Dr. Jackson points to the startling fact that there are now 20 million Catarrh victims in this country and the number rapidly increasing. It has already become the National Disease. Are we to become a nation of Catarrhites? It looks

The Aboriginal Indians are said not to have knewn the decase. That proves it is not caused by our climate and must have been imported. Its growth was slow but persistent. Verty years ago there were less than 40,500 cases in the U.S., to-day there are 20 million. Scon liere will be 30 million. Where is it to ead? Shall we not awake till it has fastened its fames on every man, woman and child in the land! How shall we prevent it unless we take immediate and vigorous steps to stamp out the plagne? This patrid disease knows no sex, no class, no station. It is everywhere. A germ (microbe) disease it apreads by contagion. The curon breath and expectoration of the poor victim are loaded with these microbes. Others breath them in, they find holgement and never release their hold till the victim lies down in death, unless every microbe is killed. But can they be killed? Yes, but not by any "blood medicine." No Catarrh germ was ever found in the bload. The trouble is local and must be treated locally. A balsam has been discovered that is sure death to the Catarrh microbe, making a radical and permanent cure. It is Brazilian Baim. It has cured sort housands in the past by years.
