AN OFFICER SHOT.

David Reinhold, of Tamaqua, the Victim of a Tramp's Revolver.

Tamaqua, Nov. 22.—At 9:30 o'clock last night three men entered Lawrence Koenig's saloon, on West Broad street, and called for drinks. After being served one of the trio, a tall, muscular man of trampish appearance, approached William Hart and demanded that he order the bartender to furnish a lunch. This Hart refused to do and the stranger drew a revolver. Meantime Koenig rushed to the door and shouted for help. The stranger rushed at and struck him. The blow felled Koenig to the door. The stranger then aimed his revolver at Koenig and fired, but the bullet missed the prostrate man and embedded itself in the wall. The stranger and his two companions then hurried from the saloon and ran along the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad tracks toward the fine kiln.

At eleven o'clock Chief of Police David Reinhold, Officer Louis Kleckner, Constable Christ, Walters and Michael Marketall, a special officer, went in search of the three strangers. The last two named officers went out the public highway and Reinhold and Kleckner went along the railroad. Walters and Marketall reached the fine kiln first. As they approached it, they were confronted by four men with drawn revolvers, who asked the business of the officers. Walters replied that he and his friend wanted to warn themselves at the kiln. The answer appeared to be satisfactory to the strangers, but at that moment Reinhold and Kleckner approached. One of the four strangers was the man who created the disturbance in Koenig's saloon. This man at once recognized Reinhold as an officer and drew his revolver and fired. He was about six yards from Reinhold at the time. The bullet took effect in the left side of Reinhold's breast, about two inches below the heart.

As the weapon was discharged, the man who used it slipped and fell and Marketall immediately pounced upon him. Reinhold stooped over the prostrate tramp and took the revolver from him. Notwithstanding the nature of his wound, Reinhold, who is tall, powerful man, took charge of the prisoner and placed him in the lockup. Meanwhile, the other three strangers made their escape, but one of them surrendered after a chase. Officer Walters fired two shots after the other two fleeing men and thinks one of them was shot in the leg.

This morning the two prisoners were given a hearing before Justice Stiffelio. The man who shot Reinhold said his name was Hugh Gallagher and gave his residence as "nowhere." The other prisoner is William R. Ladue, claiming Canada as his place of residence. Both men were committed to the Pottsville jail. Policeman Reinhold's condition is serious.

James McGuinness, a third member of the tramp party, was arrested at noon today at Honesdale, three miles from Tamaqua. Policeman Reinhold's condition was a little improved this afternoon and he was resting easier than he did last night and this morning.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE.

Many Witnesses Called in the Wm. Penn Murder Trial.

BLOOD THIRSTY DECLARATIONS.

One of the Accused Said Before the Murder That "After To-Night Meat Will Be Cheap"—Clothing Examined For Blood After Deed.—The Commonwealth Rests.

Pottsville, November 22.—Our report closed yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Eva Stenkawicz, a neighbor, on the stand. She testified as follows under further cross-examination: The men were going toward Rutkofski's home and not towards their own homes. I do not know if the men were drunk or sober and did not say so before the Coroner's inquest, except George Nokes, who walked as if he was drunk; he could not walk straight. I saw something sticking out of the pocket of John Stenkawicz, but do not know what it was; it looked like a piece of wood.

Before the Coroner's inquest, I said Rolis Buhnis had a hatchet under his coat and when the wind would blow I could see it. I do not know how he had it fixed, but I saw it right and the head was down, but do not know what held it. John Maltz, a tailor of Shenandoah, was sworn. He said Rutkofski was married to his niece; witness comes from Russia, Poland. That in this country Rutkofski belonged to a clan known as the Zukas and witness knows nearly all the defendants belong to a clan known as the Aprenokas to which the witness himself belongs. The Zukas are from the same country and state but from a different county or province than the Aprenokas.

On cross examination he said: In the old country the feeling between the two clans is about the same as the feeling would be here in this country between two different counties. Mary Zubenaki was the next witness. She lived three doors from the Rutkofski house on the other side of the street. I saw them all except Shutesha and Adam Romanaitis, Rolis and Thomas or Matt, Buhnis were also with them.

