Georgia Lynchings Continue.

Baxley, Ga., June 17.—One week ago yesterday Will Ables was put on trial here for criminally assaulting a woman, and in one hour was convicted and sentenced to death. Yesterday news was received of two lynchings in this (Appling) county. Both were near Surrency, a small town 12 miles from here. In the first case the negro, named Williams, attempted a criminal assault upon Mrs. Hiram Kennedy, white. He was carried to same remote part of the woods and there lynched. In the second case Dave Clark, a negro, had a dispute with a constable who had a tax execution against him. Clark attempted to shoot the constable, but was prevented by outside parties. Thursday Clark was found in the woods dead, with several bullet holes in him.

PURSUED BY CREDITORS.

An Arbitration Held to Enforce Proceedings of Ejectment.

J. R. Coyle, E. W. Shoemaker and T. R. Reddell, Esqs., as a board of arbitrators on proceedings of ejectment instituted by Mr. Burke, as attorney for creditors, against Joseph Yadsusky and his wife, Martha, and his father, William Yadsusky.

Mr. Burke's representative claims aggregating from $1,500 to $1,800, among the creditors being Arboast and Bastian and Rinn Sons of Allentown; Spangola and Yeager, Philadelphia; Lessig and Baer, Ashland; Hoveen Mercantile Company, and B. Labows and Company, Mahanoy City; Smith, Foster and Company, Philadelphia; Henry L. Jones and William H. Glenn, Shenandoah, and the Ashland Soap Works.

Joseph Yadsusky was in the grocery business on East Centre street and failed. His wife subsequently engaged in business and called three months later. After the failure the property located at Laurel street and Pear alley was purchased from P. J. Ferguson by William Yadsusky, Joseph's father, for $1,000. The creditors allege that the property was really purchased by Joseph. Lawyer Burke pressed the claims and secured a Sheriff's deed to the property, which was sold to the representative of the creditors. The present proceedings are instituted to eject Joseph, Martha and William Yadsusky from the premises.

When the arbitration opened S. G. M. Holoopeter, Esq., attorney for Joseph Yadsusky, presented a paper in which his client declared that he had no interest in, or claim to, the property in question.

In opening the case Mr. Burke said he would show that a judgment note was given for the property, that William Yadsusky had no means with which to pay for the purchase, and that the judgment note was paid off in installments by Joseph Yadsusky. Mr. Burke added that he would show the right after Yadsusky failed he paid $500 in cash for a car load of flour. He also said that the proceedings were not pressed for a pecuniary purpose, but to make an example in the case for other who resort to methods like that to the deception and defrauding of creditors.

Joseph Yadsusky was the first witness called. He said he had been in this country sixteen years. He worked in the mines for six years and saved $700 or $800. With this he started in business and failed six years ago. While in that business he had 200 customers who dealt with him on books and he has about $0,000 worth of outstanding accounts.

The arbitration was not concluded to-day and several sessions will be required.

W. M. PENN.

Mrs. Sampson Couch left Wm. Penn yesterday and will make her future home in Philadelphia. Quite a number have moved from this place recently, but it is difficult to know why, as the colliery is working steadily.

Mrs. Josiah Walker, who has been ill for several weeks, is improving steadily.

Samuel Scott, driver for the Wm. Penn Supply Company, is confined to his home suffering from a carbuncle.

Mrs. Augustus Quin, mother of Superintendent Quin, is visiting the latter here.

Services in the M. E. church to-morrow will be as follows: Sunday school, at 10:30 a. m.; prayer meeting at 7 p. m.; G. L. C. E. on Monday evening at 6:30 p. m. An excellent day has been arranged and the church appropriately decorated. Those who have been assigned parts will no doubt acquit themselves in the usual creditable manner. A cordial invitation to all is extended.

A Street Row.

A fight in which several men took part occurred at the corner of Emerick and Oak streets at about noon to-day. John Haverty, while under the influence of drink, shot at a dog belonging to a Lithuanian resident of the neighborhood. He used a revolver, but all the cartridges were blank and no damage was done. The Lithuanian who got close to the revolver had a hole burned in his shirt. Haverty was attacked by the owners of the dog and several of the owner's backers, the assailants using scoops, shovels and clothes line props. Haverty received several blows, but was not seriously hurt. He sought refuge in a Lithuanian house, but when he left it was again attacked. Several women went to his assistance and drove the assailants away.

"ADMIT WITHIN FIRE LINES."

An Extraordinary Motto For a Reporter's Personal Emblem.

In his story of "The Last of the Mulberry Street Barons," in The Century, Mr. Jacob A. Riis, author of "How the Poor Half Live," tells a rather gruesome but very amusing anecdote. It is a low reporter attached to police headquarters in Mulberry street, New York.

