DEWEY IN NEW ENGLAND

He Lays the Corner Stone of Dewey Hall at Northfield, Vt.

TRIUMPHAL JOURNEY TO BOSTON

Through New Hampshire and Massachusetts to the Hub of the Universe His Trip Was a Continuous Ovation. His Arrival in Boston.

Northfield, Vt., Oct. 14.—The little village of Northfield, in the very heart of the Green Mountain state, and the home of Norwich university, at which Admiral Dewey, as a cadet, was graduated in the principles of military training, yesterday greeted the famous naval officer. The occasion was the laying of the corner stone of Dewey Hall, a building made possible by volunteer contributions by the alumni of the university.

The corner stone exercises took place behind the main hall, in the platform a large number of invited guests were seated. The exercises began with an introductory address by Commander Brown, president of the university, who introduced Colonel Henry O. Kent, of Lancaster, N. H., senior member of the board of trustees of the university, and a classmate of the admiral. Colonel Kent delivered an address of welcome.

Commander Brown then welcomed Admiral Dewey, and the admiral stepped forward and laid the corner stone. As he spread the mortar and the stone was being set, he now declares this stone duly and truly laid and according to my wish.

Chauncey M. Depew, United States senator-elect of New York, then delivered the oration of the day, after which there was a short reception and then the admiral and the others of his party were escorted to his train, which started at once for Boston, where another elaborate welcome awaits him.

DEWEY ARRIVES IN BOSTON.

Journey Through New Hampshire and Massachusetts an Ovation.

Boston, Oct. 14.—Admiral Dewey's journey from Northfield to this city was a continuous ovation. As the train rumbled through New Hampshire the enthusiasm increased, as the crowds were larger. Factories along the track blew their whistles, fire bells were rung and torpedoes were continually exploded along the track. At all the stations the train ran slowly and the admiral and Governor Rogers stood on the platform, bowing right and left.

As the train passed from New Hampshire to Massachusetts territory the Massachusetts representatives went into the admiral's car and were introduced by Governor Rollins, who turned the guest over to the care of Massachusetts. At Lowell the crowd was larger than any yet seen. From Lowell to Boston it seemed as if the tracks were lined with people, so continual was the cheering.

The train pulled into the Union station in New York at 6:05 p. m. to find there a terrific jam of humanity. Fully 25,000 people were crowded in and around the station, and in the rush to get a look at the hero he was well nigh carried off his feet. He was met by Mayor Quincy and a delegation representing the Mome Market club, the chamber of commerce and other municipal bodies. The admiral rode at the head of a column of 10,000 war veterans through the city's principal downtown streets to the Hotel Touraine, which will be his home during his three days' stay. The admiral's quarters were the Naval Veterans, and the chamber of commerce posts of the Massachusetts department of the Grand Army and Spanish war veterans. All the streets were profusely decorated, and crowds lined the sidewalks. Red fire was burned lavishly.

The admiral after dinner witnessed a display of fireworks on Boston common from his apartments in the hotel, and retired soon after. Today he will have an arduous day, as he will attend many functions.

Bank Robbers Ambushed.

Sevierville, Tenn., Oct. 14.—An attempt by three masked men to rob the Sevierville bank yesterday resulted disastrously for all of them. William Derrick was killed, William Thurmer fatally wounded and Cal Derrick slightly wounded. About noon three masked men, armed with Winchester and braces of heavy Colt's pistols, began firing into the open door of the bank. Officers, who had been warned, had secreted themselves in a building opposite the bank, and the fire of the outlaws was promptly answered by a fusillade. Thurmer, the leader of the robbers, dropped to the ground mortally wounded. Cal Derrick fell seriously wounded. The third man, William Derrick, fled, but being pursued shouted "good-bye, boys," placed his pistol to his head and blew out his brains. Thurmer cannot live.

The Sixth Fluke.

New York, Oct. 14.—Lack of wind and a white fog yesterday lengthened the unprecedented record of flukes in the cup contest to six. As on Tuesday, the yachts did not leave their anchorages inside Sandy Hook. It was useless to make another attempt in such weather. Everybody is disgusted. The patience of the public is almost exhausted. From 50,000 who went out on the first day the crowds have dwindled until it is perfectly safe to say that less than 5,000 people were about yesterday. The outlook was so gloomy from a money making standpoint that some of the excursion boats which sold tickets for the series were trying to redeem them, with the intention of abandoning their excursions altogether.

INGHAM AND NEWITT

Testify in Their Own Defense in the Alleged Bribery Case.

INGHAM DENOUNCES WILKIE.

Declares that the Chief of the Secret Service is a Liar—Newitt Describes Employing Detective McManus to Run Down Alleged Conspirators.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—In the Ingham-Newitt trial yesterday a dramatic encounter occurred during the cross examination, in which Mr. Ingham, who was on the stand, and United States District Attorney Beck were the participants. Mr. Ingham replied hotly to Mr. Beck's queries about a publication in 1896 in which Mr. Ingham was said to have offered a member of the legislature $5,000 to vote for Beck's re-election for United States senator. He indignantly denied the accusation.

Mr. Ingham gave an explanation of the telegraphic code that is in evidence, saying it was about the hiring of a detective. He denied having said to John E. Wilkie, chief of the secret service on the day of his arrest, "My God, I wish I knew what you know," as Mr. Wilkie had testified. "When he says I wanted to know what he knew," said Mr. Ingham, "by God, he lies."

