As the crisis appeared at band a man jumped from the front platforn of the car, ran ahead with all possible speed and rescued the children. He first pushed the girl and baby carriage from the track, and then removed the smaller child that was walking. The identity of this passenger has not been learned. The rescue was made not a moment too soon, as the car slid down the grade and was brought to a step just at the place where the carriage was pushed off, and just after the last child was taken from the track. As the children appeared about to be crushed by the car the women passenger threw themselves back into their seats and covered their faces with their hands and screamed in horror. The excitement was intense and Motorman Amour was completely unnerved when he found his warnings were being unheeded and the steep grade provented him from stopping the car. Aguinaldo's Cavalry Leader Says Independence Was Promised.

CONTRADICTS GENERAL OTIS.

He Insists That the Reported Order of the Filipino Government For the Destruction of Mantia Was Absolute ly False-"This Is Not a Race War."

Minneapolis, July 19.—The Times publishes an interview which took place May 18 at San Isidro, Luzon, hetween its special correspondent, Martin E. Tew, of the Thirteenth Minnesota, detailed by General Wheaton as brigade interpreter, and Major Lorenzo L. Zialcita, leader of Aguinaldo's cav-alry, and one of the Filipino commissioners who went to General Otis with propositions for an armistice.

Major Zialcita denied emphatically that Filipino officials had ordered the burning of Manila and the wholesale murder of Americans, and cited as proof that many Filipino officers were in Manila that night and were taken

He said the proclamation of General Otis, proclaiming himself governor general, had greatly incensed the Filipinos, but asserted that both the Fili pino leaders and people believed the Americans had begun hostilities.

Major Zialcita, speaking of the re-puted promises of independence made prior to the fall of Manila, when asked by Mr. Tew if in their eagerness for independence the Filipinos had not misconstrued the language of American officials and officers, replied:
"There is not the slightest mistake about this. Consul Williams verbally made this statement to us, and we had delivered in writing.

"Besides, when we were in Cavite, a number of us had the honor of entertaining General Anderson at the Atheno Risal. This was before Manila was taken by your forces. General Anderson on this occasion made a speech in which he said that the Americans had not come here for the purpose of taking one foot of territory with the view of permanent possession, but for New Philadelphia, to spend a week visiting the purpose of giving the Filipinos