On cross examination he said: In the old country the feeling between the two clans is about the same as the feeling would be here in this country between two different counties. Mary Zubenaki was the next witness. She lived three doors from the Rutkofski house on the other side of the street. I saw them all except Shutesha and Adam Romanaitis, Rolis and Thomas or Matt, Buhnis were also with them.

Michulis walked up to my gate and said: "After to-night meat will be cheap." I said:

"What's it going to be, are you going to kill cows?" Michulis said "We're going to kill Zukas; there'll be bologna and throats."

She saw something hanging to Rolis Buhnis that looked like the handle of a hatchet. Mike Brozoski had a revolver in his hand and fired shots. She heard no threats made. Cross-examined by Attorney Knittle: I live near Wolons or Bolons house. Q. Weren't the men laughing and joking about this meat? A. I don't know if they were joking or meant what they said in truth.

Frank Zubenaki saw a crowd of 14 to 16 going toward Rutkofski's house. In the crowd were Kora, Rolis and Matt, Buhnis, Peter, John and Anthony Stenkawicz, Anthony Michulis, Mike Brozoski and Joe Zubenaki. Couldn't say who the others were. Charles Skutesha was not there. Brozoski fired three shots. Michulis said meat would be cheap and Kuras was "hollering" that Michulis was carrying the flag.

Nothing new was brought out on cross-examination, except that the witness was a Zukas.

Mike Zuback was sworn. He said: I live in Wm. Penn and saw the crowd that night. He saw some of the defendants and the two Buhnis brothers. Michulis said: "Let the Zukas come out of the house and we'll make bologna out of them."

Cross-examined: I live next to Zubenaki or Zagorenki.

Mrs. Eva Hlazo, a comely maiden, testified that she lived at Joseph Rutkofski's house and was related to him. She saw six of the defendants, Peter, Anthony and John Stenkawicz, Andrew Kora, Thomas and Rolis Buhnis about 8 o'clock that evening.

Q. Did you see any of these parties about 8 o'clock that evening? A. Yes, I saw Peter Stenkawicz at the gate.

Q. Did you hear any stones thrown against the house? A. Yes, sir, I heard it three times.

Q. Did you hear any of these prisoners say anything about the Zukas that evening? A. I didn't hear them.

Q. Where were you at the time Rutkofski was struck and did you see him fall? A. I was looking through the front window when he fell.

Q. Was Andrew Kora there at the time? A. I couldn't see him; it was too dark.

Q. To other questions she answered Rolis Buhnis had a hatchet. I saw no other witnesses.

Cross-examined by Harry O. Bechtel for the defense. I did not see Amelia Schwonzer there; nor did I see Zagorenki there. I didn't know how many were on the street. I didn't count them. She said she didn't swear at the Coroner's inquest that she saw anybody.

Frank Winolis, the man referred to sometimes as Bolons, was sworn. He saw a big crowd come from the direction of Bender's hall. John Stenkawicz and Andrew Kora and Matt, Buhnis were among the crowd.

Q. Are you a Zukas? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you hear any threats made? A. Yes, they said they'd make bologna out of them. Cross-examined by Mr. Knittle: Q. Didn't you say here comes Kora, the big Indian, and his little monkey, Geo. Nokes? A. No, sir.

Q. Did he say anything like that? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you see Peter Stenkawicz take off his hat and say if he's the monkey we'll give pennies to him.

To other questions he answered: Kora said "I'm going to make bologna out of you and sell it for ten cents a pound." I said "go way boys and don't holler here."

Q. Then they went away, didn't they? A. Yes, sir.

Martie Kelly was sworn and answered: I was at Bender's house the afternoon of the murder. There was a big crowd there, but I did not know them all. I know Kora.

I was coming out from the toilet apartment when I met Kora and said to him "How is it you are looking for fight all the time?" Kora said "You never mind, Kelly; I kill no Englishman tonight, me kills a Poleander."

Cross-examined. Kora was under the influence of liquor.

Mrs. Amelia Schwonzer was recalled by the defense.

Q. By Mr. Knittle. Did you not swear at the Coroner's inquest that Andrew Kora was on his own porch across the street when Rutkofski was struck down.

