Deputy Coroner Cardin Obliged to Call Upon Police.

OPPOSED AN AUTOPSY.

Stein went to No. II North Bridge street has night for the purpose of holding an autopay upon Carl Wissotakl, who died on Tuesday night, and had quite an experience. The Board of Health refused to lame a herial permit in the absence of a certificate of death. There was no physician in attendance and Deputy Coroner Cardin would issue no certificate without first holding an autopay. Upon arriving at the place stated, the houin which the deceased, who was a single man boarded, the Deputy Coroner and Dr. Steb were confronted by a woman who was de-termined that no autopsy should be held. When Constable Bolin addressed her sho weight a lump of ice to throw at him, but it was too cold to hold long enough to take aim and she dropped it. The Deputy saw that heroic measures were neces sary to deal with the woman, so he sent Constable Rolln for police assistance and the officer returned to the house with Policeum Murphy, Poyle, Malinly and Hand As the police stood on guard and kept the trouble-some woman at bay the surepey was prosome of her friends succeeded in causing her to change her mind.
