PROWLING ROBBERS.

They Perform Acrobatic Feats in Several Back Yards. At about midnight Saturday three men attempted to force an entrance to the rear of Edward Early's saloon at the corner of Oak street and Pear alley. A noise they made in trying to force a window awake a neighbor, Michael Parreel. He heard one of the men say to the one at work at the window "— it, if you are too slow. We won't get anything to-night if you don't get a move on yourself." At this Parreel shouted for the police and the robbers ran off.

At 4:30 yesterday morning Purcell, who resides on Pear alley, midway between Oak and Centre streets, was awakened by a noise in the yard at the rear of his residence. He saw three men jump over the fence from his yard to the yard at the rear of Mrs. Friedlander's residence, on South Jardin street, then into the yard of Mrs. Walsh's residence. Here they were encountered by a dog, which started barking vociferously and one of the men broke a clothes line prop over the animal's back. As the dog ran off, yelping, the robbers jumped over the fence into the yard at the rear of Mrs. Stetler's residence, from which place they ran back to Pear alley and made their escape without being identified.

BRECHMANN'S PILLS—No equal for Constipation. A DOOMED MULE. It Was Carried Down by a Cave-in on a Highway. John Dixon, of Lost Creek No. 2 had a remarkable experience Saturday afternoon, while driving a team of mules with a wagon from Packer No. 3 to Packer No. 2 colliery. When Dixon was near the latter place a cave-in of the surface took place, carrying down a part of the highway. One of the mules slipped down with the earth, but secured a hold with its forelegs upon the brink of the cavity and remained suspended there. Dixon and several men tried to get the unfortunate animal out of its predicament, but were unable to do so, and, as a last resort, it was decided to cut the harness. The mule slid to the bottom of the breach and was smothered to death by the earth that fell upon it. The carcass remains in the breach.

Brookway Course. On Thursday evening the Brookway Entertainment Bureau will give the second of their series of concerts in Ferguson's theatre. The Famous Ariel Ladies' Sextette will be here to entertain the large audience that will welcome them. The press of Eaton has the following to say of the company: "The Ariel Ladies' Sextette (the Smith sisters) opened the Brookway entertainment course at Abe's Opera House Saturday evening and gave one of the best entertainments of the kind ever heard in this city. The audience was simply carried away by the vocal selections, which were of a high order. The chorus work of these six sisters was the finest we have ever heard. Miss Gertrude Smith's rich soprano voice was heard to splendid advantage, and Miss Grace Smith's contralto showed her splendid vocal training. The select readings by Miss Marguerite Smith established her as a favorite with the audience at once and her impersonations of children were remarkably true to nature. This young lady was the recipient of several encores that were well deserved, as were also the vocal soloists, who delighted all who heard them."

SHOT AT CAVITE.

Centralia Boy Claims the Distinction of Being Hit First by Filipinos.

Thomas H. Langdon, of Centralia, claims the distinction of being the first American soldier to be wounded by Filipino bullets in the war in the Philippines. He joined the U. S. army three years ago last April and when the Spanish-American war broke out was sent with his regiment, Fourth Cavalry, Tropic Co. to the Philippines.

After the war was over with Spain he was assigned to duty at Cavite and participated in seven battles against the Filipinos. During the third "scrap" August 24, 1898, he was hit nine times while at an outpost and was the first soldier wounded. All of his wounds were slight, but they kept him on crutches for many weeks.

At Cavite he assisted a Spanish prisoner to escape from the Filipinos in a casual manner and was rewarded by the Spaniard with a valuable stone set ring. The young soldier's term of enlistment expired last April, and he reached his Centralia home two months ago.