A. No, sir.

Joseph Schmidt testified. I saw Joseph Rutkofski standing at his gate. Rolis Buhnis came along and caught me by the breast and said "Do you belong to the Zukas or the Aprenokas." I said, Brother I belong to no party, and don't want to fight. Then somebody hollered "Leave Jake Schmidt alone and fight among your own party."

Rolis Buhnis then said when I catch Frank Winolis I'll make bologna out of him. One Zukas has to go anyhow. That's all I know. It was about 7 o'clock in the evening.

Cross-examined: Q. Who did you understand him to mean; it was Winolis, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Objected to and question ruled out. John W. Connolly was sworn.

Q. Are you acquainted with any of the prisoners by sight? A. I know two or three of them by sight; I know Kora well.

To the other questions he answered: Kelly and I were together and I was trying to get Kelly away from them. Kora said "Never mind Kelly, we won't bother you, we're going to kill a Poleander to-night."

Cross-examined: The men were talking and laughing and were pushing each other down on the floor. When one was put down Bender would say "Another man dead."

Annie Porlavicz was sworn. She saw them come out of Bender's three by three, which each other "Brothers." Brozoski and John Stenkawicz were in the crowd. They met Joe Coshinski and Kora caught him by the breast and said "Are you a Zukas. If you're a man put up."

Q. They were going in the direction of Rutkofski's house.

Cross-examined by Mr. Knittle. They were also going in the direction of Kora's house and to other of the prisoner's houses.

A. They live in that direction.

At this time, 5 o'clock, court, by request of the District Attorney, adjourned to 9 o'clock Wednesday morning to give the Commonwealth's counsel an opportunity to consult with their witnesses. The defense also said they desired to confer with their witnesses. All witnesses, including those already examined, were ordered to be here Wednesday.

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The first witness this morning was Peter Michulis. He testified: I am acquainted with the prisoners, and saw some of them on September 24th, coming out of Bender's with the exception of Skutesha and Romanaitis. I was sitting across the street. Rolis Buhnis was with them and had an axe in his hand, which he placed under his seat coat. They went down the street about twenty yards, and toward Rutkofski's house. They stopped a couple of times before they got to the place; they halted at Frank Bolons' house and Kora asked Bolons to come out. They also said there'd be a dead Zukas that night. Bolons wouldn't come out. I heard them talk about making bologna out of somebody.

The witness identified the pictures of the houses at Wm. Penn and told where the prisoners boarded. He saw Andrew Kora strike the axe on a stone near the Bolons gate.

Cross-examined by Mr. Knittle: Q. You saw a Zukas, arn't you? A. I'm a Lithuanian; I don't know what Zukas are.

To other questions he answered: They were going one way and Tom (Matt) Buhnis hollered: "Hey! come up this way." and they turned.

Q. They were singing, laughing and joking, weren't they? A. They weren't singing. They were talking about making bologna out of somebody.

Q. Were they drunk? A. Anthony Stenkawicz was so drunk he couldn't stand up.

Q. Was Andy Kora drunk? A. He was walking straight; he walks straight when he's drunk.

Q. Weren't they all drunk? A. No. George Nokes was as drunk as a man as ever I saw. (He is not a defendant.) Q. Wasn't Peter Stenkawicz boiling drunk? Objected to. Sustained.

Mrs. Jane Grew was sworn: She said she knew Andrew Kora by sight, but not the other prisoners. She also knew the Buhnis brothers. About five o'clock she heard some shots fired and went out to look after her children. She passed Kora on the way and he asked, "You're not afraid, Mrs.?" I said "No indeed." They were carousing around

Q. How did you hear any threats made? A. Yes, they said they'd make bologna out of them.

TELEGRAPH WIRES OUT.

Boers Have Cut Communication Between Durban and Estcourt.

REOCCUPATION OF NAAUWPOORT

Is Good News For the British, as It Presages the Recapture of Other Towns—Gen. Clerx's Proclamation To Protect the Property of Loyalists.

London, Nov. 22.—The announcement from Durban that communication with Estcourt is interrupted seems to confirm the belief that a Boer commando has established itself at Willow Grange, or near the Mooi river, and has cut the telegraph wires. Nevertheless, whatever definite knowledge the British commanders may have obtained from the scouts of the disposition of the Boer commands in Natal and the conditions of the beleaguered garrisons particularly, nothing has been allowed to develop for the public information.

