OUR COUNTRY: First, Last and Forever.

If the taxpayers of Schuylkill county are alive to their own interests they will make sure of the election of Frank Kantner, the only member of the present Board of Commissioners up for reelection.

If, in addition to requisite circulation, the paper by years of rigid adherence to principle and strict regard for the trustworthiness of all that appears in its columns have won the confidence of the reading public, then the merchant will make no mistake in selecting it as the agency with which to arouse the public to a mutually profitable interest in his business.

The decision of Judge Gunster, of Lackawanna county, that the giving of passes to Connelmen by street railway companies is unconstitutional and in the nature of a bribe, and granting an injunction restraining the exercise of franchise by virtue of an ordinance upon the passage of which the giving of passes to members of Council may have had an influence, is well calculated to cause surprise and will undoubtedly result largely in a change of methods.

The Rise in Prices.

The increase in the cost of living is beginning to attract general attention and is eliciting various explanations, comments the North American. The rise in prices is general. Meat, salt, carpets, print cloths, hardware, coal and other staples have gone up so much within the last few months that the movement cannot be ignored.

But may we not be feeling the effect of another influence, more general still? Is not the enormous increase in the world's production of gold within the last few years bringing us into such another period of rising prices as followed the discovery of America, and later the development of the mines of California and Australia?

To say that prices have gone up is simply another way of saying that the value of money has gone down. And how could it be expected that the value of money would fall to go down when the volume of gold added annually to the world's stock has doubled in six years?

If it turns out that the downward tendency of prices, which was Mr. Bryan's chief stock in trade in 1896, has been not only checked but reversed by the production of gold, will not a campaign for the free coinage of silver be carried on under considerably greater disadvantages next year than before?

STEAMER'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

While Battling With the Storm Fire Breaks Out.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 21.—The steamship Kansas City which reached here yesterday, 50 hours overdue, had a thrilling experience. The ship encountered the West Indian storm off Cape Hatteras and battled it for two days. Captain Fisher said it was the severest storm he had ever encountered. The Kansas City was driven 100 miles off her course seaward. During that time the 50 passengers on board had a trying experience. The saloon was flooded, the passengers were wet, had ragged and sick, some of the women were hysterical and some of the men not much better. The doors and windows were battered, but every moment during the fiercest of the storm it was feared the skylights would be broken in and let the waves through.

At one time the danger of fire was added to the horror of the storm and the accident resulted. Seeing that from the fury of all the elements, Friday morning the electric light wires set fire to the casing in the after companion way. The fire worked its way along the casing to the main saloon. The alarm was given and the call to quarters was sounded. The steam was shut at its height, but the crew responded quickly to the call and the fire was subdued. The only casualties were to the captain and first officer, the former injured by a fall and the latter internally injured by being thrown to the deck.

Others badly, but not fatally injured are: Mrs. Julia Moshlin, of Norrisstown, and Miss Alice McGuigan, of Philadelphia, who are also in the hospital. The railway is a single track road with switches. GERMAN BEET SUGAR.

Better For America to Buy German Produce Than Sugar From Java.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Baron Von Herman, agricultural expert of the German embassy, is just back from a two months' visit to Germany, during which period he had opportunity to note the development of the agrarian movement which is having such a marked influence on German affairs, including the question of exporting German beet sugar to the United States.

Concerning the agrarian movement Baron Von Herman said: "It is very strong and is turning its attention to the interests of the agricultural classes of Germany. The sugar question is essentially an agrarian one. Our sugar interests are seriously injured by the tax and countervailing duties in the American tariff law, and the agrarians hold that this not only prejudices their industry, but that it is a discrimination against them. In the final analysis it comes down to this simple question: Shall there be a development of the cane industry of uncivilized, semi-barbarous countries, or shall there be a continued use of the sugar products of civilized countries, which are able to buy something in return. As the United States does not produce the sugar actually required by consumers, a supply must come from some outside source. Now, is it not to the interest of this country to buy of the German producers, rather than turn to the cane industries of Java, for example, when Java can give little or no return for the purchases made of her?"
