Obtained Judgment.
The suit of J. M. Rittenhouse, of Hazleton, vs. Constable Matthew Gibson, of town, charged with trespass in illegal sale of a wagon, was heard before Judge Stapleton at McAdoo yesterday. After all the evidence being heard the plaintiff was awarded damages to the extent of $100 or the value of the wagon.

KEPT HIS TOBACCO.
Fifteen Years to Acquire the Proper Flavor For Use.
"Apropos of heavy black tobacco," remarked a dealer, "I used to have a number of customers who smoked cigarettes made of straight perique. Some few remain, but I could count them on one hand, and the habit is so to speak extinct. I doubt whether it was as injurious to the health as some have claimed, and I had a pretty good opportunity to watch its effects."
"For over 30 years I have sold tobacco to one of the most confirmed and enthusiastic perique smokers in New Orleans. He was past middle age when he first came to my shop and is still hale and vigorous, his eyes as bright as a bird's and his hands as steady as a rock. He buys his tobacco in bulk, afterward cutting it to suit himself, and, like a number of other old time smokers, he can detect exquisitely slight differences in flavor among a lot of rolls or cuttings. It is very interesting to see him pick out a supply for private ripening, something he attends to at intervals, just as one might keep up a wino cellar."
"He proceeds on the theory, I believe, that the leaf is at its best between 13 and 15 years after having been put away and has each roll carefully dated, so as to enable him to consume perique of approximately that date from season to season. As it ages the tobacco assumes a beautiful deep black brown, and doesn't resemble ordinary tobacco at all. This particular old gentleman I have in mind has shown me pieces that looked like ebony. He moistens them with a dash of sherry and water, whittles off what he wants with a penknife, rolls it up with a quick turn of the wrist and walks away puffing a cloud of smoke that would lift the average young clubman clear off his feet."
"As I remarked before, however, there are very few of the old time perique smokers still alive—I doubt if there are over five or six now left who continue to keep up their annual stocks."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Effect of Royalty.
Let us see some of the effects of castigo of the curious effects that I have noted. On Jubilee day I stood so near the procession that I could have touched the door of her majesty's carriage with my walking stick.
When the hat had ridden by, the lady next to me said:
"Oh, dear! Now she's gone and I didn't see her!"
"Didn't she see her?" I repeated in astonishment.
"I couldn't," she replied. "I was so excited I could not look at her. This is the third time I've tried, but something always comes up and blinds me."
Once I was walking in Hyde park with a little English lady, who suddenly cried out:
"Oh, there's the princess" (meaning the Princess of Wales); "and Princess Victoria! Do hurry and let us get near the road to see them!"
"Well, there, they have gone," said she after the royal carriage had passed, "and I shall be in a flutter for half an hour. I suppose you'll never understand it, but I go perfectly silly whenever I see royalty."
—Julian Halsh in Harper's Magazine.

From Hazleton Standard.
Last evening's Pottsville Republican contained an elaborate notice of a unique wedding, which is supposed to have occurred at Glen Onoko, on July 4th, and in which Prof. Killinger and Miss Marie Schwartz, of Hazleton, figured as the contracting parties. The item is a lie out of the whole cloth, and Prof. Killinger justly feels indignant about the publication of the item.

Never experiment with so important an article as the human food

It is the high quality of Royal Baking Powder that has established its great and world-wide reputation.

Every housewife knows she can rely upon it; that it makes the bread and biscuit more delicious and wholesome—always the finest that can be baked.

It is economy and every way better to use the Royal, whose work is always certain, never experimental.
