REVERSES AT MANILA.

Two American Officers Killed in Battle and One by Sunstroke. Special to Evening Herald.

Manila, June 10.—Pursuant to the determination of General Otis to make a decisive move to crush the Filipino rebellion a desperate battle was fought to-day, resulting in two American officers being killed and twenty-two Americans injured. The Filipino losses have not been ascertained, but it is believed they were very heavy in killed and wounded.

Captain Henry E. Nichols, commanding the Monitor Munsiecock, died from sunstroke to-day. Captain Nichols went into the Manila service after sick leave.

MINE FOREMEN.

Applicants Appear Before Examining Board at Pottsville.

Yesterday and to-day the Board of Examiners for mine foremen certificates, comprising the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth districts, were in session at Pottsville. Forty-seven applicants were in attendance wrestling with the difficult problems and questions.

The Board for this, the Sixth district, is composed of Mine Inspector William Stein, W. H. Lewis, mine superintendent; M. J. Brennan, Yatesville; and Michael McCarthy, Mahanoy City.

There are seven applicants from this district, as follows: Wm. Hewitt, St. Nicholas; Edward Dougherty and Harry Reeser, Shenandoah; John Kreisher, St. Nicholas; George Bush, Girardville; John Noiters and W. H. Bishop, Mahanoy City.

The Board will examine the papers thoroughly and announce their findings later.

The Working Times.

Orders were issued to-day by P. & R. C. & I. Co. officials to the effect that the collieries of that company will work four three-quarter days next week—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday—the same quota as for the present week.

The William Penn colliery will work six days next week, three-quarter time.

The Lehigh Valley collieries will work five days next week. An effort will be made to work full time.

The Monument Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Soldiers' Monument Association was held in the G. A. R. headquarters, Reford's hall, last evening. There was a good attendance of representatives. The business transacted was of a routine character, the chief topic of discussion being the clearing of the site. The problem of doing away with the large amount of rock and stones on the place has been solved. They will be converted into pyramids in different parts of the ground and ultimately decorated with vines and moss.

A Pleading Concert.

The open air concert given on Boddall's avenue, corner of Main and Centre streets, last evening by the Grand Band directed by a large orchestra. The concert was a most successful one. The program was under the direction of Mr. John M. Schoppe and a sparkling program was rendered with the usual artistic execution by the band. A cornet solo by Mr. Peter Schoppe was a feature. It is hoped the people will be furnished with several similar concerts during the summer.

CHAMPION JEFFRIES!

The Californian Defeats Fitzsimmons in Eleven Rounds.

A WELL CONTESTED BATTLE.

At the End of the Contest the Young Hercules Who is Now the World's Champion Was as Fresh as at Start. Proposed Jeffries-Sharkey Fight.

New York, June 10.—James J. Jeffries, another sturdy young giant, has come out of the west to whip champion pugilists. At the arena of the Coney Island Athletic club last night he defeated Robert Fitzsimmons, world's champion in two classes—middle weight and heavy weight—in 11 rounds of whirlwind fighting. He came to the ring a rank outsider and left it the acknowledged master of the rank he defeated. He was never at any time in serious danger, and after the sixteenth round he had the Australian whipped from the ninth round. It was acknowledged that Jeffries would have an immense advantage in weight, height and age, but the thousands who backed his opponent to win were sure that he was slow and that he would fight in the earlier rounds of the contest.

The man who prepared him for his fight worked wonders with him. They taught him a nearly perfect defense, improved his foot movement and instructed him in the methods of inflicting punishment. The transition since he appeared last has been little short of miraculous. At 24 he has defeated Robert Fitzsimmons, Tom Sharkey and Peter Jackson, and if he cares for himself he will probably be able to successfully defend the title for many years.

The defeated man was just as good as when he lowered the colors of the then peerless Corbett. He was just as active, just as clever, just as tricky, just as hard, just as unflinching. He went unflinchingly to his defeat. He was the aggressor even at moments when he was bleeding and unsteady, and when stunned by the blows he received he replied instinctively to the blows he received. He was fighting all the time, and punting on his opponent, but found him a different opponent than any he had met, and a difficult man to fight.

The men fought before a crowd of 5,000 persons, and stood up in it as long as they could. It was like a thousand colicums, and it shrouded their great white bodies in strange relief. When the blood came it was of an intense red than usual.

There was not a suggestion of interference from the police. Chief Devery occupied a seat by the ring, and he ordered the referee, Kenney, to clear the ring. The contest was pulled off without a wrangle, and was devoid of the brutal elements that Chief Devery alleged he feared.

There was very little betting. There was plenty of money ready on both sides, but nobody liked the odds. Jeffries people wanted two for one for their collateral and the Fitzsimmons people were slow to give it.

