REPUBLICANS TO MEET.

Will Effect an Organization This Evening For Campaign Work.

The Republicans of Shenandoah are not only working harmoniously for the success of the county ticket but they propose taking off their coats and rolling up a full party vote in November. With a view to perfecting a thorough organization, the Republican Executive Committee, John F. Schaeffer, has called a meeting for this evening, at 7:30 o'clock, in Robb's hall. All Republican voters, especially the ward workers and those who take an interest in political matters, are urgently requested to attend and lend their assistance and encouragement. It is hoped and confidently believed there will be a full attendance. It is likely that arrangements will also be made for the reception of Colonel Barnett, the Republican candidate for State Treasurer, upon his visit to this county. As now arranged Shenandoah is one of the few towns in the county that Barnett will visit.

Points.
Rev. W. H. Zwegg, of Gilberton, county chairman of the Prohibition party, yesterday filed with the County Commissioners the nominations made for county offices at the recent county convention held at Gilberton. The names of the nominees have been published.

Democratic candidates Depew, Brennan, Adam and Carey left yesterday for a two-day trip through northern and northeastern Schuylkill. From now till election day it will be a continual jump for all county candidates.

Dr. George W. Kennedy, of Pottsville, has been appointed a member of the State Pharmaceutical Board, by Governor Stone. Dr. Kennedy and the Governor are lifelong friends. In the appointment of Kennedy the Governor ignored the wishes of the prominent men of the party in this county. The latter endorsed and strongly urged the appointment of P. W. Houck, of town, who was also endorsed by the Pharmaceutical Society of this county. The appointment is by no means satisfactory to the Republicans of Schuylkill county.

Horace F. Reber, the Republican candidate for County Commissioner, was in town for a few hours last evening, and created a most favorable impression in his behalf. Mr. Reber is at present one of the efficient clerks in the Commissioners' office, and has a wide acquaintance. He was here on private business but expects to make a thorough canvass of this section of the county before election.

Prize for Dr. Langton.
The regular monthly meeting of the Schuylkill County Medical Society was held in Seaman's hall, Pottsville, yesterday. The attendance was larger than usual. The only paper read was that of Dr. D. J. Langton, of town, whose topic was "How I Use Some Medicines." The paper occasioned much favorable comment and the older members of the society declared it one of the best papers they had heard in years.

A Good Attraction.
Mr. Dan J. Ferguson, manager of Ferguson's theatre, this morning received the following telegram from T. H. Waiser, manager of the Grand Opera House, Hazleton: "Carl A. Haaswin's 'A Lion's Heart' company is the best attraction I have had this season. They deserve big business." The play referred to will be produced at Ferguson's theatre tomorrow night.

Corps Inspection.
Mrs. Sarah Metcalf, of Sunbury, this afternoon inspected the local corps of the Women's Relief Society, yesterday. The Grand Army of the Republic, in Schmidt's hall. ## BOROUGH AFFAIRS!

The Board of Health Threatens Council With Prosecution.

SEWERAGE CAUSES TROUBLE!

Council Prepares to Take Steps That Will Involve Co-operation, or Trouble For Many Property Owners. Arbitrators Chosen in a Suit Against the Borough.

Last night Health Officer Conroy served a written notice upon William McGuire, president of the Borough Council, that if the sewerage nuisance in the basement of the borough building is not abated within 24 hours or work in that direction is not started, he will enter prosecution against the members of Council for maintaining a public nuisance and failing to discharge their duty in abating it. This action is taken under direction of the Board of Health and advice of its solicitor, M. M. Burke, Esq. The council members that he has given several notices for abatement of the nuisance.

The Council has been considering measures to comply with the notice, but wants to first get the property owners interested to sign an agreement to pay their pro rata share, and the delay has been due to the perfecting of this part of the arrangements.

The service of the notice caused the street committee to hold a consultation today with Borough Solicitor Burke, with the result that an agreement was drawn up and placed in the hands of Councilman Boehm with the intention of having it signed by the property owners connected with the sewer connection. Each of these property owners will be required to pay a price for connection. It is believed that the steps taken and to be pursued will result in staying the Health Officer's action.

