DEADLY GASOLINE.

Washington Society Leader.

GAPTAIN F. W. DICKINS BEREFT.

Plumber's Lighted Metal Pot, Taken Into a Room Where Mrs. Dickins Was Using the Fluid, Brought Death and Destruction.

Washington, July 8 .- Official and unofficial Washington alike were shocked yesterday by the tragic death from an explosion of gasoline at her home, just west of the British embassy, of Mrs. Marguerite Dickins, one of the best known women in social, literary and charitable circles in Washington, and wife of Captain Francis W. Dickins, of the navy, who received the first official news of the blowing up of the battle-ship Maine in Havana harbor. The accident had many distressing features and came as a fearful blow to Captain Dickins, who was suddenly summoned home from the navy department to find his wife dead and the upper part of his house a wreek. The Dickins house is at 1434 Nine-teenth street, in the fashionable part of town, being only a block from Du-pont Circle. A small room at the head of the stairs on the third floor is used as a storeroom. Mrs. Dickins decided numer. 100 botels open the year around.

For Illustrated literature, containing all rugs that were there, and to keep Information, address C. F. Cooley, Manager Bulaness Men's League, Hot Springs, Ark.

For reduced excursion tickets and particulars of the trip, address W. A. Turk, Gen'l Pass, Agt., Southern By., Washington, descended from the roof of the house with a hot metal pot while Mrs. Dickins was at work preparing the rugs for storage. The fumes of the gasoline filled the room in which she was working and permeated the whole of the upper floor. The plumber, Joseph Vaughn, detected the presence of the volatile fluid, but almost on the instant that he cautioned his assistant there was a terrific explosion, wrecking the upper part of the house, and flames breaking out immediately.

An open gasoline can was alongside of Mrs. Dickins, so that the gas being thickest near her she received the worst shock of the explosion. The plumbers were knocked down by the shock. The helper, named Cook, quickly recovered, rushed down stairs, closing the door behind him. The screams of Mrs. Dickins recalled him, and he aided Vaughn in an effort to ly summoned home, and did not know of his wife's death until he reached there. The shock prostrated him, and he is now under a physician's care, his nervous system being broken down by his terrible misfortune.

Mrs. Dickins was a daughter of Charles F. Bates, a well known resident of New York city, and was married to Captain Dickins in 1878 at Newport, R. I. They had no children. She was an enthusiastic member of the Humane society, and during the severe cretion. A nerve tonic and storms of last winter and other years she sought out and helped with food and clothing many homeless and hungry persons. She was a well known contributor to magazines and the au-thor of seme books, the best known of which is "Along Shore With a Man-of-

War. In society Mrs. Dickins was very popular. She was one of the ladies who accompanied the Duke and Duch-ess of Veragua on their trip through the United States and to the Columbian exposition at Chicago. She was an active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which will take special action regarding her death. During the Spanish-American war was one of the most active of a local committee which did good work in securing delicacies and caring for the sick and wounded soldiers who passed through Washington from Cuba or the military camps in the south.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hamibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful de-liverence from a frightful death. In telling of liverence from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Poeumonia. My lunga became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." A dispatch from Calvert gives the names of 23 drowned. Another dispatch, from Quintana, Tex., says: Eight bodies floated down the river and lodged on the beach and were burled. Four of them were white, a woman and three children, and four were negroes.

A special train on the Santa Fe which left here for Thompson, Durkee and Arcola returned late Thursday night with the officials of the road abourd. They had left the rescuers to do their work, which was progressing exceptionally well. General Superin-tendent Bessegue made a very favorable report on the situation, and seemed to believe that the people were not suffering.

"I am of the opinion that there have been few casualties. It appears the people had time to get to high ground. On the approaches to our bridges there are at least a hundred people, who are comfortable and propose to stay there until they either have to move or the flood subsides. They have a tent and provision enough to last for 90 days. There is need of food for those who were rescued from the town of Thomasville. I do not believe anybody is starving, but they have not supplies enough to run them for any length of
