A very pleasant banquet was given with Commissioner J. K. Hornbeck and John Brown, of the Allen House, as hosts to about fifty of their personal friends at Hotel Heumann, on Tuesday evening last.

We have been shown a letter from Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of the State Department of Health, to Health officer Dr. B. A Letter From A New Milford Doctor.

NEW MILFORD, Pa., Oct. 27, 1908. EDWARD B. GAVITTE, M. D. White Mills, Pa.

My Dear Doctor: Your letter of inquiry regarding the place of residence of my neighbor Col. C. C. Pratt received to-day. I am justly proud to state to you that Col. Pratt is a resident of New Milford, Pa. He was born and grew up in this town; was away from here some seven or eight years when a young man, but for the last thirty years his residence has been here continuously.

For the last five years he has closed his house for a few months in the winter and gone to Binghamton, where Mrs. Pratt's mother has her home and where the children could attend a high school without leaving home. He was here every few days to look after his business and to get his mail and always came here to vote.

Now doctor, I have lived a near neighbor to Col. C. C. Pratt for eighteen years, during which time I have been his family physician and have had many business dealings with him.

He is a broad minded christian gentleman of more than average ability and a desire to see every man have a square deal, and especially to help the poor man who is trying to help himself.

They have always lived in a rented house when in Binghamton, and Mrs. Pratt has an electric runabout which she runs herself and kept at a garage. The dealer who sold them the car, Sherman Lewis, of Binghamton, procured a license to run the car gave the residence as Binghamton, N. Y., without consulting them.

I see that The Daily Times Record of Sayre, Pa., is claiming that this license to run a motor car in Binghamton is evidence that Mr. Pratt is a resident of Binghamton. Of course this will not injure Mr. Pratt where he is known, and I hope that the sensible people of this Congressional district will recognize this political trick which is being worked on them.

Col. C. C. Pratt should receive the vote of every man in this Congressional District who has the best interest of the country at heart, regardless of his particular party. Yours fraternally, A. E. SNYDER, M. D.

At The Lyric.

The coming of "Girls" to the Lyric, on Wednesday, Nov. 4th, will be anxiously awaited by local theatre goers. "Girls" is just what could be expected from the pen of the versatile and surprising Clyde Fitch. Dramatic critics are loud in their praise of both play, production, and presenting company, and all seem to be of the same opinion that there is nothing so refreshing after a hard day's work as to spend an evening with "Girls," and listen to the sparkling dialogue of the "man-haters," and to witness the innocent trouble they succeed in making for themselves.

OUR PLAN OF BATTLE.

The skirmishing is all over, the plan of battle is marked out. The Democratic leaders have concentrated their forces in the CENTER. Every one of their candidates is defending his job in the Court House. The Republicans are massing their forces all over the county. The men of Buckingham and Manchester under the leadership of Polk Hornbeck; the men of Preston, Mount Pleasant and Lebanon will rally around Perham, who will be supported by Larrabee with the Scott and Starucca legions. "Up from the South at break of dawn" will come the old reliables of Lehigh, Dreher, Sterling, Salem, Lake, Hawley, Pampack and South Canaan, with Madden and Leshner in the lead. The tribes of Damascus and Oregon with the Berinites will come from the East with banners flying, shouting and voting for Barnes; Blake, with headquarters in the saddle, will marshal the men of Bethany, Dyberry, Clinton, Waymart, Prompton, and old Canaan, while Braman will open up the fight with the faithful of Honesdale and Texas, and a solid phalanx from White Mills. Stand by your party candidates. Republicans CLOSE UP YOUR RANKS. "Wait until you see the square on the white ballot," then put a cross next to the word "Republican" and you will help shape the destiny of our country, which is destined to shape the world's history in the future.

OBITUARY.

James Archibald Marvine died Saturday evening in Scranton, aged fifty-eight years. Mr. Marvine located in Green Ridge about forty years ago. For many years he was identified with the Dickson Manufacturing company, but retired when it was taken over by the Allis-Chalmers company. A severe attack of pneumonia caused his death. He was one of the board of trustees of the Green Ridge Presbyterian church, and a most efficient member. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Millie Dimmick Marvine, one sister, Miss Francis Marvine, and two half-sisters, Mrs. Thos. Dickson and Mrs. G. V. Bentley. Mrs. Wm. H. Ham and Mrs. Joseph A. Bodie, of this place are nieces of the deceased.

