THE LAST SAD RITES

Over the Body of the Late Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll.

SERVICES SHORT AND SIMPLE.

selections From the Dond Orator's Writings Read by Old Time Friends. Old Servants Come From Washington to Honor Their Benefactor.

New York, July 26.-The funeral of the late Robert G. Ingersoil took place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Walston, Dobbs Ferry, where he died on Friday last. No clergyman was present to conduct the services; there was no music, and there were no pallbearers. The body lay on a cot in the room where he died. It was enshrouded in white, and just one red rose placed on his breast. About the cot were banks of floral tributes sent by friends, wreaths and bunches of blos-

Mrs. Ingersoil sat beside her dead, and beside her were her daughters, Mrs. Walston H. Brown and Miss Maud Ingersoll. They were very much agitated, and wept almost continuous-ly. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Farrell were present and Charles Broadway Rouss, Colonel Ingersolf's oldest friend, ocsupled a chair by the side of the bler. There were some 40 others present, and they remained standing through-

The Intense silence was broken by Dr. John Ciark Ridpath, who, in a oice full of emotion, said:

"My friends, it is a very sad duty to read in the presence of the dead the last poem written by Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll entitled, 'Declaration of the Free." This poem Colonel Ingersoll had read and altered in some of the parts only a few hours before he was Major O. J. Smith, who resides in Dobbs Ferry, and who was a close per-sonal friend of Colonel Ingersoil, then, without any preliminary words, read another extract from Colonel Ingeroll's writings, entitled "My Religion: "To love justice, to long for the right, to love mercy, to assist the weak, to forget wrongs and remember nefits-to love the truth, to be sinere, to utter honest words, to love iberty, to wage relentless war against slavery in all its forms, to love wife and child and friend, to make a happy home, to love the beautiful in art, in nature, to cultivate the mind, to be familiar with the mighty thoughts that genius had expressed the noble deeds of all the world, to cultivate courage and cheerfulness, to make others happy, to fill life with the splendor of generous acts, the warmth of loving words, to discard error, to destroy prejudice, to receive new truths with gladness, to cultivate hope, to see the calm beyond the storm, the dawn be-yond the night, to do the best that can be done and then be resigned, this is the religion of reason, the creed of science. This satisfies the brain and heart." Dr. John Elliott, of New York, read the funeral oration delivered by Colonel Ingersoll over his brother's dead body. This concluded the short and simple services. Nearly all present then took a parting look at the dead and passed out.

After they had gone Mr. Rouss arose from his chair, and as he is totally blind passed his hand over the face of Mrs. Ingersoll said to him: "The colonel wanted you to put your hand upon his heart," and suiting the action to the word, she directed his hand to the left breast of the deceased.

Mr. Rouss asked what she was going to do with the remains. cannot give him up," she said. "I cannot put him in the ground, 1 can't bear to think of it. We're going to bring him back home." The body will probably be taken to Fresh Pond, Long Island, tomorrow for cremation, but this arrangement is aubject to change. During the morning there were many visitors to look upon the face of the deceased. Among them were several old colored servants of family who had come from Washington and took four days off and paid their expenses to do honor to their benefactor. Among these were two benefactor. Among these were two former butlers of the family. One old man who was a baggageman on the railroad came from down on Long Island; others came from Chicago,

West Chester, Pa., July 26.—The cor-oner held an inquest yesterday over the remains of 16-year-old Stella Lewis, colored, who died on Friday under suspicious circumstances, and at its conclusion the jury rendered a verdict that the girl came to her death "as a result of poison administered to her by a person or persons unknown." The inquest was held at Lincoln University, a village near here, and a large crowd was present. It is expected that District Attorney MacElree will issue warrants for the arrest of the dead girl's father, Amos Lewis, and her

RETURNING KLONDIKERS.

Among the Party Is Mrs. Bons, the San Francisco, July 26.—The steamer Bertha arrived yesterday from St. Michael with 97 passengers and about $1,000,000 in gold. The largest amount owned by one person was $75,000. Of the 97 passengers only 35 bring out more than a few hundred dolars cash, while about 20 are without a cent. The purser says that there is wealth in the Cape Neme district, and declares that there is no truth in the stories of failure to find gold there. Details of the loss of the Bens ex-pedition are told by passengers. Out of a party of 17 people who left Port Townsend June 11, 1898, for Kotzebue Sound to prospect for gold only one survives, and that is Mrs. H. W. Bens, of Clay City, Ky. For 12 weeks she watched over her sick husband with no one to aid her, and when he died she was left alone in the wilderness. After walking nine miles she found a cabin, in which three fishermen were wintering. She became sick of scurvy, was tenderly cared for, and finally reached St. Michael's and took passage for San Francisco on the Bertha. She will go to Bay City, Mich., where sho has a mother, brother and sister,

A CHARTIED LIFE.

In a railroad accident the other day man sustained ten complete fractures of the bones of the limbs, three fractures of the pelvis, and a score of brutses, gashe and sprains, and yet he is recovering. Me and women sometimes withstand great physi-cal violence, but suc-cumb to the invisible germs of consumption

—so small that they can be seen only under a powerful microscope The starting point of consumption is in the stomach, which, when deranged, makes bad blood because diges-tion is not perfect, and in bad blood the microbes multiply and Sooner or flourish. later the lungs are at-tacked, and in the weak spots the germs begin their deally work of tearing down the tis-sues. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery stops the encroachments of con sumption microbes. It builds up and fortifies the whole system by aiding the stomach in its many functions. It assists in the proper assimilation of food. This scientific remedy cures lingering coughs bronchitis, biceding at the lungs, and every other symptom that eventually leads to consumption. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. V., who makes this wonderful medicine, gives free, fatherly advice to all who write him.

"Last spring I was taken with severe pains in my chest, and was so weak I could hardly walk about the house," says Mrs. G. E. Kerr, of Fort Dodge, Webster Co. Inwa. "I tried several physicians and they told me I had consumption, on the last might brush it over and perhaps live a good many years. I heard of Dr. Fierce's Golden Medical Discovery and I thought I would ray some of it. Defore I had taken the first bottle I was very much better. I took five bottles of it and have not yet had any return of the trouble. I have also taken Dr. Fierce's Favorite Prescription and "Hemant Pellets" with good results."