The great house filled very slowly, and it was after 9 o'clock before the police began to clear themselves and clear the aisles. Fitzsimmons charged into the ring at 10:05 o'clock and made the occasion of a rather theatrical demonstration. Julian was first, and then came the fighter. The seconds were next in line and then came two men bearing a great floral piece that was almost fatal in appearance. It was inscribed: "Good luck to the champion." Fitzsimmons bowed ceremoniously to it. Jeffries was next into the arena, and like his opponent got a demonstrative reception.

The opening round was a try out, pure and simple, and not a single blow of an effective nature was landed. First one was the pacemaker and then the other. They were both active and the clever work recompensed the crowd for the lack of excitement.

The second round began in a burst like war, with Jeffries trying his left. Fitzsimmons then took a turn, but was short. Just as the round closed Jeffries downed Fitzsimmons with a hard straight left on the jaw. The champion came up slowly in a dazed sort of a way and reeled toward his man. The crowd cheered Jeffries on, but the gong ended the round. Fitzsimmons rallied in the rest and was aggressive again in the third. Fitzsimmons was bleeding, but fighting viciously. He made the pace, but it was the Californian's round. The fourth was fast, but not decisive. Fitzsimmons made his best showing in the fifth. He began the round with a punch that opened Jeff's left eye and sent a little torrent of blood coursing down his cheek. He forced Jeffries against the ropes, but the Californian slipped away from him. He made Jeff hug again, but when the round ended Jeffries was back and fighting. Fitzsimmons was the aggressor in the sixth, and that, too, was his round. He tried all of his tricks with left and right, but was unable to place them right. He closed with a strong right uppercut, but that, too, was blocked. The seventh might be said to have been Fitzsimmons', but he did no particular damage with his punches.

The eighth saw the beginning of the end, for Fitz never regained his balance after that round. Jeffries began the round with a straight left on the face that again brought the blood out of his opponent's mouth. The Californian staggered against the ropes, but came back for another face. There was fear in Fitzsimmons' corner, and Julian yelled to Fitz to be careful. Fitz planted one of his lefts on Jeffries' jaw and jarred him as the round closed. Fitzsimmons looked like a beaten man.

The ninth was all Jeffries'. He put the Australian's head back with a series of lefts, put his right on the body and avoided any serious punishment. Fitzsimmons kept pressing forward all the time, however, but was unable to find his opponent.

The tenth was in reality where the fight ended. Jeffries rushed his opponent and downed him with a left swing. Fitzsimmons seemed out, and there was a moment of the wildest excitement. Julian ran along the side of the ring and sprinkled water on his fallen idol. At the end of seven seconds Fitz staggered to his feet, only to go down again quickly. He was up again, and Jeffries poised himself for the finish. He shot his left to the body and reached the head with his right. He was calm and collected, but the time was too short. Again did the gong come to the aid of the man who was then going staggering and dazed to certain defeat.

There was a frantic effort to revive the champion of champions, but he was cleanly gone, and his seconds gong clanged again and the old fighter wobbled out to meet the sturdy young Hercules who awaited him. It was as courageous and gritty as a dash up to the ring in a battle, but it was a splendid moment. The referee called them together. It was a dramatic intensity that characterized a tragedy. Jeffries was as fresh as at the start. There was a moment of sparring and the giant arms of the Californian shot through the air. It was a splendid moment. The old fighter was limp and unconscious. He was thrown to the floor. Jeffries stepped back, for he knew the force that had been put behind his terrible blows. The timers called off the seconds that counted out an old ring hero and he lay motionless. Nobody heard them. The crowd was on its feet howling. There was a rush for the ring, but scores of bluecoats barred the way. Ten seconds are short, and when the tenth had come there was a new roar of excitement to welcome the victor.

Julian, Hickey, Kenney and Everhardt gathered up the prostrate man. He was still in a trance. They carried him to his corner, and a little blood oozed from his mouth as his head fell forward on his chest. The new champion crossed the ring and shook the hand of his opponent. He was surrounded by his friends, who hustled him from the ring and into his dressing room.

Jeffries had the good wishes of his clerksman father out at Los Angeles, Cal. This was placed in his hand as he reached the ring.

"Jim, I know that you will win keep good spirits; be confident of our blessing. Father, Mother and Family." The Westchester Athletic club offers a purse of $25,000 for a 25 round go between Jeffries and Sharkey. The same club offers a purse of $10,000 for Jeffries to meet McCoy for 25 rounds at the middleweight limit—168 pounds. Both Sharkey and McCoy have already challenged the victor.

The battle was photographed under the strong light, two sets of pictures being taken. These vitagraph pictures will be exhibited in all large cities.

Joint Meeting of Bar Committee and State Delegates.

RESOLUTION OF THE DELEGATES.

