compelled to shoot him when the militia put in an appearance.

Leaving the little town whose Sun day quiet had been so rudely disturbed the mob, which now numbered nearly 1,500 people, started on the road to Palmetto. A line of buggies and vehicles of all kinds, their drivers fighting for position in line, followed the procession, at the head of which closely guarded, marched the negro. One and a half miles out of Newnan, a little to the side of the road was a strong pine tree. Up to this the negro was marched, his back placed to the tree and his face to the crowd, which jostled closely about him. Here for the first time he was allowed to talk. He said:

"I am Sam Hose. I killed Alfred Cranford, but was paid to do it. Lige mark of the short line to Florida-the Strickland, the negro preacher at Pai-metto, gave me $12 to kill him." It can be had at all the lead-Southern Railway.

At this a roar went up from the crowd. The intelligence imparted by the wretch was spread among them. "Let him go on; tell all you know about it," came from the crowd. The negro, shivering like a leaf, continued his recital. "I did not outrage Mrs. Cranford, Somebody else did that. I can identify them. Give me time for that "

The mob would hear no more. The clothes were torn from the wretch in an instant. A heavy chain was produced and wound around the body of the terrified negro, clasped by a new ock, which dangled at Hose's neck. As Hose saw knives flashing he sent up a yell, which could be heard a mile. Instantly a hand grasping a knife shot out, and one of the negro's ears dropped into a hand ready to receive it. Hose pleaded pitifully for mercy and begged his tormenters to let him die. His cries went unheeded. The second ear went the way of the other. Then his fingers, one by one, were taken from his hands and passed among the members of the yelling and now thor-oughly maddened crowd.

The shricking negro was quickly deprived of other portions of his anatomy, and the words, "Come on with the oil," brought a huge can of kerosens to the foot of the tree where the