There had been a feud of long standing between the reporters in Mulberry street, and in consequence news was plentiful. They were in a regular routine, and we paid them off in the coin of the realm. The coin of Mulberry street was murder, fire and sudden death (we had passed the stage of boxing gloves and did not speak as we passed by), and it went a long way. I do not mean, of course, that we murdered or murdered, but that we were in the habit of reporting on one another, but these things were the staples of our daily work as police reporters, and when we were "out" the precinct returns from an extra sifting, with the result that many a grain of newspaper wheat that went otherwise unheeded was rescued from the dust bin.

We had our specialties in this contest of wits. One was distinguished as a sleuth. He fed on detective mysteries as a cat on a chicken bone. He thought them out by day and night, and he was in the night, in the great operation of the official detectives, with whom their solution was a commercial, not in the least an intellectual, affair. They solved them on the plane of the proverbial looking of hen among crows, by the formula, "You scratch my back, and I'll scratch yours."

Another came out strong on fires. He knew the history of every house in town that ran any risk of being burned, knew every fireman and could tell within $1,000, more or less, what was the value of the goods stored in any building in the dry goods district and for how much they were insured. If he couldn't, he did anyhow, and his guesses often came near the facts, as shown in the final adjustment. He sniffed a firebug from afar and knew without making how much salvage there was in a hale of cotton after being 24 hours in the fire. He is dead, poor fellow. In life he was fond of a joke, and in death the joke clung to him in a way wholly unbecoming.

The funniest in the next block, with whom he made his headquarters when off duty, so that he might always be within hearing of the gong, wished to give some tangible evidence of their regard for the old reporter, but, being in a hurry, left it to the florist, who knew him well, to choose the design. He laid upon a floral wreath as the proper thing, and thus it was that when the company of mourners was assembled and the funeral service in progress they arrived and was set upon the coffin, in the view of all, that triumph of the florist's art, a shield of white roses, with the legend written across it in big, immortal letters: "Admit Within Fire Lines Only." It was shocking, but irresistible. It brought down even the house of mourning.

Children Taught to Steal.

A conversation between two boys about 10 years old, on West Coal street, last evening, demonstrated that children of the town are taught and encouraged to steal. One of the boys was heard to remark that he received three cents for each board stolen from lumber yards. The boys ran away when the person who heard the remark attempted to question them concerning it.

When you dream that somebody is pushing you over a precipice it's time you looked after your stomach and liver. You may not believe in dreams but that particular sort of dream is likely to come pretty near true if you don't take prompt measures to prevent it. If you neglect the warning you may find that you are actually pushing yourself over the precipice of disease into the abyss of death. Don't forget that your heart and lungs and nerves are supplied with blood and nutrition through your stomach, liver and bowels. If they do not do their work properly—if the blood is full of poisonous matter your whole body will soon be full of impurity and disease, and it is a small wonder you dream of disaster. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies and enriches the blood. It cleanses the whole digestive system and is an antidote for poison in the blood. It is a blood-maker and flesh-builder and is good for the nerves. It brings restful sleep and a clear head. It contains no alcohol, whisky, sugar, syrup, or dangerous opiates.

"I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'pleasant Pellets' and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "I was unable to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to 125 pounds, and was unable to work. Now I weigh nearly 160 and can in a day's work on the farm."

Bloodless Girls

Doctors have given the Greek name Anemia, meaning "bloodlessness" to a disease which is much more prevalent among young women than is generally believed. In its early stages the disease is not marked by any decided symptoms and often makes considerable advance before its presence is noticed. An unusual feeling of fatigue after slight exercise, breathless and pallor are the first noticeable signs. In anemia the blood becomes thin, the heart flabby, the skin pale and waxy. If the disease become chronic (persistent anemia) it often results fatally. The one successful method of treating this disease is to build up the blood. The best blood builder in the world is

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

This remedy has cured more cases of anemia than all others combined. Miss Cordelia Moore, of Mahanoy, N. Y., until recently, has been a long invalid from palpitation of the heart and weakness of the blood. In speaking of this experience she said: "I was in a terrible condition. I could not eat. My face was ghastly white, and my hair was almost transparent. I was so weak it was utterly impossible for me to go to my studies. I had to give up my studies, and advised me to try them. Before the first box was used I began to regain my appetite and felt better generally. I bought six more boxes and before I had used them I was able to go to my studies, and consider myself cured. I cannot say too much regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."—From The Gazette, Mahanoy, Pa.

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to mankind as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing.

These pills are sold in boxes at 25 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