The sewer complained of was constructed by the borough sewerage works, the purpose of the borough building. From time to time property owners connected with the sewer until now the sewer is insufficient to take all that is drained into it, and the present Councilmen find themselves threatened with prosecution for a nuisance incurred by the sewerage works. It is said that thirty or more property owners are connected with the sewer and some paid a cent for the privilege or ask permission from Council to make the connection.

Under the action taken by the Board of Health the Borough Council is now compelled to take these property owners step by step to the cashier's desk. A larger sewer will be put in and all now having connection with the present line, and who do not put down the price for connection, will be left off. It is expected that the connection fees will cover the expense the borough will be put to in the work.

In a discussion of the case today an amusing incident was recalled. A few days ago one of the property owners connected with the sewer was seeking evidence to bring suit against the borough for damages because the sewer was too small and caused drainage to flow back into his cellar. Investigation showed that the connection had been made with the sewer without payment of a fee, or request for permission from the Borough Council.

ABITRATORS APPOINTED.
In the case of the Tamaqua Manufacturing Company against the Borough of Shenandoah, which is brought to recover for iron work installed and the vessel sold by Hon. T. H. R. Lyon and John Dolphin, Esq., of Mahanoy City, have been chosen as arbitrators, and they will sit next Wednesday to hear evidence.

The Famous are headquarters for the celebrated Rossmore hat, the best for the money in America.

The Minstrels.
A large audience was in attendance at Ferguson's theatre last night to witness the performance of the Shoppe Bros. Minstrels. While there were some very pleasing features in it, the entertainment as a whole was not as successful as those given by the same organization. The withdrawal of the burlesque at the last moment was a sore disappointment to the audience. This step was taken in deference to protests made by some sensitive Councilmen. The opening scene of the entertainment elicited warm applause.

The arrangements were a representation of the deck of the battleship Oregon and it was very effective. The minstrels were attired as sailors and the orchestra was arranged on the top of the turret, from which protruded three rather realistic guns. There were two gun attendants and two boys occupied positions in the fighting rig. The scene was well rendered and the vocal solos by Harry L. Goldie, Harry Tempest, Billy Jenkins, Edward Cooper and John D. Jenkins were deservedly applauded. Lowrey and Jenkins took the lead in provoking mirth and their sketch "Guess What It Is," which bubbled with local hits, caught the audience.

Our Peace Jubilee was effectively rendered by a quartette composed of Messrs. Cooper, Mallick, Phillips and Hall. The singing and dancing by Cleary and Keogh was an artistic piece of work and Harry Tempest's descriptive baritone solo was impressive. McDonald and Gibbons credited their amusement to the executive bank and wing dancing. These two boys will be capital comedians some day. The performance closed with a farce in which Lowrey and Jenkins introduced a witty and laughter provoking dialogue.

Right of Way Granted.
The Town Council of Mahanoy City last evening granted rights of way to two independent telephone companies—The Schuylkill and the Equitable. This means cheaper telephone service. Pottsville is the one town that has not granted the right of way to these companies. The committee of Pottsville's Council has heard representatives of these companies, but notwithstanding this the committee merely reported progress at the regular meeting last evening.

"A Lion's Heart."
"A Lion's Heart," the great scenic melodrama of the season, will be produced at Ferguson's theatre to-morrow evening in all its captivating completeness and on a scale of magnitude superior to any melodrama that has been seen for years. The play tells an intensely thrilling story of the conflict between villainy and virtue. The audience never takes its attention from the stage and at times is held spellbound. There is an ample amount of comedy running through the several scenes, which brightens the more emotional and sensational parts. Mr. Carl A. Haaswin, as Pierre Ricardo, has a part that fits him well. He is ably supported.

DEWEY'S SWORD

Presented to the Hero of Manila by President McKinley.

OVERCOME BY HIS EMOTION.

The Brave Admiral Shed Tears During the Ceremony.

HIS GRATEFUL SPEECH OF THANKS.