As he said this he gazed straight into the eyes of the secret service chief, who looked at him steadily. Mr. Ingham then thrust the matter through the mails of the ordeal of cross examination. Mr. Beck sought to get him to admit that he knew the secret service man to have been employed by the government in other cases. In answer to the district attorney's queries Mr. Ingham said he had no correspondence with Kendig and Jacobs and had not introduced Newitt to Kendig as the man who hired McManus, who was alleged to have been secured to do detective work to puncture a conspiracy against Jacobs and Kendig.

Mr. Newitt followed Mr. Ingham on the stand. Mr. Newitt related the story told him by Mr. Ingham which Kendig had repeated to his law partner concerning the alleged conspiracy to ruin the business of Jacobs & Kendig. When Mr. Ingham spoke to him about the services of a detective he thought of Secret Service operative McManus, who he said, had offered him for private detective work. He saw McManus relative to taking up the subject of ferreting out the alleged conspirators, and McManus, Mr. Newitt said, accepted the work, placing the cost for services at $1,500. Mr. Newitt said he thought the charge excessive, but McManus told him that it would be necessary to employ other detectives. He finally agreed to accept $1,000. Mr. Newitt then detailed the circumstances of the two $500 payments to McManus.

Mr. Newitt said he met Mr. Manus several times at a certain restaurant, and on the second occasion he reported good work on the part of the United States agent. He had employed to assist him. Defendant said McManus told him on one occasion that three business rivals of Jacobs and Kendig were surely in the conspiracy to ruin the two men.

"I told Mr. McManus," continued Mr. Newitt, "that my business was anxious about April 22. On that day several discounted notes would be due, and if there was any danger of the conspirators acting we would proceed against them on the evidence so far secured. At this interview I told McManus to come to my office on March 30. It was on that date I paid him the second $500. He hurried out, saying he would send a receipt for it and a report of his investigation as soon as he returned.

"I went to Atlantic City the next day, which was Good Friday, and did not get down to business until a week from the following Monday. I looked over my mail, and finding no receipt or report from McManus, I dictated a letter to my typewriter and sent it by messenger to McManus, asking why he had not kept his promise. This was on April 11. On April 13 I met McManus on the street and asked him if he had received my letter. He said he had and would send me a full report in a week.

"On the 19th of April I was on my way to court, where I was counsel in a case, and was met on the street by Owen Owen, of the secret service, who handed me an envelope containing the decoy letter in the meantime my case had been decided and I left the court with my client.

"Returning to my office I began copying the decoy letter. McManus called me on the telephone and said he wanted to see me at a hotel. I copied the remainder of the letter and proceeded to the place appointed. Meeting McManus, I asked him what the letter meant. He said he did not know. I then asked him if he had told Chief Wilkie that he had been employed by me, and he said no. I suggested that we present the matter to United States District Attorney Beck. McManus agreed, but said that Mr. Beck would be engaged in court until after 4 o'clock, and we decided to wait until that time.

"I told Mr. McManus that I did not think Mr. Beck would issue warrants for these highly respectable persons on such evidence as the letter (decoy) contained."

Mr. Newitt concluded by saying that while he and McManus were still in conversation and were walking along the street together he was arrested.

Cleveland Soldiers Stranded.

Cleveland, Oct. 14.—Word has been received that the 200 Cleveland soldiers of the Fourteenth regiment, just returned from the Philippines, are stranded in San Francisco, their pay, which was given them in Manila, having been spent. The plan was to have them come to this city in a body, and preparations have been under way for some time to give them a handsome reception. An effort is being made to raise the $1,200 necessary to bring them home.

Everybody's liable to itching piles. Rich and poor, old and young—terrible the torture they suffer. Only one cure. Doan's Ointment. Absolutely safe; can't fail.

THREE AMERICANS KILLED

And Two Wounded in a Battle With Filipinos.

Manila, Oct. 14.—Major Cheatham, with a scouting party, while proceeding along the west shore of the lake on Thursday encountered a force of rebels strongly entrenched at Muntinlupa. Major Cheatham reports that he drove the rebels from their position, and that in the engagement three Americans were killed and two were wounded. Rumors are in circulation in Manila that Major Cheatham discovered three American prisoners, who had been bound, gagged and shot by the insurgents. These rumors, however, are not confirmed.

One Santiago, a lieutenant of the native police, has been arrested and lodged in jail, his subordinate having reported to the authorities that he was endeavoring to enlist them in a plot to turn the police against the Americans in the event of an uprising.

Reports having reached the provost marshal that arms were concealed at the headquarters of the Dominican friars, a large building adjoining the palace, a detachment of soldiers made a search of the building. They found a small stock of Mausers, revolvers and ammunition, which was confiscated, despite the protests of the friars that the arms were not intended for unlawful use.

General Schwan, with the infantry, has reached Bacoor. The troops are greatly exhausted, having had one of the hardest marches of the campaign. From Malabon to Perez das Marinas they marched through roads that were almost impassable through the mud of the rains. General Schwan, at Perez das Marinas, the Philippines had deserted the town upon learning of the approach of the Americans, leaving only the women and children behind.

Porto Rico Editor Sentenced.

Ponce, Porto Rico, Oct. 14.—The United States provisional court and a jury of prominent natives yesterday convicted Isaca Diaz, editor of El Combate, formerly La Bomba, which General Guy Henry suppressed, of sending obscene matter through the mails. Diaz was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment, with a fine of $500. El Combate has been strongly anti-American in its policy. This was the first trial by such juries in the islands.

Our Exports and Imports.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The monthly statement of the imports and exports of merchandise of the United States during the month of September, 1899, together with the increase or decrease as compared with September, 1898, shows as follows: Dutiable merchandise imported, $29,425,521, an increase of about $10,000,000. Domestic merchandise exported, $109,133,947, an increase of $19,500,000. The exports of merchandise during the last nine months are shown to have exceeded the imports by $76,606,787.
