JUR COUNTRY : First, Last and Forever

Demorial Day

Once more a grateful nation honors its herole dead. The men who sacrificed their lives on the altar of their country, are again remembered. The beautiful cemeteries of Shenandoah, made so by loving hands, were revisited to-day and flowers were strewn in recognition of the services of those who lie beneath the sod. With each succeeding year new names are added to the roll of departed heroes, and the ranks of the old veterans is correspondingly degreased.

The Grand Army of the Republic. in the annual address, truthfully sets out that Memorial Day is what its name implies a day of commemoration. In the graves to-day on whose mounds we will soon plant flags and in the hand. They also took his sword scatter flowers, sleep the remains of men whose deeds of courage and daring and self sacrifice is worthy of being perpetuated in the songs of the nation, the pages of the historians, the canvas of the artist, and the work of the sculptor. It is eminently fitting, therefore, that these men should be remembered and their deeds of valor be the burden of patriotic speech and inspiring song.

A grateful nation recognizes the fact that it owes its heroic dead a debt of gratitude which it can never The immense sum annually paid to the widows and orphans of deceased soldiers and to surviyors of the fearful struggles to just estimate upon the services rendered; but every true patriot is ready to affirm that our country never can fully pay for the noble lives that were sacrificed to preserve a nation

Negroes Attack Regular Soldlers, Charleston, May 30,-Worthless ne groes on Sullivan's island have recently caused excitement by attacking United States soldiers without appar-ent cause. On Saturday night the ne-groes fired at the sentry on Fort Capron, the mortar battery, and on Sunday night they assaulted Private Owens while he was walking his beat bayonet and slashed his cap and coat. The entire garrison was aroused and searching parties scoured the island in vain for the desperadoes.

Death at a Deadly Crossing. Roseland, N. J., May 30 - Mrs. Peter A. Moeker, wife of a well-known citien of this place, was killed at the Roseiand avenue crossing of the Erie railroad in Caldwell, N. J., yesterday, There are neither gates nor flagman at the crossing, and it is impossible to see trains in either direction for any istance, owing to curves. Mrs. Meeker was driving in a carriage, which was struck squarely by the locomotive. The wheels of the engine cut off both her legs above the knee and otherwise mutilated her. The crossing has long been considered extremely dangerous, and several casualties have occurred there. In 1893 the Caldwell common council directed the railroad company to protect the crossing by gates, but no attention was ever paid to the order.