Another Day of Continuous Overtures For the Man Who Destroyed a Spanish Fleet Without Losing a Man or a Gun—The "Men Behind the Guns" Also Receive a Liberal Share of the Plaudits—Rear Admiral Schley, Too, is Enthusiastically Greeted.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The culmination of Admiral Dewey's triumphant home coming was reached yesterday in the shadow of the dome of the national Capitol. Here he received from the hands of the president the magnificent jeweled sword voted him by congress in commemoration of the victory of Manila bay. This was the official provocation for the ceremony. But more official sanction could never have thrown into the demonstration the fervor of enthusiasm that was meted out to the admiral as he appeared before the vast audience, composed not only of all the highest officials in the land, but of spectators drawn from every corner of the states.

The battle of Manila bay was not forgotten, but it might be said to have been relegated almost to second place in the desire to do honor to the man who had proven himself as great a victor as before it, and who had shown in the long and trying months that followed his naval triumph the qualities of a statesman and a wise administrator as well as those of the fighting leader of a victorious fleet. And enhancing these qualities was that of manly modesty, displayed in the quiet dignity with which he met the occasion.

The Admiral's Modesty.
This trait of Dewey's character was evidenced from the moment he reached the stand side by side with the president. He paused at this point for a moment, apparently unwilling to take the place that had been prepared for him on the right of the platform, lest he should appear to usurp the place due to the chief magistrate. President McKinley grasped the situation in an instant and taking his great sea captain by the arm placed him by gentle force in the chair that had been intended for him. Later in the day, as the carriages bearing the official party drove away from the Capitol between walls of cheering people, the president again displayed his tact by remaining covered and ignoring the demonstration himself, leaving the acknowledgments to the admiral alone.

The admiral was escorted by Chairman Moses, of the local reception committee, from the home of Mrs. McLean to the White House, accompanied by an escort of police and the Marine band. Captain Lambertson and Lieutenant Brumby and Caldwell followed in another carriage. Admiral Dewey, who was dressed in his full uniform, received a continuous ovation throughout his ride to the White House, which was continued when, accompanied by the president, he was escorted by the great parade to the Capitol.

It was a magnificent and inspiring sight as the parade swung into Pennsylvania avenue. At the head of the line rode Major General Nelson A. Miles, in the full uniform of his rank, with the yellow field marshal's sash draped beneath the engine the mangled remains of the brakeman, who, while not yet identified, is supposed to be James Dennion, of Weatherly. He is supposed to have been riding home from Packerton when the accident occurred. Engineer Burkirk, another of the injured, is not expected to live.

The Overtures to the Hero.
And then, Dewey! All that had gone before was but a brilliant prelude to the coming of the man of Manila, riding with the president, on his way to the Capitol to receive the nation's tribute. They were in the president's private carriage, seated on the rear seat, the president on the right. What an ovation! From end to end the avenue rang with deafening cheers and the banks of humanity took on life and motion, as flags and handkerchiefs were waved madly.

Following the admiral came the officers and men of his flagship, the Olympia, in double ranks, stretching across the avenue, and the distinguished members of the cabinet rode in carriages. With them, also, in the several carriages rode Captain Lambertson, Flag Lieutenant Brumby and others of the admiral's staff.

Still another brilliant division was formed by the governors of states, mounted and accompanied by their staffs. At the head rode Governor Edward C. Smith, of Vermont, the native state of Dewey, with a numerous staff, brilliantly uniformed. Then came Governors Powers of Maine, Wolcott of Massachusetts, Atkinson of West Virginia, Tyler of Virginia, Pingree of Michigan, and Lowndes of Maryland, each with his staff.

The admiral was half an hour ahead of time in reaching the capitol. During the wait he and his captains retired to the room of the vice president, and then the distinguished company walked to the stand erected for the occasion. Here the exercises were opened by prayer by Rev. Dr. Bristol, the president's pastor, followed by a brief introductory address by Ross Perry, who introduced Secretary Long. The secretary's address was brilliantly eulogistic, and as he concluded he