The reoccupation of Naaupport is good news for the British. It is not known here from what point the troops came, but it is presumed they were from De Aar, in which event it will not be long before Stormberg also is reoccupied. Naaupport commands the gap in the Kivvornberg, the last strong fighting position south of Orange river, and was admirably suited to Boer tactics.

Late last evening the war office made public two dispatches from General Buller at Cape Town. The first had been received from General Clerx, dated Monday, Nov. 20, and announced that three privates were wounded the previous day at Mooi river. The second was from Colonel Baden Powell, dated at Mafeking, Nov. 6, saying:

"All well here. We have had a few successful sorties. Our loss is 2 officers and 17 men killed and 4 officers and 29 men wounded. The enemy's loss is heavy. His numbers are decreasing, but his guns remain and shell us, keeping out of the range of our small guns. Have had no news from the outside since Oct. 20."

General Clerx, acting under instructions from General Buller, has issued a proclamation that the government will exact full compensation for damage done to the property of loyalists.

The Natal Witness says: The German farmers in the Greytown district have rejected the Boer ultimatum to swear allegiance or to quit their farms, and have defied the Boers to oust them from their homesteads.

The Times announces that it is authorized to deny the statement recently made by a French newspaper that Prince Louis Napoleon, who is a colonel in the Russian army, desired to join the Boers and asked Emperor Nicholas for permission. As a matter of fact he never had any such idea.

Calico Club Assembly.

The Calico Club, of St. Clair, will hold their autumn assembly in Albany hall, at that place, on Thursday, the 23rd inst. Seltz's full orchestra, at Pottsville, will furnish the music.

The Operetta.

The production of "Prince Ferdinand and the Enchanted Sword" at Pottsville's theatre, last night, home talent under the auspices of the All Saints' church was a very successful event artistically and financially. The audience was very large, all reserved seats having been disposed of in advance, and those who did not secure them were obliged to take seats in the balcony. Miss Edith Morcan was the musical director and manager and during the overture and between scenes she presided at the piano, having the able assistance of Prof. John Jones, the excellent violinist of Mahanoh City.

The cast of characters for the operetta was a good one. Mr. J. W. Hough gave an artistic interpretation of Prince Ferdinand and as the Princess, Miss Maud Hight made a strikingly pretty appearance and sang with her usual sweetness. A solo by the young lady after the second scene was heartily enjoyed. Miss Nelda Jacobs acquitted herself of the role of Fairy Queen with commendable grace and the performances of her attendant, Miss Marie Kleindienst, Marietta Smith, Maud Hayes and Fannie Golden rendered wisdom in the assignment of the parts.

One of the features of the entertainment was the interpretation of the character The Witch, by Miss Bessie Rowe. It was marked by conscientious work and recalled the success that attended the young lady's appearance in "Cinderella" some months ago. The character of the Magician, by Mr. Thomas Timmons, was also well presented. Miss Florence Ellis, May Davis, Mary Clauser and Bertha Davis were a very pretty and graceful quartette in the roles of Flowers, and Masters Joseph Jones, Philip Holman, Emory Straughn and John Gilpin excited much merriment by their mischievous antics as Wood Sprites. The "Balway" song, by a number of boys, was unique and quite humorous and the Butterfly Wings, with its accompanying poses and drills, won deserved applause. The groupings were very pretty. A tableau followed the final scene of the operetta. It consisted of an artistic grouping of the characters and very effective with the calcium light effects. The large audience was well pleased with the entertainment. The operetta tells the story of the bringing together of the Prince and Princess, who love each other, through the agency of an enchanted sword presented by the Fairy Queen and the kindly aid of the Magician, the intrigues of the Witch being thwarted.

The Soble Orchestra Dance.

At Robbin's opera house to-morrow evening is the best pastime to be had anywhere in town. Choice music and select people can always enjoy themselves.

Wedded To-day.

This afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, Martin F. Fahy, of the East Centre street hotelkeeper, and Miss Annie Hanpity, of South Bowers street, were united in marriage at the Annunciation church. They were attended by Miss Sara McDonald and William Cox. A reception followed the ceremony at the groom's residence.