Angus Smith died in Starucca, Oct. 20, 1908, aged 91 years and 2 months. He was born in North Knappdale, Scotland, and came to America in 1855, landing in New York city with his wife and three children, and with but $25 in his pocket. He assisted in building the first acid factory in this country, it being located at Cooklin, Broome Co., N. Y., being the pioneer manufacturer of wood acid in the United States. In 1868 he removed to Brandt, Susquehanna Co., and embarked in the manufacture of wood alcohol and acids; where he remained until 1880, when he became a resident of Starucca, where he continued the above line of trade, in addition to the manufacture of charcoal, with several parties. Mr. Smith was a thorough-going Republican; had filled several of the local offices in Starucca, and had been a member and elder of the Presbyterian church for many years. He died as he had lived, enjoying the confidence and respect of the entire community. Mr. Smith's wife died some two years ago. He is survived by five married daughters, to wit: Mesdames A. C. Crossley, L. B. Smith and Charles Getter, of Binghamton; H. W. Brown, of Forest City, and J. Wallace Young, of Albany, N. Y., and Misses Mary and Belle, at home.

Dreher.

Oct. 26th.—Henry Croft, who cut his knee some time ago, while cutting ties near Angels, and was later taken to a private hospital in Scranton, died on Oct. 18th, from the effects of the wound and a much reduced system. He is survived by his wife. He was almost 45 years of age. His remains were brought to Gouldsboro for interment.

A valuable horse belonging to W. C. Evans, State road contractor, and kept in the stables near Angels, died last Friday from the effects of kidney trouble.

George Plunkett, the blacksmith, in the employ of Mr. Evans, has gone to his home at Souderton, Pa.

On Wednesday night of last week, Robert Boyce caught a very small bear cub in a trap that he had set on the Beech Summit Lake property, known as the Marsh tract.

On Friday night John Hazelton caught a bear weighing about 150 pounds in a trap set in the same locality.

Mrs. Arthur Depew and two daughters, of New Milford, Pa., spent a part of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waltz.

Clinton D. Gilpin has been at Pocono Inn, Mount Pocono, during the summer season with his automobile and is now on a visit to New York with it. He was engaged in passenger traffic.

A short time ago a party of hunters, six in number, were stranded in Stroudsburg by some unavoidable mistake in the run of passenger trains, and wanted to reach Gouldsboro in time to meet a conveyance to bring them to Sterling. They came from a suburb of Philadelphia and were anxious to reach their destination and there seemed to be no other way but to hire an auto and chauffeur to bring them through. Arrangements were made with an "auto man" for two machines at $2 per hour.

Whether by some misunderstanding or not knowing the route over the Pocono mountains, the party were from 4 P. M., until 10 P. M., in reaching their destination. Under protest the trip cost the six hunters $30 which was duly paid. Their good success and pleasure of the vacation atoned in part for the drain on their finances.

Hyman R. Miller is having a large stable erected on the property adjoining his hall and store on the Flats.

The Fribole Cider Mill is in operation four days each week, commencing on Tuesday.

Mrs. Jane Brown is having a concrete foundation for a porch to her dwelling house on the North and South turnpike.

A fine rain here on Oct. 25th, has broken the drought and refreshed the atmosphere.

Death of Mrs. Charles G. Knapp.

Mrs. Carrie J. Knapp, whose injury by a fall at the home of her sister on Saturday last was mentioned in the last issue of THE CITIZEN, died from shock following a fracture of trochanter of the femur, on Tuesday evening last, Oct. 27, 1908. Mrs. Knapp was a daughter of the late Daniel Schoonover and wife, and was born on the Schoonover homestead just above Honesdale, seventy-two years ago. May 13, 1864, she was married to Charles G. Knapp, of Madison, N. J., and since that date has lived in that State. She and her husband had come to Honesdale to spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. S. M. Decker. Kimble, of Honesdale, Mrs. Maria Mulford, of Madison, N. J., and Mrs. George Pritchett, of Richmond Hill, Long Island. The funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Decker, 1022 Court street, at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the remains will be taken to Madison, N. J., this Friday, morning for interment.

Mary Emerson in The Making of Maddalena.

Mary Emerson will be seen at the Lyric on Monday evening, Nov. 2d, in her new play, The Making of Maddalena, a modern drama, with the scenes laid at the present time. The first two acts are laid in Rome. Here Maddalena is first seen, one of the many models that abound in the old city. The first act takes place in an old studio at the top of an old Italian house, and here the story of the play is begun. Moving to a different quarter in the second act, the scene shifts in the third to the great scene of American cities, New York. Here again is Maddalena, now betraying only by a slight accent that she is not an American woman. The new world has laid its hand upon her and she is in The Making.
