A Brilliant Society Event at Robbins'

LAST NIGHT'S ASSEMBLY.

Opera House, The May Assembly and Promenade Concert at Robbins' opera house last night for the bunefit of the Grant Band was: one of the most brilliant social events over held in the town. The arrangements were of a most elaborate and complete character, not a detail Teacher Victim of Nervous Prostration einformte and complete character, not a detail being overlooked by the committee, and it deserved much greater financial apport than it received, although the committee is con-tent with the result as an experiment. The Assembly was patronized by about forty-eight complex. All the music was furnished by the Grant Band and it surpassed all its previous successes. The program em-braced many new pieces of music and every selection was a popular favorite. The affair opened at 8:30 o'clock with an overture and the opening waltz took place shortly after 9 o'clock. The other arrangements were perfect. The hall was elaborately decorated through the skillful agency of R. H. Morgan, stage presenting a strikingly beau-appearance with its decorations of palms and potted plants. The arrange-ments for the accommodation of the patrons were also gents of perfection. A campy furnished shelter from the pavement, curb to the hall entrance and carpets were laid from the assembly room to the cleak and hat apartments, which were in charge of polite and alert attendants. The collation was prepared by Mr. Matthew Lambert with care taste and consisted of sandwiches, cake, fruits, claret punch, lemonade, coffee and cream. The committee in charge of the As-