A Large Delegation Will Leave Pottsville For Harrisburg Next Tuesday Morning to Open an Earnest Campaign For Judge Bechtel at the Convention.

Pottsville, June 10.—A joint meeting of the Democratic state delegates from this county and the executive committee appointed at the meeting of the Bar last Monday was held at the Democratic headquarters on South Centre street this morning, to make arrangements for furthering the interests of Judge O. P. Bechtel, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Supreme Court.

The joint meeting was presided over by a separate meeting of the state delegates, at which the following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That we, the undersigned delegates from Schuylkill county to the Democratic State Convention, to be held at Harrisburg June 14, 1899, hereby pledge ourselves to support the candidacy of Hon. O. P. Bechtel for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Supreme Court; and we pledge ourselves to use all honorable means in our power to promote the same and secure his nomination.

This meeting was presided over by P. J. Mulholland, of Shenandoah, and M. J. Lawlor, of the same place, was the secretary. A. W. Schalk, Esq., chairman of the executive committee of the Bar, presided at the joint session and Hon. James A. Noecker was the secretary.

At this meeting there was a discussion of the movement in a general way, after which it was decided that the state delegates, Bar committee and others interested, with the exception of the Third district delegates, leave Pottsville for Harrisburg, via the P. & R. Railway, at nine o'clock next Tuesday morning. The rest of the delegates will start at the same time, but travel by way of Reading. The delegation will be a large one. The headquarters of the delegation will be in room No. 7 at the Bolton House, Harrisburg. This room will immediately adjoin the room of the state organization. This is an important point.

It was also decided that the executive committee of the Bar and the state delegates hold a joint session at its Harrisburg headquarters on Tuesday evening, next, at eight o'clock. There will be an exchange of opinions there and they will take such action as the information at hand up to that time may suggest.

The state delegates present at today's joint session were: First district—P. J. Mulholland and M. J. Lawlor, Shenandoah; John T. Cavanaugh, Gilberton; F. J. Noonan, St. Nicholas. Second district—Charles Hoek, Barry township; R. A. Zeisek, Esq., Ashland; A. J. Dougherty, Butler township. Third district—D. D. Messersmith, Ryan township; Howard Kimmel, New Ringgold; John Haggerty, New Philadelphia. Fourth district—John W. Slattery, Port Carbon; H. A. Zeisek, Esq., Ashland; Pottsville; Capt. E. W. Zeisler, Wayne township; M. J. Flemming, Esq., Tremont; W. A. James, Wadesville.

The members of the executive committee of the Bar in attendance were: A. W. Schalk, John F. Wislen, George J. Wadlinger, John O. Ulrich, Hon. James B. Reilly, James A. Noecker, Harry O. Haag, John F. Dolphin, S. H. Kaercher, Hon. John W. Ryan, Esq., Judge Ryan and Judges Cyrus L. Pershing, William A. Marr and P. M. Dunn.

Deaths and Funerals.

Mrs. Bridget Boyle, who was in her thirties, died yesterday at the home of her brother-in-law, John McElrath, in Pottsville, of consumption. She was born and reared in New Philadelphia, and was a sister of the late Harry Elliott, who was shot and killed at that place last week. Andrew Elliott, of this town. Mrs. Boyle leaves three children to survive her.

Mrs. Mary Fogarty, a widow, formerly of Ellangowan, but for the past five years a resident of Mahanoy City, with her sister, Mrs. Mary Egan, died suddenly last evening from the effects of a cold and old age. There are no surviving children. The funeral will take place on Monday morning. The funeral of John Loeb took place this afternoon from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. S. G. Roberts, on West Cherry street. The services were held at the residence, Rev. D. I. Evans, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. The remains were interred in the Old Fellows' cemetery.

Church Notices.

Regular preaching services will be conducted in the United Evangelical church, on North Jards street, to-morrow morning and evening. Sunday school at 1:30 p. m. All cordially invited.

Rev. D. I. Evans, pastor of the First Baptist church of town, will fill the pulpit of the Welsh Baptist church of St. Clair to-morrow morning at an evening. Children's day exercises will be held in his own church to-morrow evening.

Drowsiness is dispelled by BRENCHMAN'S PILL.

Special Revenue Stamps. Deputy Revenue Collector Kear has received special revenue stamps for hotels, breweries, etc., and will be ready to issue to special revenue taxpayers on June 15th. Taxpayers are urged to have their licenses ready as no stamps will be issued after July 1st.

The "Y" Program.

The following program will be presented at the meeting of the "Y" this evening: Singing; prayer; scripture reading, Esther Daddow; recitation, Miss Mattie Price; notes of interest, Miss Clara Yost; solo, G. Davenport James; reading, Miss Mattie Edwards; critic, John H. Danks.
