OUR COUNTRY : First, Last and Forever

THE bicycle is entering every avenue of life. In Phlladelphia they propose introducing the wheel in the fire service of that city. The new plan is to send a fireman on a bicycle ahead of the engine in response to all local alarms. The fireman will carev with him what is known as a Johnson pump, and it is thought that in the case of slight blazes he will often be able to reach the spot early enough to extinguish the fire before the rest of the company arrive. Although it is an experiment, the new arrangement is likely to win a permanent place with the fire fighters.

JUDGE WOODWARD, of Luzerne county, on Monday filed an interesting opinion, and one which will be extensively quoted. Application was made for the removal of the School Directors of Hazle township for negligence in office. In discharging the rule the Judge holds that the second section of the act of June 6, 1893, stating that the courts of Quarter Sessions can remove School Directors for negligence of their duties if reasonable cause be shown by no less than five reputable taxpayers, is unconstitutional and void, and added that he is guided in this step by the decision of the Supreme court, which has never been overruled or qualified.

MERCHANTS generally are interested in the decision of Judge Morrison, of McKean county, in a case where exception was taken to the right of the borough of Bradford to require a license of $500 for a transient merchant doing business in that place. Judge Morrison held as constitutional the ordinance requiring a Heense fee of $500 for the first month and $100 for each succeeding month as applicable to itinerant dealers. In Titusville the license fee to transients is $1,000 a month, and in other places the sum fixed is as low as $30 per a month. By reason of an uncertainty was also pointed but that the best and dissectionality of dissectionality dissections and dissection disse in which there has been any effort to enforce the local ordinances in this connection.

What Liquid Air Can be Used For.

It would seem that certain uses may be found for liquid air in which considerations of cost are not so important as is the ability to obtain the effects in view. In warfare, for example, the possession of highly concentrated energy stores under control Is very important. Liquid air can be rapidly converted into compressed air at six tons per square inch. This would probably be useful in the projection of high explosives.

Compressed air is now used for propelling mobile torpedoes, or fish-torpedoes, as they are called. Dirigible torpedoes either depend for power upon compressed air or the electric energy of a storage-battery. Compressed air requires high pressures and very strong and heavy containlug vessels. Liquid air can be stored without pressure or at low pressures and can be evaporated at any desired pressure, while its bulk represents that of air under 800 atmospheres. A storage-battery would probably be liquefied air in a receptacle, for equal available energy. But no storagebattery could be discharged at an equivalent rate.

Submarine boats and flying machines may yet find use for liquid air. In the submarine boat it could be evaporated by the heat of the surrounding water, and after furnishing power it would ventilate the boat. Before the final discharge it could be burnt with oil in a fuel engine for further power. We may find use for it in the flying-machine. For emergency work it could in evaporating cool the cylinders of a fuel engine and yield power as a result. Moreover, control of the submergence of a boat could be effected by the use of liquid air, so easily gasified, to add to the displacement. The great feature of the application of such a power as liquid air would be its emergency value. By this is meant the ability to obtain at will a sudden output far beyond the normal. Animal power notably possesses this emergency value, and the success of electric trolley systems largely depends upon the fact that, when needed, the station can be called upon for a temporary delivery to any single car or train, of a power greatly in excess of the rated output of the motors.—The Engineering Magazine, I

KAUTZS INDISCRETION.

Our Admiral in Samoa Writes to His Cousin,

AND REFERS TO THE GERMANS.

It Is Not Belleved, However, That Germany Will Take Cognization-Captain Coghtan Has Been Reprimanded and Kantz Will Probably Be Cautioned.

Washington, April 27.-The publicaion of Admiral Kautz's letter referring to his position at Samoa caused absolute consternation at the navy and state departments at first reading, but there was soon exhibited a disposition to minimize the affair, because it was clearly apparent that the letter was nothing more than a strictly private communication passing between members of the same family. Nevertheless. eming as it does close upon Captain Coghlan's indiscretion and following the publication of Judge Chambers' letter to his brother criticizing the Germans in Samoa, the opinion was held that Admiral Kautz's letter could not have other than a harmful effect upon the relations between the United States and Germany. The letter was brought to the attention of the president, and some sort of a reminder may be sent to the officer to be more careful in his correspondence.

In official German quarters the letter was not treated very seriously, and there was no indication that the German authorities would take cognizance of it. The spirit of fun in the letter officials, who laughed heartily over Kautz's description of the young king's makeup, and this amusing feature largely offset any britation which might have been felt over the critiimpression prevailed, however, that the navy department probably would deal with the indiscretion in such a way as it deserved.

Admiral Kautz's letter was written his cousin, Mrs. Charles N. Lindley, of Cincinnati, whose husband is a colo-nel on the staff of Governor Bradley, of Kentucky. It is in substance as fol-

"You will probably read a lot of stuff about me in various newspapers ut I can assure you that I am all right and have done nothing that I or my friends may be ashamed of, unless it s the making of a king, which I was bliged to do today. But he is a very noffensive young fellow, a native, 19 years of age. He wears a French admiral's cocked hat, but no shoes or stockings or trousers. Still, considering the torrid weather, he looks very well in this climate. But I hardly think he would look well on Fourth street. Cincinnati. I am not a king here, but just plain boss of the ranch. The German consul had that position up to my arrival, but since then he has been a very silent partner. I am very much afraid he does not like me —in fact, I am not at all popular here with the Germans. But I am all right with the English, and hope to pull through with them. Love to the Kentucky colonel and yourself,

"P. S.-I was in error about the shoes and trousers of his royal highness. At the last meeting his advisers prevailed on him to put on both, just for this occasion only." The case of Captain Coghlan may be considered as finally closed. The German ambassador, Dr. Von Holleben, called at the White House yesterday afternoon and had a conference on the subject with the president of such a being compelled to go often during the day, satisfactory nature that the matter was regarded as settled. The presi-dent explained the course the navy department had taken in administering reprimand to Captain Coghlan. It month. By reason of an uncertainty | was also pointed out that the officer's was every disposition to deal as lightly with the matter as possible, and not to permit it to become a source

Captain Coghlan's reprimand was in the form of a letter from Secretary Long to the officer. The letter will not be made public before the officer has received it, and probably not then.
