THE COAL DALE MURDER CASE ON.

Pottsville, Nov. 16.—George Marzen, aged 35 years, was placed on trial before Judge Henning this morning, charged with the murder of Michael Szeruck, of Coal Dale, on May 25, 1895, by stabbing him in a vital part.

The victim lived until the next morning, but Marzen ran away and was not arrested until about six weeks ago, after he had returned and located at Lansford, Constable William Whilden, of Lansford, made the arrest.

The first witness called was Justice George Hughes, of Coal Dale. He identified the knife used.

A. C. Thomas, a Lansford merchant, said the accused had confided in the lockup that he killed the victim, but that he did it in self-defense.

Michael Donie, a fellow boarder of the prisoner, testified that the knife produced before the prisoner and the latter kept in his trunk. He testified that on the night of the assault and said he understood the prisoner was in it, although he did not see him.

The witness was at another light inside the house. The case is still on.

A Shenandoah chicken stealing case was called before Judge Henning this morning. Chief of Police Murphy testified to the arrest of Joseph Rikiewicz by Watchman Greary, and the latter told how he arrested the accused and (his Bolso, who has since run away). Greary swore Bolso snatched a revolver from him and the officer fired a shot into the air to scare the men. The men had a bag containing six chickens and came from the direction of St. Nicholas, where fowl had been stolen from one Andrew Paks. The latter testified the chickens were worth $15.
